No cases of transmission by rats have yet been discovered.

The opinion is prevalent that the "Hanta" relationship to the pneumonic type of plague is the same as that of the rat to the bubonic plague.

Discussing the technical aspect of the plague, Passed Assistant Surgeon William D. Owens, of the American Legation Guard, said:

"The total absence of cases of the bubonic type differentiates this from all previous epidemics. A great majority of the cases are reported to be of the pneumonic type, though some are septicaemic. Scientific investigation is limited, but such michoscopic examinations as have been made show the existence of morphological characteristics. The bacillus does not differ from that of bubonic plague.

"Its period of incubation is from a few hours to six days. The extreme cold of Manchuria and North China does not kill the baccilli. Transmission apparently is due wholly to personal contact. The importance of rats as a factor in the transmission of the disease has not been determined.

"A startling characteristic of this epidemic is its great fatality. There is no authenticated instance of recovery. No case has responded to vaccine or Yersin's serum. We are vaccinating soldiers and others with Haffkine's prophylactic lymph, which is supposed to give six month's comparative immunity, but we have considerable doubt of its efficacy when applied to this type."

Because of the plague the German Crown Prince will not visit Peking. Mayor Von Westernhagen will meet him at Shanghai.

Judge Thayer and Frank E. Hinkley, attorney of the United States court in China, also have left, the session of the court at Tien Tsin having been cut short.

Still others who have departed are Passed Assistant Surgeon W. D. Owens, of the American legation and Mrs. Owens, Prof. Luther Anderson of the Imperial University and his family, Miss Gilpin of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Moss of Atlanta, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Brown of Chicago, Mrs. J. D. Champlin of Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Murray of New York.

The Italian Minister, Senor Barilari, who resigned recently, hastened his departure on account of the plague, as did also Major Von Westernhagen, the German military attache.

PURIFIERS GET A BAD SHOCK.

Judge is Summoned by Grand Jury.

More Excitement Still Prevails in Vermilion County, Ill.

Charges Made Before Investigators Against Man Who Started Inquiry.

Jurist and Mayor Accused of Carting Auto Load of Silver to Polls.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DANVILLE (Ill.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Vermilion county's political "house cleaning" is hanging in the balance tonight. Tomorrow scandalous revelations that will tear Illinois politics to the very roots may be paraded forth. Again, these rattling and hideous skeletons may not be resurrected from their rotten graves.

A political coup, far reaching and powerful, executed by the aggressive young Republicans, lies back of the scenes. In one swooping move today they hurled the election frauds investigation back into the teeth of its instigators. Circuit Judge Kimbrough and Mayor Louis Platt were made the targets of their own inquiry.

The climax of the coup, the serving of grand jury summons upon Judge Kimbrough, Mayor Platt and a number of politicians, high in the Democratic councils, came following a two days' display of political pyrotechnics such as Illinois has never before witnessed.

The Federal forces in the State effected a compromise with the Republican "young bloods" and the issue of calling this list of witnesses was forced before the grand jury. Evidence of alleged political corruption on the part of the bench and mayoralty chair was offered. Charges were made that Judge Kimbrough and Mayor Platt personally peddled more than $3000 to ward workers from an automobile at the last mayoralty election.

GRAND JURY HAS NO CHOICE.

The grand jury had no choice. Within an hour after this evidence had been presented subpoenas were issued for the following:

Circuit Judge E. R. E. Kimbrough, judge, who started inquiry, re-elected eighteen months ago on the Democratic ticket.

Mayor Louis Platt, Democrat, elected twenty-one months ago. Witness said he spent $25,000 in campaign.

Earl Chambers, garage-keeper, who declares he drove an automobile in which judge and Mayor rode to polling places with bags of money.

Chris Leins, Mayor Platt's secretary.

Percy Platt, son of Mayor Platt.

James Meeks, Master in Chancery and prominent in politics.

Harry Campbell, Democratic committeeman in Seventh ward.

George L. Harroun, law clerk in the office Master in Chancery Meeks.

William Acton, former State Senator and prominent in Republican politics.

Clinton C. Tilton, editor of the Press Democrat, a Danville morning paper, and prominent politician.

William Connors, a Democratic politician.

Theodore Anderson, who figured conspicuously in the mayoralty campaign

Fred Vutrick, a Deputy Sheriff, at present bailiff of the grand jury, was prominent in Shepard-Whitlock primary fight for Sheriff.

Charles Weese, an election judge at Westville, a mining town.

BOMB WREAKS HAVOC.

The bomb exploded by the young Republicans wrought havoc. It put the corruption issue directly up to Judge Kimbrough and his friends. It was a direct challenge for them to "clean house" before going into the incidents of other elections. It turned the spotlight full on the political acts of Judge Kimbrough and his friends.

Tonight the high Democratic chieftains are in secret council. Rumors are prevalent that they have decided to 'fess up to all the past misdeeds. If they do, the Adams county, O. election scandal will look like an infant in swaddling clothes in comparison.

Judge Kimbrough said tonight as he left his courtroom:

"When I go before the grand jury, I will go as a private citizen and not in my judicial capacity. I will withhold nothing."

"Will you lay bare the secrets of your own election?" he was asked.

It was early in the evening, not la than about 6:45 or 7 o'clock, when car, in charge of Conductor C. Rogers and Motorman W. L. Shaf on its way from Los Angeles to Veni passed through Tokio station, t stops this side of Venice. Two you men, unmasked, stood beside the tra at the station and flagged it.

"They looked like ordinary p sengers," said Shaffer last night, " I stopped the car for them without s pecting that anything was wrong. the little while that it took for th to pass out of the glare of the he light and come under the other lights as we came to a stop, howev they had pulled red handkerchi over their faces so as to make ma of them.

"Then they jumped on the car a yelled out for everybody to throw their hands. At the same time t began shooting up the car, firing o the heads of the passengers. One the robbers got on the front end a the other on the rear. I put up hands like everybody else. I did care to get killed."

The robber who took charge of motorman remained on the front pl form throughout the proceedings. other, beginning on the rear platfor took command of the conductor, w was forced to pass the hat.

GUN IN HIS FACE.

"I was just about to pull the cord for a go-ahead," said Rogers, conductor, to the officers, "when I staggered by the sight of a man w a red handkerchief over his face, jum ing upon the platform beside me sticking a big gun under my nose. told me to do as he said or he wo kill me. At the same time, I hear couple of shots on the front end of car, and I saw another man there w a red bandanna handkerchief over face, shooting up the car. PUBLIC FUNERAL FOR PHILLIPS.

FRIENDS AND ADMIRERS WILL HONOR DEAD AUTHOR.

Plans For Private Services Abandoned Because of Great Number Who Wished to Pay Tribute. Ceremonies Will Be Held Tomorrow at "Little Church."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The funeral of David Graham Phillips will be public. So many of the friends and admirers of his works have been stirred by his assassination that plans for a private funeral were abandoned. It was announced that the services will be held Friday afternoon at St. George's Episcopal Church near the scene of the attack.

The ceremony will be held at 2 o'clock with Archdeacon Nelson, assistant to Bishop Greer of the New York diocese, officiating. The pallbearers will be:

United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana; Robert W. Chambers, the author; Joseph H. Sears, head of the Appleton Publishing House; George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post; Arthur W. Little, editor of Pearson's Magazine; Samuel G. Blythe, Washington writer; John O'Hara Cosgrove, former editor of Everybody's Magazine, and Otto Carmichael.

In addition to Dr. Nelson, the Rev. Hugh Birkhead, rector of St. George's, will assist at the services, and a male quartette will sing. The services will be simple. After the funeral, the body will be removed to a receiving vault in the Marble Cemetery here and will remain there until taken to Phillips's former home in Indiana.

Tonight the body was sent from an undertaker's establishment to the rooms of the National Arts Club, where Phillips had made his home with a sister, Mrs. Carolyn Frevert.

She and Harrison W. Phillips, a brother, will be the only near relatives at the funeral.

A curious crowd gathered today about the undertaking rooms where the body lies and finally became so large as to block traffic.

INTRODUCES COAL LEASE MEASURE.

CONGRESSMAN SEEKS RELIEF FOR ALASKA.

Wyoming Member's Bill Would Segregate Merchantable Coal Lands From Areas Valuable for Metalliferous Minerals and Limit Licensees to Maximum of 320 Acres.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The leasing of coal lands in Alaska is provided for in a bill introduced today by Representative Mondell of Wyoming, chairman of the House Committee on Public Lands. All lands containing merchantable coal in Alaska are to be reserved from all other disposition.

This will not prevent the location and patenting of coal lands valuable for metalliferous minerals on which the coal and the right to mine it are reserved to the government.

The measure will not apply in any way to any rights or claims initiated prior to the passage of the bill.

All lessees or licensees are limited to one lease or license with a maximum of 320 acres.

A rental charge is made per acre and leases are not to exceed thirty years on a royalty basis of from 3 to 10 cents a ton.

Mining lessees are barred from monopolizing coal trade and from selling unfairly or discriminatively, or from operating wastefully and unsafely as to miners.

The government may take the coal mined wherever found for the army, navy or revenue cutter service at a price to be fixed by the President and suits are authorized in the United States courts for violations of leases.

A limited mining lease for municipal corporations and individuals not exceeding 160 acres, is provided. Of the revenues, 75 per cent. is to go to the Alaska fund for road construction, schools and care of the insane.

The interstate commerce law relating to railroad rates is extended to Alaska.

BOSTON BISHOP COMING HERE.

Noted Ecclesiastic, With Wife, Plans Brief Trip Through Balmy Southern California in February.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Bishop and Mrs. Lawrence, of Commonwealth avenue, will leave Boston about the middle of February for a trip to the Pacific Coast. They will visit Southern California. They will only be away a few weeks, as the bishop has planned to be at home in the early part of the Lenten season.

CAVALRY COMING HOME.

EL PASO (Tex.) Jan. 25.—The Twelfth United States cavalry from the Philippines, scheduled to arrive at Fort Whipple, Ariz., in March, will arrive about February 15, one month earlier than expected, according to information received here today. Troop G of the Fifth, will then be relieved of patrol duty on the Mexican border in Arizona and will depart at once for the Philippines.

SCHENK CASE NOW WITH JURY; NO VERDICT LATE LAST NIGHT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WHEELING (W. Va.) Jan. 25.—After wrestling more than four hours in an afternoon and night session with the evidence in the case of Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk, charged with poisoning her husband, John O. Schenk, the jury was unable to reach an agreement and at 10 o'clock tonight Judge Jordan ordered them locked up for the night.

The jury will resume consideration of a verdict at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, though it is possible informal consideration will be continued during the night. Predictions of disagreements are general, though some believe a verdict will be reached.

After the jury had been excused for the night, a large crowd packed the streets and sidewalks near the Courthouse. The crowd swarmed from an adjoining square, where it had stood from 7:30 o'clock until 10 o'clock.

A squad of police and all the available deputy sheriffs had to be called on to clear the streets before the jury was taken out of the Courthouse.

When Prosecutor J. B. Handlan concluded his argument to the jury this afternoon, the end of the trial of Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk had been reached, and from that moment her case was in the hands of the jury, which immediately retired.

Shortly after Prosecutor Handlan finished his argument and as the jury was retiring, Mrs. Schenk collapsed. Her face was swollen and distorted almost beyond recognition by her constant sobbing.

Mr. Handlan asked the jury to show no mercy to a woman who had deliberately violated her marriage vows, snaring young Dan Phillips with her wiles, and had then calmly plotted to kill her husband, who had lavished upon her automobiles, costly clothing and jewels.

"Her heart is flint," he shouted, "utterly incapable of human sympathy, love or affection.

"One of the most horrible things it has ever been my lot to come in contact with, was when this woman looked upon the murder of her husband in he cold-blooded light of a simple business proposiiton. When unsuccessful herself, she offered another a thousand dollars to do her vile work for her.

"But even this was not the climax of the fiendishness of that woman sitting there. That came when she contemptuously referred to the Sisters of Charity at the hospital where her husband was lying at the point of death, who were going about on their errands of mercy and charity, as 'black veiled hypocrites.'"

S. C. Boyce concluded the arguments for the defense at the morning session and dwelt principally upon the unreliability of circumstantial evidence.

BONILLA REVOLUTIONISTS TAKE CEIBA; HONDURAN ARMY DEFEATED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The Herald will print tomorrow a special dispatch from Ceiba, Honduras, via wireless to Key West, saying that Ceiba fell into the hands of Bonilla revolutionists this afternoon, after a day of desperate infantry and artillery fighting. Ten are said to be dead and many wounded. It is added that General Lee Christmas, chief aide of the provisional President, is in control of the town tonight.

The attacking party of revolutionists, the dispatch says, outpointed the Honduran army both in discipline and numbers and that the Honduras gunboat Tatumbla is said to have fled at the first sign of attack.

CAMINETTI'S FREAK BILL.

Playing Into Hands of Lissnerites.

Would Call Special Election on All Constitutional Amendments Passed.

Progressives Would Like to See Reform Measures Cinched in a Hurry.

Hurd of Los Angeles Gets in Limelight With Measure Affecting Revenues.

BY W. R. WILLIAMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Caminetti's bill providing for a special election to pass on all the constitutional amendments that pass the legislature was welcomed this morning by the "Progressives" as an unexpected vehicle to put through the Lissner-Johnson programme to cinch their reform measures within the next few months.

Caminetti is a Democrat "insurgent," and his intention is not exactly the same as that of the Republican majority. He prefers to adjourn the legislature until after the election is held and then reconvene in regular session. He has long been an advocate of the "split" sessions. He would have the Legislature sit forty days and then adjourn for sixty or ninety days to consider the measures proposed. On reassembling the members would be better informed, in his theory.

The measure suits all the progressives, but has brought some dismay to the suffragettes. They do not want to vote soon, because they have planned a State-wide campaign and election this spring on the amendment giving them a vote would, they say, prevent proper organization. They will not interpose objection now at least, because they have not won their final victory. Caminetti happens to sit with Senator Gates, who let the plan out yesterday.

Second only in importance to the Caminetti bill was the unheralded constitutional amendment proposed by Senator Hurd of Los Angeles, repealing Constitutional Amendment No. 1, adopted last November, and known as section fourteen of article three and imposing that the old sections regarding revenue and taxation be restored.

HURD MAKES A HIT.

The effect of this proposal was not immediate, but when it came Hurd was encouraged by many members, particularly those in the Assembly, to press it vigorously. Hurd says he favored it because he is convinced that the system of collecting all State receipts in corporation gross receipts of Trade Commissioner Young's bill will make a deficiency that will have to be recovered only by an additional tax on property as assessed for county purposes. While Hurd's bill is not "administration," it is responsive to the wish of many members, most of whom were afraid to offer it. The inability of the State Controller to justify any expectation of sufficient State revenue from the corporation tax has called a halt on financial plans. True the amendment permits the levy of a special ad valorem tax if the State revenue is not sufficient, but this expedient is one most members who want election two years hence would prefer not to discuss with the taxpayers. It means that in addition to paying their county and city taxes because the corporation values are withdrawn for State taxation the taxpayers must pay a special State tax to make up a deficiency from the corporations. This is confessedly not a "progressive" solution and Hurd has made it possible for many members to return to their districts and declare they voted against this odious amendment.

FOR "TRUST-BUSTING."

Another bill by Hurd provides that Attorney-General may, if he chooses, prove a trust buster with dispotentiary power. A bill offered by Hurd gives him power to examine the affairs of every corporation authorized to do business in the State and to make copies of records. This evidence is to be preserved in secrecy unless necessary for use in any judicial action.

Hurd is not in the "set" from Los Angeles county that is doing things this session. He brands himself "an independent-insurgent-progressive" and says his measures are not responsive to anybody's suggestions. He promises other measures "just as independent."

The Walker-Young anti-betting bill was not ready for action today because the State Printer is having a terrible struggle with the Oakland charter. Both are being engrossed and it seems that the Oakland charter cannot get letter perfect even in six handlings by the printer. It appeared yesterday with new errors that could only be explained by the theory that it had been entirely reset. Until it is engrossed, the Walker-Young bill must wait. Senator Walker said today that he hopes to call it up for passage tomorrow, but if the Oakland charter is still in the way he may wait for the Assembly to act and then substitute its measure for his own.

ROSEBERRY GETS GAY.

This would defeat the fifteen-day extension forced on Walker by the "progressive" Senators, as the Assembly bill has not been amended and contains the emergency clause. Walker says he hopes such a situation will arise, as he believes he can thus evade the fifteen-day concession.

Senator Roseberry of Santa Barbara, who has been dubbed the "Little Lord Fauntleroy" of the upper house, seems to have made a mistake in asserting that his peremptory challenge bill was "practically" administration, and that it was a test as to who were progressives or not. The general practice of labeling all measures "administration," has led Gov. Johnson to issue a ukase identifying those that he wants passed, and intimating that all others are of secondary importance. Roseberry is one of the Lissner lieutenants in the Senate and seems in line for a little discipline from the boss. It is asserted that his error was in stating things in debate on the floor which should have been whispered in recess.

Gov. Johnson today issued a statement defining just what are his administration measures. The statement follows:

JOHNSON'S STATEMENT.

"Apparently there has been some misapprehension regarding what have been termed 'administration measures' before the Legislature. There is no desire on my part to do anything else than to act with members of the Legislature in accomplishing those things concerning which all of us stand pledged, and when I say 'all of us,' I mean Democrats as well as Republicans. Apparently many bills wholly outside of this category have been termed by the newspapers, sometimes erroneously and sometimes maliciously, 'administration measures.'

"The particular measures for which I am at present striving, in common with the members of the Legislature who wish to redeem their promises to the people, are the railroad bill, the amendment to the direct primary law, ballot reform, the initiative, referendum and recall, and the bills recently introduced at my request, to recover the public service appropriated at the close of the term of my predecessor, and the act about to be introduced designed to prevent such appropriation in the future.

CALLS IT "CORRECTION."

"I make this statement for the purpose of correcting the impression that certain bills outside of our platform pledges are measures of the administration. In respect to bills in general that are introduced, my attitude has been to decline, in advance, in any way, to approve any proposed measure but to leave the question of approval or disapproval of a measure until the matter shall have been passed upon by the Legislature, and in due course brought to the Governor."

A new twist of the recall came in the Assembly today when Clark of Oakland offered the Gates constitutional amendment with a provision added requiring an affirmative majority of all votes cast for the recall before any successor may be chosen.

Under it the incumbent will not have his name on the ballot but he would be voted for or against in the answers to the question: "Shall the incumbent be recalled?" If the affirmative fails to carry then the votes for other candidates may not be counted.

Clark says he does not believe a recall should be started and then let four or five candidates run unless the people first vote the incumbent out.

This is the same addition, practically, that Gates suggested at the San Francisco conference, but omitted after he got here. Clark says Gates is now satisfied. He also says that he does not believe this innovation would induce candidates to succeed the incumbent organizing to make sure that all their supporters voted to recall. Considering that the recall is to be applicable to the judiciary the innovation is noteworthy, as one of the many extremes that terrorists are able to superimpose on the laws during this session.

CONSERVATION AMENDMENT.

The conservation constitutional amendment was presented hot from former Gov. Pardee's pen today by Senator Black. It carries out the promises of Pardee to Lissner's "conference." All water of the State is declared the property of the people and its use for any purpose is declared a public use subject to regulation by the State. This regulation is limited to twenty-five-year franchises except as to municipalities and irrigation districts.

Municipalities have the right to fix rates, but must do so each February, to take effect the following July, and no company may charge other rates under penalty of forfeiting its franchise. Where no rates are fixed any taxpayer may require by civil suit the governing authorities to act. The virtue of this amendment is its brevity and lucidity. Otherwise it seems to be paving the way for the Legislature to lock up all the power sites and retard commercial development throughout the State.

Justice of Peace Gets Funny With Disastrous Results to Himself.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. JOSEPH, (Mo.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Laughter over a joke which he made himself during a session of court may result fatally for C. Daniel Shea, an aged Justice of the Peace, and former policeman. A negro was being tried before him for robbing a man named Murphy. "We had better take a change of venue; you can't hope for the best of it before an Irish judge," an attorney said.

"Oh, yes he can," Justice Shea replied, "but bring Murphy in and I will fine him for being in such company."

Scarcely had he begun to laugh when he sunk to the floor with a stroke of apoplexy.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHERIDAN (Wyo.) Jan 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "I will marry him despite everybody," emphatically declared pretty 18-year-old Madeline Sullivan of Chicago, as she boarded a tram this morning for Montana, where she expects to meet Plenty Hawk, a full-blooded Crow Indian, widower, with five children, to whom she is engaged.

Miss Sullivan arrived yesterday and was arrested on telegraphic advices from her mother, Mrs. M. K. Sullivan of Chicago, who took this last drastic step to shatter her daughter's desire to become the wife of an Indian.

The Sheridan police held Miss Sullivan until this morning, when she threatened damage suits if she was not released. There being no charges against the girl she was freed and left on the first train for Montana.

Miss Sullivan is quite as accomplished as she is pretty and determined. While in jail here she whiled away the time drawing pen sketches of her middle-aged Indian lovers and Indian camp and hunting scenes. Miss Sullivan, while in jail, gowned herself in loose flowing robes and called for several packages of cigarettes, which were furnished.

Plenty Hawk's first wife was a full-blooded Crow. He owns and operates a ranch on Soap Creek and draws $35 a month from the government.

MR. TAFT NOT IN LORIMER CASE.

Kentucky Senator Explains He's Eliminated.

Regards Question as Purely Judicial.

Paynter Excuses Beveridge and Owen.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—For the first time since the debate in the Senate in the case of Senator Lorimer of Illinois was begun, mention was made today of the reported interest of the President in the unseating of the Senator, because of the charges of bribery made in connection with his election.

The reference was made by Senator Paynter of Kentucky, who was a member of the sub-committee that made the investigation into the charges, and of the full committee on elections, which brought in a report exonerating the Illinois Senator.

Declaring the question to be a judicial one, Mr. Paynter said: "I did not approach the investigation with any feeling or thought that the country demanded a victim to appease its wrath, neither did I suppose that a sacrificial offering would be made to satisfy a popular demand to give character and standing to the administration."

DENIES INTIMATIONS.

Having brought the President into the discussion, the Kentucky Senator professedly undertook to eliminate him from it. Referring to the frequent assertion in the public press that the President was using his personal, if not his official influence, against Mr. Lorimer, Mr. Paynter said he desired to resent the imputation against the President.

"The President is a great lawyer," he said, "and knows that the constitution divided our government into branches and that it was intended that one branch should not invade the province of another. The President knows the Senate is made the judge of the election of its members; therefore the constitution denies to the executive and judicial branches the right to determine who is entitled to a seat in this body. Certainly the President would not attempt to violate the spirit, if not the letter, of the constitution which he has promised to obey."

EXPLAINS MINORITY REPORT.

Referring to Senator Beveridge and the minority report, he presented attacking the Lorimer election, Paynter remarked: "If he committed an error in the preparation of the minority report, I think he is entirely excusable. The Senator evidently had to prepare it in great haste, because he and another distinguished Senator, Owen of Oklahoma, were in a mad rush, in a frantic effort to strike the first blow in this contest.

"Both, from their point of view, were endeavoring to enlighten an expectant public upon the question affecting the honor and dignity of this body."

TO BLUE-PENCIL MEDICINE "ADS."

LOS ANGELES MEDICO WORKS FOR A NEW LAW.

Measure to Be Introduced by Butler Will Forbid Publication of Pictures Representing Suffering Humanity—Step Taken in Interests of Preventing Hypochondriacs.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A law to protect hypochondriacs, or rather to prevent them, is to be introduced in the Legislature in a few days by Dr. E. M. Butler, Assemblyman from Los Angeles. Dr. Butler has not worked out his measure, but it is promised as one that will provide a legal blue pencil for future patent medicine advertising.

Among other things it will forbid the picturing of faces with features distorted by pain, or of persons holding their backs as if in pain or other illustrations of physical distress. The drunkard felling his wife and other crime pictures, made aids to patent medicine advertising, are to come within scope of the law.

Its main purpose is to suppress the lists of "symptoms" accompanying advertisements. These "symptoms," according to Dr. Butler are the physical evidences of many differing disorders and do not always indicate kidney or bladder trouble, heart failure or dyspepsia.

Dr. Butler says he has no objection to advertising patent medicines as such, but says the nation is becoming one of hypochondriacs because of the advertising faking on symptoms. He says his bill will provide that medicines may be advertised without torturing illustrations or "general symptoms" and their purposes stated, but he wants eliminated the premium on physical fear because of the little aches and pains incident to every day life.

"I believe the medical profession believes as I do, regardless of schools," said Dr. Butler.

RATE OPINION OF BANKER.

Tells Railroad Securities Commission Federal Control of Railroads Under Certain Limitations Is Good Plan.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Additional testimony favoring Federal regulation of the issuance of railroad securities, as opposed to State control, was given before the Railroad Securities Commission today by George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National Bank.

Mr. Reynolds said too strict Federal control might result in the government being held responsible for the success or failure of an enterprise.

Another danger, he said, would lie in the limiting of profits which securities should yield. He thought that if profits were limited by the commission, the tendency would be to make railroad stocks less popular than they should be.

Alluding to rates, Mr. Reynolds said the country was suffering from too many parallel lines. The discount allowed syndicates for the sale of stocks was too large, in his opinion.

ACTRESS ILL OF OLD AGE.

Annie Yeamans, Seventy-Five Years Old, Loses Grip on Footlights Career.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW BRITAIN (Ct.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Annie Yeamans, the well-known actress, playing until a few days ago with Bessie McCoy in "The Echo," is seriously ill at the Hotel Beloin. Miss Yeamans, who is 75 years old, is a Christian Scientist and up to last evening would not allow a physician to attend her. The manager of the company, however, insisted upon a doctor being summoned last night. She is suffering from neuralgia and the infirmities of age and it is thought she will never be able to play again. It was announced at the hotel this evening that as soon as Miss Yeamans's condition would permit she would be taken to New York and placed in a hospital.

BALLOT FRAUDS.

(Vote buying, if such did occur in the elections of Judge Kimbrough and his business partner, Mayor Platt, have been outlawed under the statutes.)

"I will not hide behind the statutes," the jurist declared sternly. "I will answer all questions. Such a diabolical political plot will not stave off this investigation."

Mayor Platt was equally firm in his declaration that he would tell all.

SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE.

Notwithstanding their warlike declaration the issue now is paramount—will they dare? Every effort was being put forth tonight to make the election purificationists choke off their own offspring. Political offers were being made and dickers between factions made.

The sensational evidence offered the grand jury was this:

That twenty-one months ago at the time of the election of Louis Platt as Mayor of Danville, Judge Kimbrough and Mr. Platt made two trips in an automobile to paying places throughout the city and left money with workers.

It was alleged they carried four sacks containing $6000 in silver on the first trip and three sacks containing $4000 on the second trip. The money was said to have been obtained at the First National Bank. Earl Chambers, a local garage-keeper, acknowledged having driven the auto.

Neither Judge Kimbrough nor Mayor Platt would affirm or deny the statement.

Chambers, however, was more communicative. At his garage he said he had driven the automobile and had seen the money.

Sacramento Woman Gets Divorce From Alleged Austrian Count Who Wanted Her to Worship Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because William G. Bende, who claims to be an Austrian count, and has documents to prove his contention, was abusive and made his wife get down on her knees to him whenever the notion struck him, Mrs. Bende was today granted a divorce and allowed to resume her maiden name.

She declared on several occasions she was compelled to flee from her titled husband to prevent his killing her.

Several months ago Bende was picked up on the streets of San Francisco as lost. He then appealed to the Austrian consul for aid. He claimed he had been defrauded out of his money by his wife.

PULLMANS GIVE CHEAPER SLEEPS.

Nation-Wide Cut in Tax Upon Berths Is Announced.

Twenty Per Cent. Lopped From Prices of Uppers.

Wooing Morpheus in Lowers to Cost Less, Likewise.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Announcement was made today by the officials of the Pullman Company that arrangements have been completed for the enforcement next Wednesday of their new rate rules, which include a nation-wide reduction of 20 per cent. in practically all upper berth rates and a cut ranging between 25 cents and $1 on 20 per cent. of the total of the company's lower berths.

The new tariffs, which have been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission provide that where the lower berths are rated $1.50, the rate for the upper berth shall be $1.25, and where the lower berth rate is more than $1.50 the upper berth rate will be 20 per cent. less.

Another feature of the rate scheme is the establishment of an intermediate lower berth rate. Heretofore a rate of $1.50 would be collected for a distance and certain time and the next figure rate would be 50 cents more. In the revised tariffs rates of $1.75, $2.25, etc., have been put in wherever it was necessary to bring about an equalization of the lower berth rates.

New tourist sleeping car rates also have been filed. There is no change in rates for lower berths in these tariffs, but in the matter of upper berths there is a cut of 20 per cent., with a minimum upper berth rate of $1.

"The reductions made are voluntary on the part of the Pullman Company," said G. S. Fernald, general attorney for the corporation, "except in regard to three or four specific rates which were passed on by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the Loftus cases. The decision having established the principle of a differential rate in favor of the upper berth, and the public generally considering the upper berths worth less for occupancy than the lower, the Pullman Company has extended the idea of a differential rate throughout the country and has thereby saved the necessity for further complaints or further action by the commission in extending it."

Railroads operating their own sleeping cars will reduce their rates to conform with the new schedule of the Pullman company. It is expected that hundreds of Pullman car patrons will soon seek a refund of amounts they have paid for berths in excess of the new rates since the Interstate Commerce Commission, at a hearing some time ago, ordered a reduction in certain cases.

COMPANY PAYS ITS OWN.

Puget Sound Trolley Line Thought to Be Overloaded With Securities, Finances Itself.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Puget Sound Electric Railway, operating thirty-six miles of interurban between Tacoma and Seattle with several branch lines, is financing itself. It has been generally believed that the company was overloaded with stock and bond issues. General Manager Bean says officially:

"Owing to the poor financial showing made by the company during the past four years, it has encountered great difficulty in disposing of its securities. The plan proposed, provides for an issue of $1,700,000 or notes to pay off a floating debt and retire notes maturing February 1, 1911.

"The new notes will be secured by hypothecation of consolidation and refunding bonds of par value of $2,429,000, constituting a part of the total authorized issue of $15,000,000 of bonds."

The price obtained for its notes and 6000 shares of preferred stock with commission and discounts in the company paying 8 per cent. for money to retire its maturing obligations.

For Support.

NEWSPAPER MAN SAYS HE WAS OFFERED BIG SUM TO AID SUBSIDY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Revelation of attempts to buy the editorial support of the New York Journal of Commerce in favor of ship subsidy legislation, which that paper has consistently opposed, was made to the House Ship Subsidy investigation committee today by Alfred W. Dodsworth, business manager of the paper.

Earlier in the day, Paul C. Fournier, representing the Vranium Steamship line, against which the so-called London conference lines controlling what is alleged to be 98 per cent. of the Atlantic passenger traffic, are arrayed, told how railroad authorities in this country, notably the Central Passenger Association at Chicago, had refused to sell tickets routed over independent lines unless the independents obtained the sanction of the conference lines.

As a result of the evidence, Mr. Dodsworth's brother, John W. Dodsworth, editor of the Journal of Commerce, will be recalled to Washington to explain why he failed to enlighten the committee in his recent testimony. It is prabable that Charles A Connant of New York, may be asked to throw light on an offer to subsidize the paper, claimed to have been forwarded through him to the Journal of Commerce, which he then represented as Washington correspondent. Alfred W. Dodsworth testified that his paper had never been subsidized by any interests. But about six years ago, a man came into his office and offered to pay the Journal of Commerce $100,000, taking 1,000,000 copies of his paper for the insertion of an article in one issue, supporting ship subsidy legislation.

This man refused to disclose his identity unless his proposition were to be accepted. Mr. Dodsworth said he immediately called his brother, John W., into his office as a witness to the conversation and the proposition was declined.

Another man, about two years ago, Dodsworth said, tried to buy the support of the paper for $40,000, and in the Spanish-American War, the Spanish government tried to buy the paper's influence.

Members of the committee sharply criticised the two brothers for failing to submit this information to the committee and pointed out that when John W. Dodsworth, in his testimony some time ago, had been asked categorically as to such matters and had denied any information such as that disclosed today.

The witness said the committee would have to ask the brother why he failed to disclose the information.

Chairman Alcott asked the witness who represented the Spanish government when it tried to buy this paper's support. Mr. Dodsworth replied that the proposition came through Charles A. Connant, who was then the paper's Washington correspondent. Pressed as to the identity of the man who made the offer, Mr. Dodsworth said his father or brother might have been told, but he himself had not.

Mr. Dodsworth asked that he regarded the ship subsidy interest, mentioned the Ward line, and the New York and Porto Rico Steamship Company, but did not recall others. He said he could not undertake to name the persons who made the $100,000 offer but he believed it came from ship subsidy interests, and when pressed as to what he meant by that, he mentioned the Cramps and the Roaches as interests coming under this head.

He referred to the attacks made on his paper for its opposition to ship subsidy, and declared as "a lie from beginning to end" a clipping from a Cincinnati or Cleveland paper, purporting to be an article from the Journal of Commerce coming out for subsidy. He said the New York Commercial and the New York Tribune had called his paper a subsidized shipping paper. Mr. Dodsworth will resume his testimony tomorrow.

WEDDING GOWN IN SUIT.

Kansas Young Woman Who Sues Professor, Will Swear She Altered It Four Times.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OTTAWA (Kan.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Ethel McKee, the pretty stenographer, who is suing Prof. Grant H. Crain, president of the Ottawa Business College, for $25,000 breach of promise, will testify that she was compelled to alter her wedding gown four different times to meet the demands of fashion and the professor's ever changing mind, as, from season to season, he kept putting off the wedding.

This is one of the features outlined by Miss McKee's attorney, in his opening statement to the jury in the damage suit today.

Attorneys for Crain admitted many of the assertions of the contended that the marriage contract letters have not court. Attorneys however, recalled McKee's letters termed herself Long Ago, Nights and Tofrom and wedding had again, Prof. Macy. Then

...students attending the University of California put into effect present plans for purchasing food supplies in carload lots at wholesale. The sponsors of the undertaking expect to reduce living expenses by one-third.

So many students have been forced to leave the university prematurely on account of the increasing cost of living that the undertaking comes as an answer to a pressing university problem. All the fraternities and sororities, although their members are largely of a class not especially bothered by finances, have joined in with the movement and the girls' clubs as well as the men's are enlisted.

Faculty members who have most to do with student affairs have pledged their aid. Better-fed students with lower cost per capita, higher scholarship and more graduates are the announced aims of the promoters of the movement.

STEAMER TAKES RICH FREIGHTS.

MILLION AND HALF CARGO FOR ORIENTAL PORTS.

Vessel Sails From Seattle and After Discharging Will Take Aboard Mohammedan Pilgrims to Tomb of the Prophet at Mecca—Ship Popular in Far East.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE, Jan. 25.—The steamship Keemun sailed today for the Orient and the United Kingdom, with a cargo valued at $1,500,000, including much flour for China and Japan. She carried 100 Chinese, who will reach home before the end of the new year festivities.

On leaving Chinese ports the Keemun will begin to pick up Mohammedans starting on the pilgrimage to the tomb of the prophet at Mecca. Among them will be Chinese, Malays, Hindoos, Javanese, Tartars and Persians, probably 1500 in all.

At least once in his life each Mohammedan must undertake the pilgrimage. If he dies on the way, heaven is opened to him. Many feeble persons set out hoping to perish on the journey. This accounts for the large death rate among the pilgrims.

Special accommodations are made on the deck of the Keemun for the prayers of the faithful, and the steamship is in high repute among the Mohammedans on account of the religious facilities.

OBJECTS TO FATHER.

Heiress Alleges Parent Who Was Divorced From Mother Is Unfit to Handle Estate.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charging her own father with improvidence and lack of integrity, Elaine Hancock today began a court struggle to prevent the appointment of Robert J. Hancock as executor of the will of his mother, Mrs. Samuel Hancock.

In a formal objection covering less than one page of typewritten paper and signed by her own hand, Miss Hancock asks that Hancock be declared incompetent and that some reputable trust company be appointed administrator of more than $1,000,000 worth of real estate in San Francisco and Oakland.

All the sordid story of Hancock's divorce from the mother of the young girl, who now attacks his character, and of his subsequent dissipating of his share of his father's estate will be told before Judge Graham in Superior Court to prove the daughter's charges. The will of his mother was to have been probated today, but her granddaughter's attack on Hancock as its executor, resulted in a continuance of one week.

Hancock's mother cut him off in her will, but curiously made him executor. It is this the daughter objects to. The girl's mother obtained a divorce from Hancock because of his extravagant habits.

WHITE SLAVER CAUGHT.

WILL GO TO PORTLAND.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

REDDING (Cal.) Jan. 25.—The first arrest of an alleged white slaver in the case of Minnie Hill, a Redding girl, occurred yesterday when Charles E. Pray, a Federal official descended on Nick Cosmos, a cook employed in a local restaurant. Kosmos is accused of inducing the girl to go from Redding to join a man named Peters in Portland. He will be taken to Portland to answer the charge.

Six Months Tarry Not Sufficient Court Rules.

Judge Denies Jurisdiction in Hard Fought Case.

Ruling Is Blow to "Hurry Up" Separations.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Nevada divorce colonies are gravely concerned over a ruling by Judge John S. Orr in the District Court today in which he sharply defines what constitutes a residence within the meaning of the Nevada divorce law. As the jurist clearly indicated that no longer will the mere fact of having served the six months mentioned in the statute, be regarded as an open sesame to a decree, the reason for the colonists' alarm becomes patent.

The case was that of Sara Catherine Ford of Morristown, N. J., against Millen Ford, her husband, who is charged with desertion.

HETTY GREEN'S COUSIN.

Mrs. Ford, who is over 60 years old, has been married over forty years. She is a cousin of Hetty Green, the female railroad magnate, and wealthy. Her divorce complaint which charges desertion, has been hotly contested, as is evidenced by the complaint which was filed in June, 1910, and disposed of after seven months of litigation. Answer and crossbill came across the continent. The pleadings make a bulky mass.

In granting a motion for non-suit for want of jurisdiction, the court has inadvertently caused every divorcon who has taken up an abode within the State, to sit up and take notice. Tonight the Reno colony is in a fever of excitement and suspense and not without cause, according to the ruling.

GIST OF THE OPINION.

"The plaintiff left New York December 18, 1909," says the opinion in part. "The day after her arrival, she decided to file a complaint asking divorce. She acquired no property. She lived in a hotel and an apartment house. She filed the complaint six months and six days after her arrival in Reno. She owns no home here. She has a comfortable home in Morristown, which is kept furnished and unrented. She brought here only her clothes, some table linen, and two pairs of blankets. She has called Morristown, N. J., her home since childhood, and her term of residence in Nevada and the circumstances under which it was acquired is not such as to give the court jurisdiction to determine her status as an actual resident and a citizen of Nevada."

GETS BALM FOR ARREST.

San Francisco Man Awarded $1000 Damages for Spending Eight Days in Jail, Wrongfully Accused.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—Damages to the amount of $1000 were awarded to Wilhelm Hess today by a jury in the United States Circuit Court, as compensation for his arrest on suspicion of theft and confinement for eight days in the Alameda County Jail, where he alleged he was subjected to the "third degree."

Hess was released without being charged with any crime and immediately brought suit for $25,000 against Sheriff Frank Barnet of Alameda county, and William Knapp, his accuser. His incarceration had not been preceded by the filing of a formal complaint.

BULLDOG SAVES LITTLE GIRL.

Fiercely Attacks Tramp Who Assaults Twelve-Year-Old Pendleton (Or.) Lass, and Sends Him Flying.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PENDLETON (Or.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ellen Manker, 12-year-old daughter of Mrs. M. Manker, a widow, living at No. 311 West Railroad street, was rescued by a bull terrier last night from the clutches of a tramp.

The little girl had been sent by her mother on an errand to a near-by store. Returning after dark, she was within a block of her home when a tramp seized her. She screamed, but was silenced by the tramp, who threatened to cut her throat if she made another outcry.

The child's screams, however, had been heard by the girl's mother and she untied the bulldog. The dog rushed to the aid of the girl and attacked the tramp, making him release the child and chasing him pell mell down an alley. Meanwhile the child's mother had come up and taken in charge the half-fainting girl.

WINNEMUCCA WANTS CAPITOL.

County Seat of Humboldt County, Nevada, Starts Agitation for Removal of State's Executive Offices.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CARSON CITY (Nev.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Winnemucca, county seat of Humboldt county, a place about the size of Carson, wants the Legislature to pass a law providing for the removal of the State capitol from Carson City to Winnemucca.

A bill providing for this has been introduced by the Humboldt county delegation in the Assembly, but it is believed that it will die in the lower house and never have the dignity of reaching the Senate. Winnemucca claims the capitol on account of being nearer the center portion of the State and on the main line of a transcontinental railroad.

A bill has also been introduced in the house providing for an appropriation of $80,000 for the enlargement and improvement of the capitol. It is generally believed that this bill will pass.

DAUGHTER FINDS FORTUNE.

San Jose Woman Comes Into Unexpected Wealth Left by Father Whose Estate Had Been Closed Years Ago.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The discovery of $150,000 in real estate belonging to her father, whose estate she had closed over two years ago, is the experience of Mrs. Hattie F. Burns, the daughter of John R. Whitney, formerly a resident of this county.

Whitney died in October, 1905, in Paris, and a few months later, his affairs were placed in the hands of the daughter. Final distribution, which amounted to less than $24,000, was ordered by the Superior Court in the summer of 1908, and the administrator was discharged from her trust.

A short time ago the discovery was made that Whitney had the title to two adjacent parcels of improved property on Market street, near Golden Gate avenue, San Francisco, and immediate steps were taken by the daughter to get possession.

In a petition filed with the Probate Court today, she states that equal distribution should be made to her and to Ellard B. Whitney, a grandson of the former Santa Clara Valley resident.

START FIRE WITH GASOLINE.

Eureka Youngsters Go the Path of Many Others Who Experiment With Explosive in Kitchen Stove.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ENREKA (Cal.) Jan. 25.—Annie Mulash, aged 5 years, is dead, and her sister, Mary Mulash, aged 15 years, is in a critical condition as a result of an explosion of gasoline at the Mulash home in Rohnerville, just south of this city Sunday night.

The children were left at home while the parents came to this city. At 6 o'clock the children started to build a fire in the kitchen stove so that dinner could be cooked quickly upon the return of their parents. The kindling did not ignite readily and the children obtained a can of gasoline and attempted to pour a quantity of the fluid into the stove.

The flames shot back into the can and an explosion resulted, throwing the burning fluid over the children. The parents arrived at the scene a few minutes after the tragedy. Annie Mulash died three hours later, while her sister, suffering intense agony, was brought to a hospital in this city, where she will in all probability succumb to her injuries.

MANY "BROKE" IN IDITAROD.

Prices of Food Stuffs Reach High Mark in New Alaska Camp—Predictions of Rich Season to Come.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mail advices from Iditarod, Alaska, dated late in December, say there are more "broke" men in that camp this winter than anywhere else in Alaska. Many prospectors are working in the hills this winter. Everybody hopes something new will be unearthed either in the Iditarod or the Kuskokwim, insuring larger diggings than those already proved. Prices on foodstuffs are extremely high: Bacon and ham, 85 cents per pound; butter, $1 and up; flour, $11 per hundred weight; dog bacon, 50 cents per pound.

O. J. Sampson and C. H. Boiete left Iditarod for Bethel and Unalaklik to purchase reindeer, carrying over $4000 in currency. They have not since been seen. Two of their dogs were picked up on the Lower Kuskokwim. It is feared the two men were drowned.

All freighters at Circle City are busy moving mining machinery out to the mines. Capt. Burnett is sending a 250-ton hydraulic plant to Mastodon Creek. Other plants are going to Eagle and Birch creeks.

Iditarod and Kuskokwim miners outward bound are arriving almost daily at Seward. They come in all kinds of rigs, from hand sleds to twenty-dog teams. Among them are merchants coming out to buy goods.

Miners declare Iditarod and Kuskokwim will produce from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 next summer.

SOCIETY BURGLAR IN JAIL.

Wealthy Father of Sacramento "Raffles" Shows No Disposition to Aid Wayward Son.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Herbert Repsold, the perfumed burglar, son of a millionaire San Francisco man, was held for trial yesterday for burglary. The charge was for burglarizing the residence of Mrs. N. E. Bishop. His bonds were fixed at $5000.

Yesterday's proceedings were without sensation. Repsold did not take the stand and no evidence was introduced on the prisoner's behalf. The letter alleged to have been written by Repsold to Margaret Schuler, in which he implored her to aid in his escape, was introduced in evidence for what it was worth.

Repsold is accused of stealing three gold rings from the Bishop residence and the articles were found in his possession after his arrest. His father has as yet shown no disposition to come to his aid. Repsold now occupies a cell in the County Jail and has nothing to say of his troubles.

FOUR ARE ASPHYXIATED.

DEADLY CHARCOAL FUMES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 25.—Asphyxiated by charcoal fumes, a family of four members were found dead in their home here early today. They were Francisco Signorello, an Italian laborer; his wife, Annie; Signorello's three-year-old son, Joseph, by a former marriage, and the couple's eight-months-old son, Vicenzio.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—George Wingfield, the Nevada mining man, was operated upon for appendicitis in this city today. His condition is pronounced satisfactory.

Blown Literally to Pieces.

STEGE (Cal.) Jan. 25.—Hans Johnson, quarry foreman in the employ of an Oakland construction company, met a horrible death yesterday when dynamite caps which he was carrying in a pocket exploded. His body was blown to pieces and scattered broadcast by the force of the explosion. Johnson leaves a widow and daughter.

Almost Scalded to Death.

OAKLAND, Jan. 25.—After lying for two days in torture from almost fatal burns, Mrs. L. Egleston was found yesterday by a niece, who called to see her at her home. The accident to the unfortunate woman, who is over 70 years old, was caused by her pet dog running against her as she was lifting a large bucket of boiling water from the stove. When the woman's niece found her the dog was watching over his mistress.

Suspected Bandits Freed.

OGDEN (Utah) Jan. 25.—The local peace officers have admitted that they cannot prove the men found sleeping four in a bed at a cheap rooming-house to be the robbers who killed a negro porter and took thousands of dollars in cash and jewelry from the passengers of the overland limited train at Reese. Lewis and O'Dell, the men charged in the complaint with murder, were released yesterday. Their two associates had previously been released.

LETTER TERRORIZES SCHOOL.

Black Hand Missive Sent to Polish Institution Sets Friday as Day For Bomb Play.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Terror reigned at St. Stanislaus school, Noble and Ingraham streets, the largest Polish parochial school in the city. Two supposed "Black Hand" letters, received during the last two weeks by the Rev. St. Anislaus Rogalski, each threatening to blow up the school with a dynamite bomb are the cause of the scare among its pupils numbering nearly 4000 boys and girls. Many of the children are under 10 years of age and large numbers are remaining away for fear of their lives.

Ten o'clock Friday morning is set by the "Black Handers" as the fatal hour.

Parents by the score daily beseige the offices of the school and the church, fearing for the safety of their little ones. Efforts of sisters and priests connected with the institution to silence the alarmed mothers and fathers have been in vain, and finally Postoffice Inspector Stuart has been appealed to and an investigation is on. He has copies of the original threatening letters.

Adding to the dismay and horror which followed in the wake of the threatening letters is the fact that just four years ago in January the same school building was burned to the ground, supposedly, by an unknown incendiary.

While engaged in performing an operation for appendicitis at a hospital here Tuesday, Dr. Leonard Freeman was suddenly stricken with a severe attack of the disease of which he was trying to cure his patient. He finished the operation and a few hours later was himself stretched upon the same operating table. He will recover.

Whiskey Drinkers Are Irrational.

Man Under Influence of Whiskey Mentally Irresponsible.

"He was drunk at the time—and of course, didn't know what he was doing." But he did it, that's the point. The possibility of a man doing some horrible or strange act, while under the influence of liquor, does not disturb many drinkers. But it should. The possibility of a wrecked life and the happiness of others destroyed by a few glasses of whisky, should make all drunkards ask themselves if it is not time to stop.

The easiest, quickest and most positive method of being cured of the terrible drink habit is through the Neal Three Day Drink Habit Cure, located in a palatial residence at 945 South Olive street. Here a man may become cured in seventy-two hours — cured completely and perfectly, and all appetite, craving or desire for liquor destroyed and he will leave the Institute at the end of the third day mentally and bodily refreshed and with from one to twenty years added to his life. There are no hypodermic injections used, as the treatment is composed entirely of harmless vegetable medicines—over 600 cured men in the State of Iowa and over forty Neal Institutes in America testify to the worthiness and superiority of the cure. Sitting Tight.

PORTLAND POLICE JUDGE DEFIES EXECUTIVE'S THREAT OF REMOVAL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mayor Joseph Simon declares that if Municipal Judge Taswell does not resign by February 1, he will be removed. Judge Taswell defies the Mayor and declares he will sit tight.

Judge Taswell was appointed by Mayor Simon upon the death of the late Judge Bennett. The Mayor says it was understood that Taswell was to serve until February 1, and then resign to make room for the appointment of Maj. J. P. Kennedy, a friend of the Mayor, who could not at that time be appointed because he was holding a city position as secretary of the Civil Service Commission.

Taswell admits this understanding, but says, "conditions are changed."

Today, the Mayor summoned Judge Taswell to his office.

"Well, Taswell, are you going to resign?" was his first question.

"I don't see why I should," answered the judge. "It was understood when I was appointed that if I decided to try for re-election, I would continue to hold the office."

"Then you positively refuse to give up the office?" continued the Mayor, displaying the first symptoms of anger.

"That is my final decision. You can't dump me," retorted Taswell.

"Well, if you don't resign then I will remove you," snapped the Mayor.

"Try it," said Taswell, and the interview closed.

Frame Up.

ROTTEN CONDITIONS EXISTING IN SAN FRANCISCO ARE EXEMPLIFIED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Kid" Sullivan, the most notorious pickpocket in San Francisco, has the laugh on Chief of Police Seymour. The Chief tried to have him convicted of vagrancy, but a jury in two minutes set him free. As a result of this fiasco, Chief Seymour issued an order today transferring Captain of Police Harry O'Day to Ingleside district and Policeman William Isaacs, whom O'Day detailed to secure the jury, to the Potrero. He will be called upon to face charges before the commissioners.

"And that is not all that will happen," said Chief Seymour, "I have a transcript of the testimony of all the detectives who testified and I intend to find out why some of my men who have been in the department for ten or fifteen years, have only known Sullivan for two or three years."

The whole case was a disagreeable frameup. The officer intrusted with securing a jury allowed on the panel notorious characters. Jewelry dealers came into court and swore Sullivan acted as salesman for them, when he has not done an honest hour's work in ten years.

ELY TILT IN LOWER HOUSE OVER QUESTION.

urgent Leader Norris Thinks ore Money Would Make Federal rcuit Judges Incapable of Dealing t Justice to Common or Garden ariety of People.

[SSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Repre- ative Norris of Nebraska, the in- rent leader, and Representative ke of Pennsylvania clashed in the se today in the debate on the rais- of the salaries of Federal circuit ges.

r. Norris said to increase the pay of e judges would have the effect of ating them to a higher station society, with a resultant tendency forget human rights and human rties."

r. Burke said he deplored such an ument as that advanced by Mr. ris.

There has been too much of that l of doctrine preached to the Ameri- people," he declared, "and it ought top. We voted to raise our salar- as Congressmen $2500 a year. Is e any man here willing to say that ease has made us forget human hts and human liberties?"

epresentative Bennett of New York posed to raise the Circuit Court ries from $7000 to $10,000 a year, said he was willing to accept an ndment offered by Representative n of Illinois to fix the amount at 0.

r. Mann moved to make the Cir- Court salaries $8500. This was ated 124 to 152. The Bennett ndment fixing the salaries at $10,000 then defeated, 92 to 218.

The shifting channel of the Rio Grande River, which serves as the international boundary line under the treaty of peace between the United States and Mexico, is responsible for the controversy. The question to be determined is whether the disputed land has been added to the Texas side of the river by erosion.

The arbitration convention provides for the submission of the cases on February 15, counter cases on April 15, and for the first meeting of the tribunal in El Paso on May 15.

CONSCIENCE GETS HIS GOAT.

San Francisco Man Sees Great White Light and Makes Peace With God by Refunding $5 Stolen Money.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—A San Francisco man, in a letter to the Post-office Department, states that he has made his "peace with God," by enclosing to the department ten fifty-cent stamps, the equivalent of the amount which he says he abstracted from a letter many years ago. The letter, he adds, was signed "Kid," and he did not know where it came from.

The writer also indicates that he was at one time engaged in the moonshine whisky business in Arkansas, and as he now has "come into the great white light," he proposes to refund to the government the amount of revenue which he evaded in that business.

YUMA INDIANS WELL FIXED.

Bill Just Passed Gives Each Buck Ten Acres of Land and Water at Expense of the Government.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Indian bill, passed today, carries an amendment by Senator Flint, providing that the Yuma Indians shall have an allotment of ten acres each instead of five acres as originally proposed. The bill appropriates the sum of $18,000 to make up the difference. Authority is granted to the reclamation service to put water on the Indian lands the government to be reimbursed for the outlay by the sale of the lands not required in the Indian allotments.

STATEMENT OF CONDITION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The national banks of Los Angeles carry individual deposits amounting to $34,702,815, according to a statement issued today by the Comptroller of the Currency and their total resources are $65,982,587. They have, or did have on January 7, gold coin to the amount of $4,067,817 and the total cash on hand made their percentage of legal reserve to deposits 24.42. The loans and discounts of Los Angeles national banks on that date amounted to $35,954,887.

PHILIPPINE ELECTIONS.

BILL TO PRESCRIBE TIME.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—A bill prescribing the time for the holding of Philippine elections has been introduced by Representative Olmstead of Pennsylvania. It provides that the present members of the Philippine Assembly shall continue in office until October 16, 1912. Elections are to be held in 1912 and each four years thereafter, the successful candidates taking office on the succeeding October 16. The present resident commissioners at Washington are to continue in office until March 4, 1913. Their successors are to be elected by the Legislature of 1912 and the election of commissioners is to occur thereafter each four years.

GIRL WITNESS DISAPPEARS.

OFFICERS SEARCH VAINLY FOR HAZEL DANNER.

Angel of Arthur See, Prophet (?) of Chicago Cult Is Not at Indiana Home When Federal Officers Try to Subpoena Her to Testify Before Grand Jury.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That mysterious and elusive girl, Hazel Danner, who is badly wanted as a witness against Evelyn Arthur See, the cult leader, was sought today by agents of the United States government through half a dozen Illinois and Indiana towns.

Search failed to reveal her or her father, George E. Danner, in his "home city" of Lafayette Ind., or in Fowler, Ind., where they were supposed to have relatives. Other towns in Indiana and in Illinois were searched, and several persons by the name of Danner were found, but none of them knew George E. Danner, or Hazel Danner.

The grand jury was to continue the investigation of the See case, but the States Attorney's office was admittedly puzzled by the shape the case has taken and the difficulty of finding a charge that would "stick."

Mona Rees and Mildred Bridges, it was learned, met almost every question asked them before the grand jury with "I refuse to answer on advice of counsel."

Not a shred of the confession they had made so readily to the police could be gained from them under oath, and the jury made practically no progress with these witnesses. Direct testimony is necessary in a criminal case of this sort and the two girls are practically the only persons who could give it.

The fact that their confessions to the police two weeks ago were verbal and were not made under oath renders them nearly valueless as evidence.

That the States Attorney's office was perplexed was shown by the fact that no true bill was being prepared, though practically all the available evidence had been put before the grand jury.

"It's hard to find a way to get a legal hold on See," said Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Marshall, in charge of the indictment department, "or discover a law that he has violated in present showing of the evidence."

BIG HALL MAY HAVE TO GO.

New York Faces Prospect of Losing Madison Square Garden, Scene of So Many Big Exhibits and Displays.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The annual scare at the possibility of New York losing Madison Square Garden, the scene of the yearly horse show, and a long list of other exhibits and displays, is on again.

This time, it is based on the appearance of advertisements offering to sell the big amusement hall for $3,500,000.

The directors of the corporation, who include J. Pierpont Morgan, Charles Lanier and James T. Woodward, are reported as saying they have carried the property twenty years chiefly for the benefit of the public and that if the enterprise is to go on, other men will have to put their shoulders to the wheel.

EXPLOSION WRECKS MINE.

Four Fatally Injured in Pennsylvania Colliery and Another Man Missing. Scores Escape at Drift Openings.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WILKESBARRE (Pa.) Jan. 25.—An explosion of powder or gas in the Hughestown No. 10 colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal Company at Pittston today, wrecked a section of the mine and killed or injured a number of workmen. Six men were brought out of the mine by rescuing parties, four of them fatally and the other two seriously burned.

It is not known definitely how many men were in the mine, but the officials say they believe there is only one missing.

Scores of miners escaped by getting out of emergency openings as soon as the shock of the explosion was felt.

AMBITIOUS CHICAGO.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Chicago is to be a city of ten million people, the transporting, merchandising and manufacturing center of a population of from 250,000,000 to 300,000,000 in the Mississippi River valley before 100 years more have gone. By that time, Chicago will be a hub for three great trade routes—to South America and the Panama canal, to Europe by way of New York city and to the Orient by way of the transcontinental railways. These are some things that Dr. J. Paul Goode, professor of geography at the University of Chicago, told the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Banking in a lecture last night on "Chicago, a City of Destiny," at the Northwestern University. "You can superimpose the maps of Germany, France, Spain, Denmark, the British Isles and several other European countries on the map of the territory tributary to Chicago," said Dr. Goode, "and have some left over, and yet no part of the Mississippi Valley has soil which is not richer than that of any country of Europe and which could not support more people than a like area in Europe does. That is why I say we are bound to have a population here of from 200,000,000 to 300,000,000 in the next century, perhaps in the next half century."

CUTTING EXPENSES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

LANSING (Mich.) Jan. 25.—Atty.-Gen. Kuhn yesterday handed down an opinion that legislative employees cannot draw pay for Sundays—an opinion which, it is said, will cut the expense of the legislative session at least $10,000 and many additional thousands if the Supreme Court holds that the legislators and employees are entitled to pay only on working days. There are 104 employees now on the roll of the two houses. The clerks of the House and Senate have received ten dollars a day, Saturday and Sunday included.

Grand Opera House

¶ Any time a musical or dramatic performance can fill a theater in Los Angeles or any other city for five weeks, there must be a mighty potent reason.

¶ The thousands of delighted theater goers who have seen Ferris Hartman and his singing and dancing company in Walter De Leon's new musical play, can readily appreciate why more people clamor for seats to see this fine musical success at every performance than the theater can accommodate. That's why "The Campus" must be kept on for

"THE CAMPUS"

Another Jammed Week Starting Sunday Afternoon

¶ Seats for this big fifth week of "The Campus" will go on sale this morning. There's really no use of your waiting until the very last moment to get your seats—GET THEM RIGHT AWAY, THE VERY FIRST THING THIS MORNING. You know you're going to see "The Campus," so be sure that you get good seats by getting them without further delay.

Grand Opera House prices for this big musical hit! Nights; 10c, 25c, 50c and 75c; Matinees Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday, 10c, 25c and 50c.

TROLLEY CAR BANDITS.

ing all of them as he tried to guess who had dared to shoot back.

Harlan, taking in the danger of the situation with the rapidity of instinct when he saw he had failed to kill his man, dropped his gun back into his lap and swiftly hid it.

But the wounded bandit was quicker than his partner in locating the direction from which the bullet had come—and for cause.

Like a flash, he swung his hand over and the big revolver blazed. The bullet struck Mitchell in the neck, entering on the left side, just behind the jugular, and passing out at the back, missing all the large veins, arteries and muscles. As it left the neck of Mitchell, the bullet struck Harlan fairly in the breast, passing through his heavy overcoat and other winter clothing, and dropped on the inside of his undershirt.

"Why, you damned fools, you ought to know better than to try to shoot at me; I'm the best shot in the world," coolly said the wounded bandit as he wiped the blood from his cheek after firing the shot that sent Mitchell to the floor of the car.

Carl Bechdolt of No. 104 Pier avenue, Ocean Park, a butcher, was sitting in the same seat with Mitchell when the latter was shot. His account of the entire affair makes a vivid story.

VIVID ACCOUNT.

"I was sitting with Mitchell on one of the front seats of the car when the hold-ups got on," he said. "When I saw their faces masked with red handkerchiefs and I heard them yell for us to put up our hands, my hands went up, I guess, about as quick as anybody else's. I did not care to take any chances.

"At the same time that I was scared, I had to laugh at those fellows, because the one who went through the car was drunk.

"Why, after he shot Mitchell, he could hardly talk for the bullet hole through his cheeks but he had to brag that he was the best shot in the world.

"He was so drunk that he did not have sense enough to search all the passengers. He did not even take the money the conductor had with him.

"I watched him coming through the car, and he skipped several of the passengers. When he came to the front platform, he was making a man on the other side of the car dig up after he had robbed him of $19. He told me he would kill me if I didn't dig up when I put my small change in the cap, and I did not care to be killed, so I gave him all I had.

"I was watching the other man giving up his when this man Harlan let fly with his gun.

"After shooting, Harlan dropped back in his seat, but the robber shot back as quick as lightning, and the bullet hit Mitchell in the neck.

"The man who shot Mitchell was drunk. I could see that from the way he acted. Why, there was a man on the car who had a $175 diamond shirt stud, and he did not see it. The man told me about it when we pulled off. And then he never thought to rob the conductor. He told the motorman to divvy up with him, and when he had the motorman's money, he noticed that he had a watch and he took that. Then he noticed the motorman's ring, and he took that, but he never noticed that the motorman also had a diamond shirt stud.

"When he got the motorman's ring he dropped it, and he made the motorman pick it up and hand it to him again.

"After the robbery, the man who had got on the front platform stayed on the car and kept us all covered, but the other fellow got off with the conductor's cap and all the money and jewels in it. He went to the ditch near the right of way and cached the cap, and then pulled off his mask and walked along the side of the car to where he could signal his partner.

"I got a good view of him when he walked up the side of the car.

"After getting the signal, the man on the front end told the motorman to go ahead. He rode with us for a hundred feet or so, and then he jumped off.

"As we pulled away from them, they both emptied their revolvers at us before they went to an automobile they had handy near by."

MITCHELL BROUGHT IN.

Immediately after the robbery, which was committed immediately in front of the Oocean Park City Hall, perhaps the most isolated building of its kind in the world, standing as it does far from the town whose name it bears, the police and the Sheriff's office were notified. Mitchell, the wounded man, shot through the windpipe and unable to talk, was placed on an inbound car and hurried to Los Angeles, together with several witnesses to the shooting.

At the Receiving Hospital, Police Surgeon Wright pronounced the young man's wound serious, but not necessarily fatal. The surgeon said the bullet had missed all of the larger blood vessels, but that there was no forecasting what complications might set in.

Detectives Hawley and McKenzie were the first assigned to the case, and met all the witnesses as they came into the city. As the importance of the robbery was revealed, every officer on duty in the city was placed on the case in some way or other, and Sheriff Hammel, with Under Sheriff Brain, called out every man the Sheriff's office could lay its hands on. Within an hour after the robbery had been reported, the entire country locally was being scoured for the robbers, leading to the arrest in a short while of the man who had been shot through the jaw, although, if he could have gained the sanctuary of some private hospital, there would have been no law in the State to compel the management to report his case to the authorities, and he might have pulled through with a bluff about having been injured accidentally.

A WOMAN'S VERSION.

"I was sitting near the front end of the car," said Mrs. G. W. Hislop of Ocean Park, who was on her way into the city to visit friends at the time of the hold-up, "when the two men jumped aboard, firing their revolvers as they came. The bullets passed close over our heads as we sat there, partly paralyzed, I suppose, and we could hear the tinkle of the glass as it fell around us.

"It seemed to me that both of the men were drunk—at least, they acted so. The one in front, who was nearest me, pulled a red handkerchief over his face as he jumped on board, making the motion with a hand that already had a revolver in it, and he fired again almost as he did so. The bullet went up through the roof of the car. He shouted to all of us to hold up our hands, and most of the passengers obeyed.

"Then, driving the conductor in front of him as he went, and making him collect the money and jewelry—he had a gun in each hand—the masked man started down the aisle, taking us in turn. He acted as though he were intoxicated and I know that he failed to get a good deal of money that some of those near me had. One man told me afterwards that he had $700 in an inside pocket and that he escaped with a loss of only 30 cents, which he had in a purse in the pocket of his trousers.

"Another man lost all the money he had, but the robbers failed to see a big diamond shirt stud that he was wearing in plain sight. Sometimes they took rings from the fingers of the women and sometimes not. The wedding ring of the woman next me was stripped off with such violence that it cut her flesh.

"When he reached me I was still wearing my gloves—I wasn't going to let him take my rings, if I could help it. As he came alongside he motioned to the conductor with one of the pistols to take my pocketbook, which I was holding in one hand. I handed it to him and drew back, only to have the gun thrust farther toward me while the bandit shouted to the conductor to take off my gloves.

"The car man started to obey when all at once there were two shots close together and almost behind me, and I heard the other man cry out:

"'It's all off, bo! They've shot me and I'm bad hurt. Let's go quick, for God's sake!'

"The other man shot back a glance and yelled:

"'Never mind that! Stick right where you are—I'll get the rest of the stuff!'

"He passed on beyond me and robbed two or three other persons and then all at once he called to his partner and both of them ran to the rear door and jumped off, shouting to the motorman to go on. The car started and then they fired about a dozen times into the back end, breaking the windows and narrowly missing several people. That's all I guess. Not many of the passengers got frightened until it was all over—it happened too quickly."

F. E. Underwood of Inglewood, a passenger, narrowly escaped one of the shots fired. He happened to turn his head to look back at the maneuvers of the bandit firm's treasurer just as the bullet was sent over his seat by the desperado standing guard forward.

When it came his turn to contribute Underwood had had the foresight to coolly remove a valuable diamond stud from his shirt front to a deep recess in his off shoe and to transfer from its accustomed repository his fine gold watch and chain to a dark corner of the seat. He came out one of the few untouched.

"As I remember it," said Underwood, "there were all told six shots fired. After it was over I tried to talk the motorman into stopping the car to allow us a look at the freebooters, but he couldn't see it that way.

"The fellow who did the collecting gathered his booty into a hat which he carried in one hand. He stands, I should say, about 5 feet, 6, weighs only about 115 pounds, can't be more than 22 years of age and used what looked like a black sock for his mask. His companion, who remained in the front of the forward car, seemed about 5 feet, 9, in height, about 26 years of age and weighs, I think, something like 140 pounds. His mask was a red handkerchief."

THE PASSENGERS.

The passengers on the car were: Harry Mitchell, No. 1439 Fifteenth street, Santa Monica; Herbert E. Harlan, No. 1514 Tenth street, Santa Monica; Carl Bechdolt, No. 104 Pier avenue, Ocean Park; J. H. Montgomery, Ocean Park; Peter Sida, No. 1422 Third street, Santa Monica; H. A. McDonald, No. 1033 Florida street, Los Angeles; Mrs. Anna K. Cates, No. 116 Frazier street, Ocean Park; Mrs. V. Kaczynski, No. 116 Frazier street, Ocean Park; George Myers, No. 1500 Ocean avenue, Santa Monica; Marshall Sunntt, a Southern Pacific conductor; Mrs. G. W. Hyslop, Angelus Hotel, Los Angeles; F. C. Underwood, Inglewood; Dr. L. L. Mellheimer and wife, No. 3118 Third street, Ocean Park; J. R. Porter, Rose avenue, Venice; H. G. Schierr, No. 327 South Hope street, Los Angeles; H. H. Winn, No. 5822 Benner street, Los Angeles; Albert Schuh, No. 735 Maple avenue, Los Angeles; J. H. Webber, No. 833 West Eighty-first street, Los Angeles; Tobias Picklsimer, No. 217 East Fourteenth street, Los Angeles; Mark Walcott, Hotel Ems, Fourth and Olive streets, Los Angeles; Mrs. F. H. Salyer, Majestic Apartments, First and Hope streets, Los Angeles.

HE'S CAPTURED.
WOUNDED BANDIT ON CAR.

Apparently driven to desperation by the pain of his wound the younger of the two bandits walked to a station a short distance beyond Palms and took a car into the city barely thirty minutes after the hold-up. He was seemingly suffering intensely and bleeding freely from a wound in the lower part of the face, which he had swathed around in a bandage made of a silk handkerchief, taken from one of the passengers.

As he paid his fare, the conductor noticed that the top of the man's coat was soaked in blood and that he was holding a knife partly concealed by the fold of his sleeve. It instantly occurred to him that this was one of the bandits. Fearing, however, to attempt a capture unarmed, he passed on, apparently paying no attention.

A short distance outside the city, Deputy Constable C. M. Daggett, of Monrovia, boarded the car and to him the conductor confided his suspicions. Daggett observed the man closely for a few minutes and then marched down the aisle, thrust a revolver into his face and told him that he was under arrest. The bandit made an effort to reply, but what he said was unintelligible, the stiffening wound in his jaws making enunciation difficult.

At the Los Angeles Pacific station the captive was turned over to Deputy Sheriffs Wright and Fullaway, stationed there to watch all incoming cars for the suspects. On the way to the County Jail the man denied having held up the car, saying that his wound had been received by the kick of a mule in a grading camp near Venice. Under the Sheriff's questions, however, he presently broke down and made a full confession.

He gave the name Roy Fox and said that he had just come to this city from Wisconsin. He gave his occupation as a laborer, saying that he had been employed in one of the grading camps on the railroad near the beach in that capacity. Asked why he held up the car, he said that he was partly drunk and not responsible at the time, but that the robbery had been planned in order to get money.

"I was broke," said Fox, speaking slowly and with great difficulty. "And I had to get some cash somehow. I picked up another young fellow in the same condition at Venice today and I suggested to him that we hold-up one of the beach trains. He consented and we got hold of some guns to do the job.

"I never saw the man who was with me before today. He didn't tell me what his name was and I don't know where he lives or anything about him except that he was dressed shabby and had no money. We had been drinking together in the saloons around there almost all day.

"About nightfall we walked out to Tokio station and held-up the first car that came along. I was shot while we were doing it by someone who didn't know how to shoot. I wouldn't carry a gun unless I could do better than that.

"After we had finished, we jumped off the car and went off into some fields back of the track and divided up what we got. I had a little over $10 after I had given some to the other man. I don't know how much he got. My face was hurting me so that I had to do something and I left him there in the field and came on into town. That's all I know about it except that I was pinched while I was coming in."

IN OTHER HOLD-UPS.

The authorities place but little credence in the story told by Fox. It is strongly suspected from his similarity to the description that he is one of the two who held up the street car on Gage street about ten days ago and there is reason to believe that his partner may have been the other man.

When arrested, Fox had $10.75 in money and a long knife on him. His two revolvers he said that he had thrown away as he ran across the fields after the hold-up. He was dressed in a rough, dark coat, heavy shoes, black slouch hat and corduroy trousers, all of which corresponds to the description of the Gage-street bandit. Fox, however, appears to be about 22 years old and the man whom he is thought to resemble is at least 27 to 28, according to the car crew held up in the city.

Fox's wound is not serious. The bullet entered at the left side of the face below the jaw, passed completely through the mouth and out above the jawbone, through the cheek. Two teeth were knocked out but the tongue and the facial nerves were untouched. The wound was dressed in the jail by Dr. Hart. It is thought that the bandit will be able to talk more freely at the rigid examination to which he will be subjected today.

Three arrests were made in Santa Monica and Venice by the local constabulary last night in the hope that some one of the supposed suspicious characters might be the second bandit. No one of the three descriptions corresponded, however, except in a general way, to that furnished by the passengers on the car held up.

LOSES THREE CENTS.
LITTLE BOY "STOOD UP."

Cecil Finn, a newsboy 11 years of age, was "stood up" and robbed of all the money he had, 3 cents, by two men, in all probability the same pair who held up the electric train, on the platform of Tokio, just north of Venice, at 6 o'clock.

"While I was waiting for a return car to Venice," the boy said last night, "two men suddenly appeared out of the darkness, seized and blindfolded [illegible] and went through my pocke[ts] opened that I had only 3 [cents] which I had collected for paper[s] ... northbound car. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A charge of disturbing the peace against John Hansel, 50 years old, was dismissed by Judge Pollard, in the Dayton street court today, when Dr. C. A. Heberscht of the City Hospital staff testified the defendant becomes temporarily unbalanced every time his wife's name is mentioned. Hansel, who was charged with disturbing his wife's peace, had been under observation at the City Hospital since December 24.

"Whenever he hears his wife's name mentioned, he loses his reason," the physician said. "He is perfectly normal at all other times."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLUMBIA (Mo.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The blonde type of woman has been developed by a long selective process in which men have favored blondes over their darker skinned sisters, says Dr. Charles Ellwood, professor of Sociology at the University of Missouri. Men in all ages have favored blondes in his opinion. Doctor Ellwood lectured here tonight before a scientific association on the "Coloration of the Human Races." "Women of all races are lighter skinned than the men," he said, "and children at birth are lighter skinned than adults. Primitive men were neither black nor white."

Live Chickens, Bottled Water and Fresh Vegetables From His Own Farm Taken Aboard Ocean Liner to Tempt Appetite of Financier. Suffering From Stomach Trouble.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. Pierpont Morgan was a passenger on the White Star liner Celtic leaving for Europe today. He was accompanied only by a man servant. When interviewers sought to get a statement from him he replied gruffly: "I have nothing to say," and sought the seclusion of his cabin.

Mrs. Morgan, her son-in-law, Herbert L. Satterlee, and several of the financier's grandchildren saw him aboard the Celtic and left just at sailing time. The vessel will stop at the Azores and Mediterranean ports. Mr. Morgan would not say where he would get off.

Mr. Morgan took aboard the Celtic with him a crate of live chickens and two crates of fresh food products from his Highland Falls farm. He also took enough bottled water to last throughout the voyage. Specially prepared food products will be ready for him when he arrives in Italy and he had ordered fresh fruits and fresh eggs from the Azores.

The financier's stomach has gone back on him, it is said, and he will take no chances with other than the freshest obtainable foods. It had been his intention to sail on the Celtic two weeks ago, accompanied by his physician, Dr. J. W. Markoe. Dr. Markoe was ill at the time and could not sail; Mr. Morgan waited two weeks, but was compelled to sail without Dr. Markoe, as the physician is still ill.

LEADVILLE "COMES BACK."

Historic Mining Camp Discovers Untold Riches in What Was Supposed to Be Waste Product of Big Mines.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

LEADVILLE (Colo.) Jan. 25.—Leadville, historic as a mining camp, celebrated its "coming back" as one of the great ore producers.

Nominally the celebration was in honor of Bobby Burns's birthday, given by the Scottish Society of Leadville, but in reality it was to mark the discovery of millions of tons of what, since the days when gold and silver brought wealth to the camp, has been regarded as waste, but is in reality carbonate of zinc of high grade.

It is estimated that enough of this ore is now in sight in the big privately-owned mines to produce more in money than the district has hitherto given forth since 1879, and that amounts to $378,000,000.

One feature of the celebration was a luncheon 1200 feet under ground, in a hall, the walls, floor and roof of which were of solid zinc carbonate.

The celebration concluded with a banquet this evening.

UNION'S LEADERS ARE CONVICTED.

Jury Finds Three Guilty of Restraining Trade.

Louisiana Labor Commissioner Among Them.

Trial Is Aftermath of New Orleans Strike.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Involving a principle of country-wide importance to union labor, a verdict of guilty was announced in the United States Circuit Court today against three of sixty-seven members of the New Orleans Dock and Cotton Council charged with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, by combining to restrain foreign commerce.

The men found guilty are James Byrnes, former president of the council and at present State Labor Commissioner; Philip Pearsaw, former president of the Coal Wheelers' Union, and E. S. Swan, former president of the Negro Longshoremen's Union. Pearsaw and Swan are negroes.

SOLAR PLEXUS PUNCH.

A motion for a new trial was immediately made by counsel for the defendants. Today's verdict is a severe blow to union-labor combinations in this city and grows out of a desperate levee strike three years ago, when the unions practically tied up shipping for several days.

The defense attorneys, Chandler Luzenberg and J. Madison Vance, regard the principle involved one of great significance, and it appears most likely that the case will be carried higher.

In view of the fact that union labor throughout the United States is indirectly affected by the verdict, it appears probable that an abundance of outside aid, if necessary, would be contributed in a fight in behalf of the convicted men.

INTREFERED WITH SHIPPING.

The specific charge against the members of the Council was that they ordered the Coal Wheelers Union to refuse to load the steamer Habil of the Central American Steamship Company in order to enforce demands of striking longshoremen. Foreign commerce was thus interfered with, it was claimed. Another charge of conspiracy in restraint of interstate commerce was quashed by Judge Grubb.

The offense of which the three men were found guilty is punishable by fine or imprisonment or both to a limit to five years imprisonment and $5000 fine. There is no minimum limit.

It was intimated by Judge Grubb that a nominal fine only would be given if the defendants appeared for sentence as this is the first case where labor unions have been brought under the jurisdiction of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Wealthy Coloradoan, Twice Married, Was Principal in Divorce Suit and Contest Over Custody of Children—Couple Will Tour California in Auto on Their Honeymoon.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, Jan. 25.—Lawrence C. Phipps, the Denver millionaire, was married today to Miss Margaret Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Platt Rogers, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride's parents in this city.

An effort was made to keep the news of the wedding a secret until after the departure of the couple for California on their wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. Phipps left for California tonight and will tour that State in Phipps's automobile, which has been shipped West.

Mrs. Phipps is wealthy in her own right, and is noted as the possessor of an excellent voice. She has spent much of the last five years abroad.

Phipps's first wife died several years ago. From his second wife, Genevieve Chandler Phipps, he was divorced September 15, 1904, following a contest for their two children, the charge of kidnaping figuring in the proceedings.

EASTERN TRAINS ROLL IN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—Reports to railway headquarters here indicate an increase of passenger traffic from the East that is breaking all records for midwinter travel. RISES FROM FOUNDLING ASYLUM TO GOVERNORSHIP OF TENNESSEE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ben W. Hooper, the first Republican Governor Tennessee has had in thirty years and the third since the war, was inaugurated today before a crowd of 6000 people. Owing to the widespread interest in the occasion the ceremony was held in the Ryman Auditorium, another precedent being violated in this. Since the war but one other Governor has been sworn in outside of the capitol and the other one, Peter Turner, was seriously ill at his home, Winchester.

Capt. Hooper, in his inaugural, sounded a note for less political animosity and for a step forward along industrial lines. Relative to enforcement of the prohibition law, he said there should be wholesale removal of derelict officials by impeachment in communities where the law was flagrantly violated.

It was a Hooper crowd that faced a drizzling rain and risked the chance of not getting a seat. M. R. Patterson, the retiring Governor, when he defiantly reiterated his belief in the soundness of his policies, was greeted with hisses from various parts of the house. When he said he retired from office erect in his own esteem, a laugh was the response.

The ceremonies were brief, but impressive, Chief Justice John K. Shields administering the oath.

Patterson's last official act was to pardon the last of his twenty-five convicts for the day. Hooper's first act of note was the reappointment of the State Architect, Robert T. Quartes of Nashville. Gov. Hooper said, in reappointing him, that he did not know Quartes's politics, but he had made the office what it now is and desired reappointment.

Gov. Hooper, who was a foundling, and his wife, tonight are holding the most unique inaugural reception in Tennessee's history. There was a total absence of dress suits, in accordance with his ideas gained from education in an orphan asylum and as a waif.

Columbia University to Send Three Men, One a Californian, Abroad for Special Research Investigation.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Columbia University announces the award of grants of money to three American educators for the purpose of special research and investigations in foreign fields. The three men thus honored are:

William Webb Kemp, formerly assistant in education at Stanford University and director of the San Diego, Cal., State Normal School; Cornelius William Prettyman, professor of German in Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., and Charles L. Robins, instructor in the New York Training School for Teachers.

The specialists named will start for Europe February 1, and on their return will submit the result of their investigations for publication.

Harry Fryman, proprietor of the Hayward Hotel, is in receipt of a letter from Alden W. Skinner of this city, who, with Mrs. Skinner has been touring Europe during the past eighteen months and will remain abroad for nearly another year. According to the letter Mr. and Mrs. Skinner passed a good part of the summer in Switzerland and also journeyed to the Holy Land and Jerusalem.

John Deland of Seattle is at the Hollenbeck. He is a shoe dealer.

Hon. M. D. Fenton, one of the leading lawyers of Oregon, arrived at the Alexandria yesterday morning with his wife. He is here merely for a short rest. Fenton is attorney for the Southern Pacific Railway, the Standard Oil Company and a number of other great corporations. One of the others is the Mount Hood Railway and Power Company, the chief stockholders of which are Los Angeles men.

COLORADO TO BUY LAND.

Fort Lewis Indian School to Be Made Branch of State Agricultural College—Valuable Coal Deposits.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

DENVER, Jan. 25.—The lower house of the Legislature passed on third reading today the bill appropriating $60,000 to purchase from the Federal government the Fort Lewis Indian school and lands in Colorado, to be made a branch of the State Agricultural College. The Senate already had passed the bill.

Gov. Shafroth announced he would sign it at once.

Since the discovery of valuable coal deposits on these lands, the Interior Department has sought to withdraw the offer of sale.

MISTY EYES MARK TRIAL.

PATHOS SHOWS STRONG AT BELL HEARING.

Attorney Who Testifies Concerning the Business and Professional Dealings He Had With the Defendant Makes an Excellent Witness in Favor of the Accused—Letter to Daughter Read.

Pathos in infinite variety was rampant throughout Judge Cabannis's courtroom yesterday afternoon, at the trial of Frank M. Bell, charged with the murder of Attorney O. P. Widaman. Almost every voice that was heard contained an element of it. The jurors' faces betokened it and even the court seemed to have been afflicted to his full portion. Withal it was a big day for Bell and his attorneys.

Throughout the proceedings Bell sat with head buried in his hands giving free vent to his grief. At times his body shook with emotion as he attempted to stifle sobs. He did not look up once in the afternoon. He maintained a crushed position—the picture of despair.

And he was not alone in his grief. His sister and mother wept with him. Several times his southern friends who have stood by him since the trial opened looked on with moistened eyes. Once or twice comforting hands patted the prisoner on the shoulder.

Several letters written by the defendant prior to his killing Widaman, when his mind was most sorely tried, were read into the evidence. Some of the letters were read to the jurors, by Attorney Appel, and some by Bell's lifelong friend and legal adviser, Attorney John L. Fleming. The missives have been impending like illomened things since the trial opened. Bell's attorneys, veterans in gauging the flow of the emotions, had held them back—held them back until the pulse of the jurors and court was at the proper point. That point was reached yesterday. Then they released them. It was a stroke that left its imprint written upon the minds and souls of the jurors.

Two of the most important letters were penned by Bell on the night before his arraignment before Justice Ling, September 20, for carrying a concealed weapon. At that time Bell was in a pathetic mental state from unceasing worry over his affairs, and the opposition manifested by Widaman and his brother-in-law, Arthur Sanger.

Then he determined on suicide and, in order to explain his reasons to his little girl when she would have reached the age of understanding, he wrote a letter, and gave it into the custody of his attorney, John L. Fleming, for delivery. The other letter he penned to Fleming out of consideration of the service he had done him.

The letter to the baby follows, in part:

"My baby: When this, my last message to you has been delivered, I shall be dead and you will doubtless have been told of my life, its shortcomings and end, and as viewed by others. It is your due, my child, that you know the truth from your father, and it is because of my love for you that I write.

"As to my life's history, I shall not go deeply, suffice it to say that, standing upon the threshold of eternity as I am, and weighing myself as I alone can, I have the satisfaction of my own respect and the comfort of knowing that I am worthy of yours.

"But there are none perfect, I need not tell you, dear, it is only required of us that we do our best, and there is within each of us an automatic scale that weighs—memory keeps the record.

"As to your mother I have this to say: That it was she who brought me the happiest moments of my life and though it was through her that my ruin was effected and my happiness destroyed, yet I wish to assure that it was not because of anything she herself would have done, but only because of the infamy of others.

"That I was cast into prison it is true, but it was not because of any crime of which I was guilty, but only because of the guilty fear in the breasts of those who placed me there. Realizing as they did, their responsibility for the destruction of my home, happiness and property and knowing that they had been guilty of a desperate attempt upon my life (which they knew was insured for $25,000 at that time) they deliberately prostituted justice and by infamous means effected my incarceration.

"Defenseless and poor, realizing my helplessness and wrongs and grieving always for you, my darling, and Mamma, my sufferings became unbearable and my health failed.

"Life contained no sweetness for me, dear, except when, in the brief moments of my dreams, I'd live again the days that are dead—those days when I held you in my arms and felt the ecstacy of your babyhood in my heart."

Attorney Fleming was on the stand all yesterday afternoon, and testified concerning the business and professional dealings that he had with Bell. Fleming retold the tales of Bell's suffering, and his efforts to keep his little family together. He made an excellent witness for the defense. Deputy District Attorney Graham was unable to do much with Fleming's testimony.

Other witnesses called were Charles B. Cate, Andrew Schafer, D. R. Wood, A. J. Mepham, Frank G. Henderson, J. L. Van Norman, J. L. Mitchell, Charles Adair, F. E. Morgan and George W. May.

BOOZE CURE, WILLY-NILLY.

Chicago Proposes to Reform Drunkards Whether They Desire Seat on Water Wagon or Not.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The establishment of an institution for the cure of drunkards, whether they want to be cured or not, is planned at the House of Correction. The idea was approved and the transfer of inmates of the John Worthy school to State institutions was urged at a meeting held in the office of Chief of Police Steward today.

At present private institutions are the only places in Chicago where treatment is given for alcoholism. Hospitals, the county institutions included, have no facilities for treating inebriates of all classes and they are refused admission. Criminals suffering from alcoholism are cared for in the hospital at the Bridewell, but its facilities are limited. It is planned to care for large numbers of heavy drinkers, who are not criminals and who cannot afford to go to private institutions.

Before the "whiskey cure" is established quarters must be provided. It is planned to transfer many of the delinquent children from the John Worthy school to St. Charles and the Home for Girls at Geneva.

Trunk's Prescription FOR RHEUMATISM AND GOUT

Will positively overcome any kind or any case of Rheumatism or Gout on earth. This is a broad assertion, but it is true. You simply can't keep Rheumatism or Gout if you will take this prescription according to the directions. It has never been known to fail in any form of Rheumatism. It does not ruin the stomach; it does not depress the heart; it does not contain any narcotics of any kind. It is the greatest uric acid solvent known and also a superior medicine.

It is a pity and a shame to allow anyone to suffer with Rheumatism or Gout when you can get Trunk's Prescription for Rheumatism and Gout for $1.50, or six bottles for $7.50.

There is nothing just as good and it is impossible to get something better.

Gas Talk

CHAPTER 5.

The Old and the New

Los Angeles had a population of about 1867, when the city's first gas plant—forerunner the present magnificent system—was established. In these forty-three years the population has increased to 320,000, or 64 times, while the number gas consumers has multiplied in even greater portion.

The tiny little manufacturing and distributing plant that gave a metropolitan air to the straggling pueblo of the late 60's might almost be hidden by one of the big gas generators that supply a single day of today's product. This original plant was on a small plat opposite the Plaza, then the business center of the "City."

Owing to its high cost, very little gas was consumed in those early days. Even as late as 1890, when the city had a population of 50,000, there were only 2537 gas consumers.

Another ten years, and in 1900, there were 22,000 gas consumers—almost three times as many as a decade before.

This growth was considered remarkable at the time, but compare it with the figures for just ten years later!

From fewer than 7500 gas consumers the number has leaped to 84,773—over eleven times the total of 1900, when the city had a population of 102,479.

In these last ten years the service has been greatly improved and the charge for gas has been reduced and voluntarily reduced until now it stands at 80 cents—the best in the United States.

THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY PER CENT ANNUAL PROFIT FOR TWENTY-THREE YEARS is what hundreds of investors in British Columbia real estate have made.
The "British Columbia Bulletin of Information" tells about the opportunities along the three great transcontinental railways which are opening up thirty million acres of rich agricultural land and fifty million acres of timber, coal and mineral land in Central and Northern British Columbia, now famous as the Fort George country.
One hundred million dollars will be spent in the next five years in railroad building alone.
Thousands of fortunes will be made by those who get in before the big rush. Let us send you a free copy—costs you nothing—may mean a fortune for you. Write today.

FOR SALE—

YUCAIPA VALLEY

RED APPLE LAND.

We are offering for sale the very best apple and cherry land in the State at $350 per acre, on very easy terms, with pure mountain water piped to each piece of land under pressure. You get one share of water stock in a Mutual Water Company with each acre purchased. There is positively no other buy in Southern California today that will earn you anywhere near to what an apple orchard in the Yucaipa Valley will earn. Elevation 2000 feet, perfect climate, positive cure for asthma and bronchial troubles; adjoins Redlands, the famous orange center, on the east, which puts you in close touch with as fine schools, University, Polytechnic schools, churches, parks, etc., as there are in the States. In selecting a home, you need not go several hundred miles from Los Angeles; you need not go where there are cold storms in the winter, and hot desert winds in summer; you need not go where people tell you they believe you can grow apples like are grown in Oregon and Washington; but go to "YUCAIPA," where there are orchards bringing as high as nine boxes of fancy apples to the tree through the orchard, and where there are orchards of from forty to sixty acres each, that are making their owners rich; where you take absolutely no chances, because there is no pioneering to do, everything has been proven.

Come to our office and let us show the class of fruit grown in "YUCAIPA" on the famous "PETERS & EVANS RANCH," which is equal to any grown anywhere in the world. We are selling daily to the most successful and intelligent business men, and fruit growers, of Southern California. To apple growers from New York, Colorado, Oregon, Washington and Michigan.

We have about sold out our subdivision No. 1, and are offering now some of the choicest selections in the valley in our subdivision No. 2, which adjoins the new town of "YUCAIPA." Make your selection early.

Free stereopticon lecture at Chamber of Commerce daily at 12 noon. Excursions every Tuesday, Friday and Sunday. For further information call up or write

The rainstorm which ended yesterday afternoon added .71 inch to the total rainfall of the season and made the total 3.55 inches. This storm, like those which have preceded it this season, was marked by warmth and the steadiness with which it fell. On this date last year more rain had fallen but it came chiefly in the form of tempestuous showers and the crops did not derive as much benefit as they have from this year's fall of much lesser volume.

Forecaster Wollaber states that more rain may be expected tomorrow but it will be only fitful showers and will not be of great volume. Reports received from points all over the southern section of the State show the rains to have been general and ranchers and fruit men sound the optimistic note while discussing the outlook for production.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY.

TIDINGS OF THE WETNESS.

PASADENA, Jan. 25.—The rainfall for the storm, which ceased tonight, total for this month, since January 9, of 4.43 inches. The trees, grass, rose bushes and orange and lemon groves are in the best of condition. The rains for this month have come so close together that practically every bit of the water has soaked into the ground.

The rainfall during this storm at Altadena is the heaviest of the season, the total precipitation being 2.13 inches, making a total of 9.38 inches for the season, or 7.06 inches for this month. Correspondingly heavy downpours have occurred throughout the mountain district over the various water sheds, insuring a replenishment of the overground and underground reservoirs.

GLENDALE, Jan. 25.—The rains here were much needed and seemed to come at just the right time. On the east side of the valley, where the large grain fields are located and which needed the rains most, the greatest amount of rain fell. The rain has been falling slowly almost continually during the last two days and nights, and while not enough to wash to the lower end of the valley, was sufficient to soak the ground well for several feet down.

SOUTH PASADENA, Jan. 25.—The rain gauge here showed a fall of 1.07 inches for the storm. The total fall for the season is 5.18 inches.

MONROVIA, Jan. 25.—The rain has put the ground in fine condition and ranchers say prospects for good crops are better than they have been for years. The precipitation for the storm just ended was 1.54 inches, and the rainfall for the season is 6.03 inches. At Storrs ranch, at the mouth of the San Gabriel Canyon, the fall for the storm has been 2.49 inches, and the record for the season is 7.87 inches. The San Gabriel River has remained low as the precipitation in the mountains has been chiefly in the form of snow.

AZUSA, Jan. 25.—The precipitation here was 1.43 inches, making the season's total 5.93 inches.

SAN PEDRO, Jan. 25.—Rain fell here during nearly all of last night and continued today until noon, when the weather cleared. Tonight at 5 o'clock rain began failing again. Since 5 o'clock yesterday until the same hour tonight, according to the Point Firmin light station gauge, the precipitation has been .55 of an inch, making a total of .67 of an inch for the storm, bringing the total for the season up to 3.26 inches, as against 10 inches for the same period last season.

LONG BEACH, Jan. 25.—The rainstorm which began last night and continued until noon today added .50 of an inch to the season's total, which is now 3.76 inches, as against 8.46 inches the same time last year.

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 25.—The rainstorm, which endured through thirty-six hours, exhausted itself this morning, being followed by warm sunshine. The total for the season is 3.91 inches, with the record for the storm standing at an average of about .90 of an inch for the bay district. At places the fall was heavier, running as high as .97 of an inch, but at others it ran a fraction below .90 of an inch. Some of the gauges show a total of 4 inches.

AVALON, Jan. 25.—Almost one inch of rain here Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. For several hours it continued with a steady downpour soaking into the ground and doing much good. The total precipitation for the season is 3.95 inches.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY.

SNOW IN THE MOUNTAINS.

ONTARIO, Jan. 25.—The rain that started falling yesterday morning at 7 o'clock continued all last night and most of the day. Last evening for the first time this season the storm gutters along Euclid avenue were running almost full to the brim with storm water. The mountains have again been well covered with snow. San Antonio Creek now has more than enogh flow to keep all the wheels in the power houses running. Grain men feel sure of a crop. The precipitation up to this evening is 1.37 inches for the storm, making the total for the season 7.23 inches.

ORANGE COUNTY.

PROVNCES CATCH DRIP.

SANTA ANA, Jan 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The storm has brought down an average of nearly three-fourths of an inch over the county and every section is pleased. The storm figures as follows: Santa Ana, storm .62 in., season 3.29 in.; Orange, storm .59 in., season 3.38 in.; Tustin, storm .71 in., season 3.46 in.; San Joaquin Ranch, storm .68 in.; Talbert, storm .65 in.; West Orange, storm .76 in.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY.

LAKE WATER ABUNDANT.

HEMET, Jan. 25.—The third rain storm in the past two weeks, broke over Hemet Valley yesterday and continued all night. Up till noon today the rain has fallen at intervals, and still shows no signs of clearing.

Crops are now assured, and Lake Hemet has an abundance of water.

CORONA, Jan. 25.—The precipitation for the storm is .71 inch, making 3.32 inches for the season.

VENTURA COUNTY.

THE FALL AT OXNARD.

OXNARD, Jan. 25.—The precipitation for the storm is 1.03 inches; season 7.36.

Fall at Porterville.

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 25. — Rain which totalled more than one and one-quarter inches up to an early hour this morning, has been falling for the past twenty-four hours and is still going.

BREAKS A COLD IN A FEW HOURS.

PROVES QUININE IS NEVER EFFECTIVE IN THE CURE OF A SEVERE COLD OR THE GRIPPE.

There would not be a soul here in Los Angeles suffer much with a bad cold or the Grippe if they would get this effective Compound and take it as directed. It is dispensed by the Pape's of Cincinnati, which means real curative merit.

Nothing else that you can take will break your cold or end grippe so promptly as a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

The most miserable neuralgia pains, headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism pains and other distress begin to leave after the very first dose.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25 cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

Every Man Read This

This treatment is said to have acquired a wonderful reputation throughout the East, owing to its peculiar propensity to fortify the nerve force and generate health and a consequent personal magnetism, so essential to the happiness of every normal human being. It is claimed to be a blessing to those who are physically impaired, gloomy, despondent nervous and who have trembling of the limbs, dizziness, heart palpitation, cold hands and feet, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing and general inability to act rationally as others do. Also of vast benefit to writers, professional men, office workers and the victims of society's late hours and over-indulgence in wines, liquors, etc.

By preparing the treatment at home secretly, no one need know of another's troubles, while the ingredients are much used in filling various prescriptions, so that even the purchase of them separately need occasion no timidity.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup marsaparilla compound, and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom); mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at night.

This contains no opiates whatever and may also be used by women who suffer with their nerves with absolute certainty of prompt and lasting benefits.

POSTS LOOKOUT FOR GALL WORM.

LOCAL AUTHORITIES ASKED TO WATCH POTATOES.

Invasion of Pest Is Threatened From Nevada, According to Advices Received From the Secretary to the State Commissioner of Horticulture.

Giving the long-suffering hook worm a much needed siesta, the horticultural authorities of California now propose war upon the gall worm, which threatens an invasion from Nevada.

Pursuant to a letter of information and instruction received from O. E. Bremer, secretary to the State Commissioner of Horticulture, the Los Angeles Commissioner of Horticulture, A. R. Meserve, together with a local market inspector and Deputy State Quarantine Officer William Wood, devoted a large part of yesterday to a search for imported potatoes infested with the pest. They found none, but will continue the hunt for several days.

"The State Commissioner of Horticulture," writes Secretary Bremner, "has had occasion during the past month to quarantine and ship out of the State a carload of potatoes from the State of Nevada which was infested with what is known as the gall worm, or eel worm (Tylenchus Devastatrix).

"This tiny worm, male and female, lives in the ground, showing a decided preference for a sandy or gravelly soil. The female enters the potato, either the tuber or stem, where she multiplies agamically. The potato so infested presents a warty appearance on the outside and when sliced shows brown specks about one-quarter of an inch below the surface.

"When these are examined under a high-power microscope they prove to enclose small crystal-like cysts, which contain the worms in different stages of development. They are also known to attack wheat, oats, clover and onions.

"This is by far the most serious animal parasite known to attack potatoes and we wish you would examine carefully every consignment of potatoes from outside California and notify this office should a suspected shipment arrive in your county."

That word "agamically," being interpreted, means simply that the lady gall worm, hailing from the Reno region, is endowed with an overmastering penchant for divorce, separating from her lord for periods of four years, but in the interim continuing to bring into the world frequent and numerous families of rising young galls.

Commissioner Meserve stated yesterday that the pest is one of the most dangerous and fatal known and that ever precaution will be taken against its entry into Southern California, where the "spud" industry would be practically destroyed if the eel worm, in Nevada given the heavyweight title of Tylenchus Devastatrix, should colonize in any considerable numbers. He suggests that farmers and gardeners use the utmost care in the selection of seed and remain upon the alert for the symptoms described, reporting anything suspicious to his office.

LANDS HARD ON LIGHTNING LOVE.

RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BADLY SQUELCHED IN COURT.

Runaway Marriage Is Annulled on Evidence Showing Tender Years of Pretty Bride, Married for "Josh" on Mother After Acquaintance of One Week With Groom.

Acquainted one week, married after meeting four times, and on the strength of a question asked and answered in the time it takes to adjust a hatpin, separated after a five-days' honeymoon and their marriage annulled by order of the Superior Court yesterday, are the chapters in the Gatling romance of Miss Ruby Freeman and William H. Bradshaw, son of W. G. Bradshaw.

The pretty Miss Freeman, who was snatched from the arms of her 21-year-old hubby because of her tender age, of 17 years, has now been dispatched to San Francisco, where her mother, Mrs. Ollie Trostle of No. 447 South Hope street, expects to keep her until the embers of the romance have died. Bradshaw, who lives at No. 328 South Alvarado street, is also temporarily out of sight and nobody says much about it. For all that, there is war between the two mamas. Mrs. Trostle, on whose complaint the marriage was annulled, accuses Mrs. Bradshaw of having aided and abetted in the elopement, although she knew that the girl was under age.

Before her hurried departure last week, the ex-Mrs. Bradshaw, Jr., acknowledged that she had married the young realty man out of a spirit of bravado and partly in order to "josh" her mother, with whom she had had a slight difference upon the subject of early marriages. That evening Bradshaw, to whom she had been introduced a few days before, called to take her to the theater. As she was putting on her hat in the hall he asked her to marry him. Miss Freeman sighted carefully along the edge of her Gainsborough, jammed home a hatpin, and ejaculated "yes."

Forthwith they repaired to the office of the County Clerk, only to discover that the vigilant mother had foreseen and forestalled the step with information as to the girl's true age. Not to be foiled, they took counsel of Bradshaw's mother, to whom, says Mrs. Trostle, she had already appealed for help in breaking up the romance. Mrs. Bradshaw, however, smiled upon the affair and with her daughter, Myrtle, accompanied the pair to Santa Ana. By giving the age of his prospective bride as 19, Bradshaw secured a license and they were married by Justice of the Peace Smithwick.

It took Mrs. Trostle just five days to catch up. In those five days there was concentrated a lot of honeymoon, spent at three different places in this city, at the Lankershim and at the Hotel Coronado, in San Diego. Then the new Mrs. Bradshaw was haled away and a complaint asking that the marriage be set aside was filed by Attorney A. J. Copp, who represented Mrs. Trostle. At the hearing yesterday before Judge Conrey, documents were introduced to show that the girl was only 17 years old and had married without the consent of her only parent.

"It's true that I hardly knew Mr. Bradshaw," said Miss Freeman, a pretty brunette, "but he seemed like a regular man—that is, I mean he seemed older and sort of more responsible than the kids that I had known. At first I thought that he was just joking and I took him up the same way. Then I thought I would be better off married anyway, so when he suggested that we go, I just went."

STAND FOR THE LARKS.

Officers of the Audubon Society of California Take Steps Against Their Removal From Protected Class.

Assemblyman Stuckenbruck in his fight before the Legislature to remove the meadowlark from the protected class of feathered things has a hard struggle upon his hands.

Dr. David Starr Jordan, as president, and Mrs. Harriet Williams Myers, as secretary of the Audubon Society of California, have this week written a letter to every member of the Legislature in which they declare that the meadowlark is one of California's most valued songsters and that to deliver it into the power of the unscrupulous pot-hunter and the unfeeling small boy would be at once an economic and a sentimental calamity.

They quote a government bulletin to the effect that in instances where the birds may have been guilty of pulling up sprouting grain they have worked no particular damage as the reported loss has been local and very limited.

The stomachs of ninety-one meadowlarks were examined with the result that 70 per cent. of the food matter found was made up of insects. The larks destroy ground beetles, which form about one-eighth of their food supply. They visit wholesale vengeance upon caterpillars and grasshoppers and in this service alone, it is argued, they earn protection.

Famous Bekins Case Disposed of in University Police Court—Christian Scientists Rally.

Whatever else it may be, absent treatment by Christian Science as applied to horses ill with the colic does not constitute cruelty to animals—not even though the horse dies, as Martin Bekins's horse did.

That was the substance of the decision in the case against the heads of the Bekins Van and Storage Company, tried yesterday before Police Judge Williams in the University Court, on charges preferred by officers of the S.P.C.A. Ruling on the strict interpretation of the statutes they were dismissed.

Christian Science was out in force during the three-hours' hearing. Evidence by disciples and practitioners of the faith was introduced to prove that its tenets were good for man and beast. The inference was strongly made that the horse would have recovered except for the mortal error presumably committed in removing him from the influence of the treatment which he was receiving from Mrs. Bekins and two other practitioners. Although all this was ruled out, the audience appeared to look upon the decision as a decided victory for the absent treatment.

The case, which has been hanging fire since August 30, grew out of a case of colic which attacked one of Bekins's horses. It was given one day's treatment by ordinary veterinary methods and then Christian Science was brought into play. Bekins, who testified that Christian Science had cured his own stomach trouble, lasting a much longer period than the horse's, stopped the medical treatment, secured the assistance of two practitioners of the faith and tried to eradicate the colic by scientific healing. The other two did not come to the stable. Mrs. McNeil and Bekins testified in court that this was not necessary so long as the principle of good was there with the horse.

Neighbors who saw the animal lying out in the corral in apparent pain appeared not to realize the value of what was being done for it and they telephoned the S.P.C.A. that the animal was dying uncared for. Officials removed the horse to a veterinary stable where it died the next day.

One of the star witnesses for the defense was Mrs. Elizabeth MacNeil, a Christian Science practitioner from Pasadena, who very clearly set forth what the faith could do in such cases for men and animals. On the stand Bekins himself testified that he had given his horse identically the treatment which he would want for himself in a similar trouble.

"My decision," said Police Judge Williams later, "was based upon an interpretation of the statute dealing with cruelty to animals which the evidence did not show to have been violated. The law requires that care and attention be given animals in such cases, but it does not specify medical attention. As it was shown that Bekins had given his horse what the statute required, I was unable to find him guilty of cruelty as defined by that provision."

So that, considering all the facts, it was rather inconsiderate of the horse to die.

CANNY SCOTS COMMEMORATE.

SONG AND DANCE CELEBRATE BOBBIE'S BIRTH.

Caledonians Hear of Life of Ideal Poet, and of Relics Possessed in Los Angeles—Clan Cameron Presents Elaborate Programme of Music and Dancing.

The Los Angeles Caledonia Club commemorated, last night, the birth of Robert Burns, with a concert and dance, at No. 538 Maple avenue, it being the 163nd anniversary.

The address of the evening was delivered by David G. Baillie, who is one of nine decendants of John Murdoch, friend and tutor of Burns, living in Los Angeles. He said that many things associated with the life of Burns are possessed in this city.

"My mother and sister have the tea caddie, out of which Bonnie Jean made tea for Robin, when they were keeping house in Dumfries," said Mr. Baillie, "and I have in my possession one of the earliest editions of 'Tam o'Shanter,' published a few months after the poet's death.

"Burns's ancestry and heredity led him to take the Presbyterian church discipline less seriously than most of his neighbors. At that time the church watched the daily walk and conversation of its members and of the community, with close scrutiny, and religious courts tried offenses against creed, custom, or morality. Burns's contention was that a man who sat in judgment on the conduct of his neighbor, without himself being above reproach, was a hypocrite, and ecclesiastic antagonism was the cause of much satirical humor that characterizes his writings.

"There are still too many erroneous impressions of Burns. He was not of Covenanter stock, but came from the other camp. He was a member of that branch of the Clan Campbell that refused to acknowledge the legitimacy of the Hanoverian succession to the British and colonial American throne, and in consequence became separated from the Argyllshire Campbells.

"The man known to the world as Robert Burns, not only was by lineage a Campbell, but was entitled to call himself 'Robert Campbell,' if he had chosen so to do. The founder of his branch of the family was Walter Campbell of Burnhouse, who, being out of sympathy with the covenanting Argylles, dropped the name Campbell and became known as 'Burnhouse.' This was contracted to 'Burnous' and 'Burness,' and it remained 'Burness' until Robert, the poet, was almost 30 years old, when he shortened it to 'Burns.' Thus the great Clan Campbell lost the credit and renown that 'Robert Campbell' would have brought it, and I think I have thrown some new light on the query, as to why there are not more Scotch Burnses."

There was a second celebration of the birthday of Burns last night, that of the Clan Cameron, held in Blanchard Hall. The hall was crowded, and an elaborate programme preceded the dancing. The ushers and some of the performers were in kilties, and it was a typical enthusiastic Scotch gathering.

The address on Robert Burns was delivered by William Wallace Kirk, chief of the clan, and several numbers were sung by the clan Cameron Choral Club. There were a number of Scotch airs presented as solos; the "Sword Dance" was executed by Bessie Carson, and the "Highland Fling" by Joseph Meiklejohn.

PNEUMONIA KILLS RANCHMAN.

F. Veysett, a wealthy rancher, residing a short distance from Elizabeth Lake, succumbed to pneumonia last evening at the Sisters Hospital after being ill less than a week. His remains were taken in charge of by Undertakers Cunningham and O'Connor. Plans for the funeral have not been completed as yet. Veysett aside from his Elizabeth Lake property owned considerable realty in the vicinity of the Sisters Hospital.

ONE THOUSAND ATTEND MEETING.

Straw Primary Method Devised to Select Candidate.

Affair Was Marked by Harmony of Factions.

Preacher Wants to Hire Business Manager for Church.

(Office of The Times, 26 S. Raymond avenue.)

PASADENA, Jan. 25.—At the big mass meeting held last night in Woodbury Hall, 1000 of the leading men of Pasadena decided by a unanimous vote to select the candidates for Mayor and three Councilmen to be elected at the spring election, the first Monday in April, by a straw-direct primary vote. It was also decided that the polls for such election be kept open until 9 o'clock at night. The chairman of the mass meeting was authorized to appoint a committee of twenty-one, to consist of three from each of the six wards and three at-large. The time for holding the election, the locations of the various voting places and the funds with which to carry on the election are to be decided by the committee.

The vexatious question as to the manner in which candidates are to be placed on the ballots to be voted on the straw primary election was discussed and finally left to the committee.

Old timers stated that the meeting was the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in this city. Everyone seemed in deadly earnest and expecting something to happen. Men of all classes and kinds were out. Nearly every preacher in the city was present and every church brotherhood was well represented. The Municipal Light League was out in force.

The meeting was called to order by Harry Geohegan, president of the Board of Trade, who made a short address in the interest of harmony, stating that the object of the gathering was simply for the purpose of getting an expression from the people as to the manner of selecting candidates for the coming election. The election of the chairman for the evening went through as per schedule arranged yesterday by the Municipal Light League, and without opposition Frank S. Wallace, brother of Lieutenant-Governor Wallace and chairman of the Lincoln-Roosevelt Leaguers for Pasadena before the last State election, was chosen. Wallace was the unanimous choice of the combination worked out in a joint caucus between the Federation of Brotherhoods and Municipal Light League after nearly two days of continuous labor, and the programme evolved at those meetings went through with only one show of opposition and that was by C. C. Brown, who tried to have the candidates for the city officials elected by the old-time open convention method. Per schedule the motion to favor the unofficial or straw direct primary was put by ex-Judge Marriam. Brown amended that motion by substituting the open convention. Brown argued his own motion, but the house was against him. Mayor Earley, H. W. Magee and several others spoke in favor of the straw direct primary. These speeches succeeded in forming sentiment and Brown's proposition was swept before the avalanche of direct primarists.

According to the city charter, candidates for office must be placed in nomination by petition thirty days before election. For this reason the straw-primary will have to be held before that time and those who are successful at the primary will then have to be placed in lawful nomination by a petition signed by three per cent. of the voters at the last election. It is understood that it is the idea of those promulgating the direct primary proposition to have the two men receiving the highest number of votes for each office at the straw primary to be the regular candidates on the legal ballot. However, the direct primary does not prevent any one else who can get three per cent. of the voters on his petition becoming a candidate on his own account.

No names for a possible candidate for Mayor were sprung at the mass meeting, and so far as outward appearances were concerned no one seemed to have the least idea who would be placed in nomination on the straw primary ballots. The Municipal Light Leaguers were out with their Thum petitions yesterday, and have already received enough signers, it is believed, to place him in the primary running.

WILL "WHOOPER UP."

A big get together banquet and general celebration meeting of the members of the realty board is to be held Monday night, February 13. The real estate men are not superstitious especially when it comes to eating and speechmaking even if they do cross their fingers on Monday morning until a customer comes along. The realty board was organized some time ago but of late the interest has lagged somewhat. The new directors propose to inject new life into the organization and try to get every dealer in the city to become a member. Everyone who looks like a good member will be invited to come. In addition to this the realty men of South Pasadena, Alhambra and many from Los Angeles will be invited to be present and get acquainted. There is a possibility that any members of "the profession" living in the outside cities who desire to do so will be eligible for membership.

At any rate the meeting is to be a rousing one and many things essentially beneficial to the business will be discussed. Many of the proposed public improvements will be talked over with a view of making the realty board somewhat of a factor in local affairs more than it has been in the past.

ESCAPING JUICE SCARES CROWD.

A broken trolley wire with is attendant escape of juice and pyrotechnic display at the corner of Fair Oaks and Colorado yesterday afternoon caused a hurried rush to get under cover, scared a team of horses so that it ran away, damaging several automobiles, but no one was hurt further than a scare. The incident happened in the middle of a heavy shower of rain when the streets were crowded with people and the rush to doorways by the frightened crowd with the electricity snapping, crackling and sparking in every direction behind them was really panic for several seconds.

VAN ORNUM RECOMMENDED.

City Engineer Samuel J. Van Ornum has been recommended by his friends for the position of State Highway Engineer. The position is to be a new one. He was first recommended by a number of his friends from San Francisco, who are members of the League of California municipalities and yesterday his Pasadena friends got busy sending to Sacramento messages of merit for the engineer. Van Ornum has been in charge of the city's engineering department for several years.

MAKES GOOD REPORTS.

A. E. Edwards, cashier of the First morning from a trip to San Francisco National Bank, returned yesterday where he went to attend a meeting of the Executive Council of the California Bankers' Association. The annual meeting of the association will be held at Lake Tahoe June 15-17. "The meeting was attended by a large number of the prominent bankers of the State," he said yesterday, "and in every case the statements were most favorable. Business for the past six months has been the best in the history of the State and the outlook for the future is most excellent."

RECOMMENDS MANAGER.

In his address before the Men's Club of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church Tuesday night the Rev. Robert Freeman, pastor, recommended that the church hire a business manager for the church at a salary of $2500 to $3000 a year. His second recommendation was that a department for religious study be established. He recommends a ten-year course of study, starting in with the primary Sunday-school scholars. The third recommendation is the establishment of a foreign mission station. "A minister is not fit to be a Christian pastor unless he is willing to be a foreign missionery volunteer."

WILD SUITOR GOES TO JAIL.

Because Woman to Whom He Was Engaged Refused to Marry Him at Once He Created a Disturbance.

AZUSA, Jan. 25.—Justice of the Peace Glover, recently sentenced W. M. Waters of Los Angeles, to fifteen days in the County Jail for disturbing the peace. Waters went to Glendora to see Mrs. Mary Turner, also of Los Angeles, to whom he is engaged to be married. Mrs. Turner, who was employed in a retaurant in Glendora, refused to entertain Waters proposition that she should give up her position and marry him at once. The disgruntled suitor made things so unpleasant both for Mrs. Turner and the restaurant that the latter telephoned for the Constable. Waters was in a hysterical condition when brought to Azusa. After receiving his sentence he tried to secure the arrest of Mrs. Turner, saying that the child which she claims as her own, was kidnaped by her in Seattle. A telegram sent to Seattle, however, failed to bring information that she is wanted there for any crime.

Edith Demmitt, wife of R. B. Demmitt of Azusa, filed an appeal to the Board of City Trustees setting forth that the work recently done in the grading and claying of Tenth street by Dr. H. C. Bowers of Los Angeles, is not up to specifications. After taking testimony and thoroughly investigating the matter, the Board upheld the action of the Superintendent of Streets who had previously accepted the work, denied the appeal and affirmed the assessment.

CALL MEETING FOR SITE.

City Trustees of Glendale Invite Expressions From Citizens on New Public Building Location.

GLENDALE, Jan. 25.—A special mass meeting will be held by the voters and taxpayers of Glendale tomorrow evening in the aditorium of the Glendale High School for the purpose of discussing the question of choosing a site for a public building in this city. The meeting has been called by the City Trustees and comes in answer to a petition presented to them a short time ago signed by 160 residents. Each side of Glendale is pulling with all its might to draw its way the public building, which will contain the City Hall, library, fire house, etc. The east siders are trying to get it as far east as Fourth and Everett street, while the west siders are striving to have it placed almost in their midst. The south siders are also taking a hand and want it placed anyway as far south as Fifth street, and perhaps further.

The Trustees are in a muddle. For several months they have been trying to solve this question.

PORTUGUESE CHARLEY PEEVED

SLAMMED DISHRAG ON FLOOR WHEN ARRESTED.

Occasion Was a Visit From an Official Who Desired to Take the Gentleman to Court to Answer to the Charge of Trapping Shellfish Illegally.

LONG BEACH, Jan. 25.—"Portuguese Charley," a picturesque character of early California, who for years has lived in a shack at Portuguese Bend, where his culinary efforts at fish dinners have delighted thousands of tourists, was haled before Justice Underwood this morning on a charge of violating the fish laws by setting lobster and bass traps, and although he pleaded innocence, he also pleaded guilty in the next breath and was fined $75 and $50 on two charges. His assistant, Gug Nymans, a Finn, was fined $2 for his share in the violation. The arrest followed a visit the latter part of the week of Deputy Game Warden Pritchard and assistants of the ocean betwen Santa Monica and Point Firmin. Seventen traps were found and destroyed after being kodaked. Among these were five belonging to Portuguese Charley, whose right name is Charles Lindrows. They were identified by one of the game wardens who had seen them the week before lying behind Charley's cabin. It was also found that the wood parts fitted into lumber found on the place. Charley said "damn" when arrested yesterday and slammed his greasy dishrag on the floor. He and Nymans were brought over to Long Beach on the Camiguin last night.

Charley said his reason for pleading guilty was that he was anxious to get back to his customers with his great fish dinners. As a result of the fish warden's trips several other warrants have been issued and will be served today or tomorrow.

BOWERS'S WILL FOUND.

The will of the late John Bowers, shot to death last week by his friend Dick Ward, under the alleged impression that Bowers was a burglar, has been found among his papers and will be offered for probate. The document was drawn in 1899 at Pretoria, South Africa, and bequeaths all his property to his wife, Etta Rose Bowers. The family at that time resided in South Africa. The estate will not be large.

ROAD EXPERT.

W. H. Robinson, who is at the Virginia for a short stay, is City Engineer of Manila. His business in the United States and California is to make a study of road conditions, in order to make recommendations at home of the best kind of improvement. Because of the climate in the Philippines, asphalt and macadam do not give good satisfaction, and he will consult road experts for advice on the matter.

O. P. Snyder of Los Angeles, deputy county assessor, is in the city making a complete review and readjustment of real estate valuations. Property values throughout the city are being adjusted on the basis of front foot values.

VICTIMS RECOVERING.

Torry and English, the two employees of a local transfer company who were hurt last night when a Sierra Madre car struck their motor truck on the Mission road, are under the care of physicians, but their injuries are mostly painful. English, who it was feared had injured his spine, is able to move about without a sign of paralysis.

DUMFOUNDS BOARD.

The school board was dumfounded this morning, when after a district meeting had authorized a swap of lots in the Polytechnic site, the owner of the lots to be exchanged, R. Hansen, repudiated his signed proposal and refused to agree to the exchange, on the ground that he had in mind other lots than those in controversy. The papers were drawn by his own attorneys who are indignant over their client's stand. The board will probably call another district meeting to determine whether suit shall be brought against Hansen to compel fulfillment of his agreement.

ALARM LINES SNAP, CRACKLE.

STRANGE TROUBLES ON CREGIER SYSTEM WIRES.

Fire Chief, Members of Fire Commission and Other City Officials Make Mysterious Visit to the University Station — Superintendent Tells How Man Got Appointment.

How did Frederick M. Ruck of Grand Rapids happen to get an emergency appointment in the Los Angeles fire alarm system?

Why is it that all the trouble on the lines of the Cregier system in the University district has occurred since he went out there as assistant night operator?

What is the meaning of a mysterious visit of Chief Ely, Fire Commissioner Hawley and a number of city officials to the University station late yesterday afternoon?

These are questions which will probably be answered at the meeting of the Fire Commission this morning in the Mayor's office. It was whispered at the City Hall yesterday afternoon that an up-to-date fire alarm scandal is about to ring in, and that it may hasten the grand jury investigation which Auditor Meyers is threatening.

Superintendent Perry of the fire alarm system is the only man who knows about Ruck. Chief Ely didn't know of his appointment and the members of the Fire Commission were unacquainted with the emergency man. Perry says he had been talking with Ruck about his experience and ability and when the chance came, gave him the emergency appointment. He doesn't know whether Ruck intends to take an examination or not.

Strange things have been happening at the University station lately. The Cregier system, which had been working very well, has developed a tendency to suffer unexpected accidents. Wires have been disconnected in unusual places. The system didn't act as usual after the emergency man arrived. Banks Cregier, who has been fighting the Gamewell Company and who installed this system, is said to have spent a whole night at the station looking into the source of troubles. He refuses to tell what he found, saying it will be reported only to the Fire Commission.

Superintendent Perry explains the situation in this way: "The Board of Fire Underwriters in their report advised that two operators should be on duty at all times. This was too expensive a proposition and I suggested to the commission that it employ an extra man for relief so that the other operators could have a day off once a week. At first they turned down this suggestion, but later they called me in and told me to make out a requisition for an emergency man.

"When I got this requisition I appointed Ruck. He told me he had been here about a year. I had a number of talks with him about his experience and ability. He had been an operator at Grand Rapids, and I thought it was better to have him than to break in an inexperienced man."

Perry's predecessor was called before the Fire Commission one morning in the course of the investigation of the Gamewell warrants that have been rejected by Auditor Meyers. Frankhousen was his name and it appears on many of the warrants and orders which the auditor says were altered by erasures. He went into the meeting confidently, but he came out very shaky and went over to a desk and wrote his resignation.

From the hurried trips being made by Chief Ely and members of the Fire Commission last night, it is anticipated that there will be an interesting session this morning. If a Gamewell operator from a distant city has been slipped into an emergency appointment to handle the Cregier system during the time it is being tested, there may be some pertinent inquiries as to what is going on in Los Angeles at present. The members of the supply committee have been so peeved by the fact that they were trapped into approving the Gamewell warrant, which the Auditor has declared illegal, that they have not yet discussed the matter since it was referred back to them.

LAWYER WEDS WHITTIER GIRL.

Attorney Freeman Married Last Night to Miss Florence A. Scofield. Ceremony Was Private.

WHITTIER, Jan. 25.—William Freeman, a Los Angeles attorney, was married in this city tonight to Miss Florence Scofield, a local belle. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Smithers of the First Christian Church of Los Angeles. The wedding was private, only the immediate families being present. The bride was dressed in white lace over white satin and her traveling dress was champagne-colored broadcloth with hat and shoes to match. After a wedding trip to northern points the couple will reside in Los Angeles.

WILL INCREASE CAPITAL.

The announcement has just been made that the capital and surplus of the Los Angeles Fire Insurance Company will be increased to $1,000,000. The present cash capital is $200,000. W. F. Holt is president of the company, and Bradstreet Miller, vice-president and general manager. The board of directors includes some of the most prominent capitalists of the State.

There are only three local fire insurance companies in California, and only one located in Los Angeles. There is an aggregate of $16,000,000 paid for fire insurance premiums in California each year, and most of this money goes to eastern and foreign companies. The present capital of the Los Angeles Fire Insurance Company is invested in high-grade municipal and school district bonds, and the additional capital and surplus will be invested in the same class of securities.

SENDS GREEKS TO PRISON.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Theodore E. Conomu and George P. Calogora, Greek importers of figs, cheese and olives, were sentenced in the Federal Circuit Court to four months imprisonment for being parties to a conspiracy with assistant customs weighers to defraud the government out of duties through false weights of importation

MANIFESTING MUCH INTEREST.

EXTENSION OF COLORADO DITCH THE HOPE OF MECCA.

This System Added to the Already Cheap Artesian Irrigation System Would Make It One of the Richest Farming Regions in Southern California—To Algiers for Dates.

MECCA (Cal.) Jan. 25.—Considerable interest is being manifested in the Coachella Valley in the proposed irrigation scheme of the Imperial Valley under the Bridgford Act, as it is thought that in the event of Imperial Valley going under this system, it will mean the Colorado ditch will be continued so as to take in the whole of the Coachella Valley. This system of irrigation, added to the already cheap artesian irrigation system under which the valley is now making such wonderful progress, would make it one of the most valuable farming valleys in the State.

DATE CULTURE.

The wonderful proven facts concerning the culture of commercial dates in this valley by the Government's two experimental stations, one of which is located at this point and the other at Indio, fourteen miles away, are attracting attention all over the United States. The American Date Company, a corporation, has already started H. F. Cole to Algiers to secure a large number of the best varieties of date offshoots for importation to this country, and which will be planted on the company's land here in the Mecca district. Mr. Cole goes to Washington, where he will confer with Senator Flint, who will meet in conference such officials in both the Departments of State and Agriculture as will enable him to secure such necessary authority and information as will make his mission start off as auspiciously as possible. On February 21 Cole sails from New York direct to Algiers, and it is expected the offshoots will be here in time for this year's planting.

LEAD THE MARKET.

Final returns have just been received by Anderson & Stark, owners of the Oasis Orange Ranch, here in the Valley, for their oranges shipped for the Christmas holidays. This was especially a low price year for early oranges, but those from Mecca led the market at $3.95 a box.

C. O. Carlson has purchased 1000 orange trees and will set them out on his ranch, the Sierra Vista on Thermal Heights, this coming month. All the young groves in the Valley located upon the heights are showing splendid growth and an entire freedom from frost damage.

Bernard G. Johnson, one of the pioneer date growers of the Valley, has returned to his ranch at Mecca after an absence in Europe of over a year. Mr. Johnson originally went over to secure his share of his father's estate. We understand his share places him on independent street.

The iron mines in Eagle Mountain, out from here, are being patented. It is expected that inside of the next six months a railroad will be run directly to them and that they will be the principal source of supply for the new proposed steel works to be erected upon the Coast.

A Swede in the vicinity of Dos Palms, a few miles from here, discovered a piece of float last week while prospecting, which is said to assay $50,000 to the ton. Quite a number of men are out trying to locate the vein or ledge from which it came.

Some 2000 acres of cotton will be put in in this immediate vicinity this year. The growers held a meeting on Saturday evening and it was unanimously decided to use the large bole Texas variety for this years planting. This cotton ripens all at once and is easily broken loose from the bole. That which was raised here last year not only yielded well, but was picked at the rate of 85 cents a hundred pounds.

Quite a number of deep wells are being put down in the Valley at the present time. It has been found that at a depth of from 800 to 1200 feet, flows can be obtained from 50 to 100 inches from single wells, depending upon the size of the casing.

Plans have been consummated for the erection of a two-tory brick business block in this town. Work is expected to start inside of the next thirty days the Southern Pacific has also agreed to put in a new passenger station. The new Townsite Company is making a contract for acetylene gas lighting on the business streets of the town.

Canadians should see Coronado.

ESCONDIDO.

ESCONDIDO, Jan. 25.—The Escondido Chamber of Commerce has been reorganized with Dr. J. V. Lararlere, president; W. L. Ramey, vice-president; J. H. Heath, secretary; H. A. Stephenson, treasurer; G. W. Wisdom, W. N. Bradbury, W. L. Ramey, W. E. Alexander, E. B. Buell, J. V. Lararlere, Sig Steiner, J. W. Hedges, H. A. Stevenson, C. N. Ambrose, W. H. Baldridge, H. P. Rising, J. N. Turrentine, E. J. Loveless, H. N. Lyons, directors. The Chamber starts with a membership of sixty-five, which will be increased to over 100 within a few weeks. Various matters for the public good of the valley have already been taken up, one being the introduction of a bill into the Legislature for a State polytechnic agricultural school for Escondido, for which the people offer to donate forty-two acres, with water. An appropriation of $75,000 is asked.

WILL OPPOSE LAYNE'S PLAN.

COUNSEL FOR KATHERINE TINGLEY SAYS THERE IS A WILL.

Court Action Indicates That There Will Be a Warm Legal Contest for Possession of Mrs. Thurston's Property, Estimated in Six Figures. Bold Effort to Smuggle Chinese.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The filing of objections to the admission of Public Administrator Layne's petition for letters of administration of the estate of Harriet Thurston, indicates that there will be a decidedly warm legal contest for possession of Mrs. Thurston's property, estimated to be worth $150,000.

The objections were filed today by Senator L. A. Wright, counsel for Mrs. Katherine Tingley. The petition filed by Layne was based on a first will said to have been made by Mrs. Thurston and which has never been probated. In this will the principal legatee was George Patterson, son of Mrs. Thurston, a resident of Newcastle, Pa. Senator Wright, in his objections, states that the only and legal will made by Mrs. Thurston is a second document in which the husband, Clark Thurston, was named as executor, and in which Mrs. Tingley was named as the principal beneficiary.

This will was contested by Patterson, the issue being still before the court. A demurrer to the original petition of Patterson was sustained. An amended petition was then presented. Judge Lewis of Department Two of the Superior Court has this matter under advisement. Taking advantage of the time limit under which an administrator of an estate shall be appointed, Public Administrator Layne stepped in with his petition, taking the stand that there is no one to administer the estate, and that under the law, he is entitled to the appointment.

SMUGGLING CHINKS.

Capt. Gracian of the fishing schooner Bernardo Reyes, which arrived from Ensenada today, states that in passing Descanso Point, he witnessed evidence of an attempt to smuggle a horde of Chinese into this country and that immigration officers were lying in wait for the alleged smugglers. At Descanso Point, on the Mexican coast, Capt. Gracian stated he saw three strange vessels, into which Chinese were being loaded. Capt. Gracian is of the opinion that the vessels were of high gasoline power. Coming upon the coast, he passed the swift schooner Orient, lying in a cove of San Ysidro, on the American side of the line. He is of the impression that as soon as the smuggiers' craft reaches American waters, the officers aboard the Orient intend to surprise them and capture them.

SMOKER FOR AVIATORS.

The San Diego Aero Club will hold its first smoker Friday night in the Bivouc Grill of the U. S. Grant Hotel. Glenn Curtiss and Harry S. Harkness will be the guests of honor. Following the dinner there will be speech-making and a vaudeville programme. Col. D. C. Collier will be master of ceremonies. Harkness has sent for his flying machines. He informs the Aero Club that he will fly at the San Diego meet "for the fun of flying," as he expects no remuneration. Eugene Ely, who flew onto the deck of the cruiser Pennsylvania, will arrive Friday.

INITIATES LARGE CLASS.

Constans Lodge of Perfection, No. 41, tonight conferred the fourth degree of the Scottish Rite branch of Masonry on forty-one candidates. This was the first important work to take place in the new $80,000 temple. While the Scottish Rite hall is completed other parts of the new building are yet to be finished.

NOT DEFEAT FOR SUFFRAGE.

The failure of Senator Sanford's bill to pass the upper house at Sacramento is not considered by Dr. Charlotte Baker as a defeat for woman's suffrage. Dr. Baker of this city is one of the leaders of the State-wide suffrage movement. This morning she said: "I do not consider the Sanford defeat in the Senate as a setback for woman's suffrage. Really we were not fighting for that bill. We look forward to a constitutional amendment which will give us what we ask." State Senator L. A. Wright, who was noted among the absentees when the vote was taken, was called home Sunday night on urgent legal business. He departed for Sacramento last night.

CARPENTER SUICIDES.

The body of J. B. Ross was found dead in a house at No. 4142 Albatross street, where he lived alone. He left a note to his brother, T. J. Ross, stating that, because of continued ill-health, he no longer cared to live. A neighbor, who went to the house to close the windows, discovered the body. By its side was a revolver. The Coroner states that the man had been dead several days. Ross was a carpenter.

THOUSAND ACRE VINEYARD.

Escondido Concern Putting Out Grape Sets to Tune of Eighteen Thousand Each Day.

ESCONDIDO, Jan. 25.—Choice muscatel grape cuttings are being set out on the Homeland Acres at the rate of 18,000 per day, the number representing 30 acres. Seven hundred acres are to be planted on the tract this season by the Escondido Valley, Land and Planting company, which with the 300 acres planted last year will make a vineyard of 1000 acres, and embracing nearly half of the entire McCoy tract, purchased by the company a couple of years ago.

The cuttings are planted 8 feet apart. One row in 17 is skipped in order to provide roadways. Each cutting is 15 inches long and is set into the ground a depth of 12 inches, each cutting having at least five buds from which the roots sprout. A precooling plant is to be erected during the season in anticipation of the harvest of grapes, which are to be marketed in the East and Middle West. The Campbell system of dry farming is to be followed on the tract.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Mrs. Melissa Ringo, aged 80 years, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Kelley. The funeral was held this afternoon, with Rev. A. Hardie, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating.

WOMAN WANTS PART OF ESTATE.

PRESENTS NOTE FOR THIRTY THOUSAND AFTER DEATH.

E. A. Meserve of Los Angeles Is Attorney for Plaintiff and Will Bring Suit in San Francisco Courts Where the Estate Is Being Administered—Two Lions Sighted.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 25.—That the estate of the late Fred J. Esler is facing a suit brought for Mrs. Harry Deets, islearned today. Ever since Esler died at San Francisco two months ago while undergoing an operation, it was believed that Mrs. Deets would appear at some stage with a claim, but when it was found that the deceased left no will, there was much conjecture at just in what form the Deets claim would develop. This claim is represented by a promissory note in the sum of $30,000. It is claimed that the note represents "money loaned by Mrs. Deets to Esler."

The woman has placed her case with Attorney E. A. Meserve of Los Angeles. Mr. Meserve has notified the estate of the claim, and it has been repudiated. A suit is now being prepared by the Los Angeles lawyer, which will probably be instituted at San Francisco, as the estate is being administered through the courts of that city.

Esler was a member of the local wholesale liquor firm of Ingersoll & Esler. He and Mrs. Deets became close friends several years ago. They were injured in an automobile collision near Ventura and later Esler went to Reno, where he made an effort to secure divorce from his wife here on the grounds of desertion. Mrs. Esler fought the case, and Mrs. Deets was named in her defense. The divorce action was dismissed in the midst of the hearing, but a week later Esler filed a new complaint. This was pending when he died. He left a very large estate. His wife will fight for the Nevada property, though barred from sharing in the estate in California, having signed away her rights.

TWO LIONS SIGHTED.

George Bemis had two gaunt mountain lions dispute his right of way while coming down Cable Canyon yesterday. Their evident intention to attack him caused the mountaineer to turn back, being unarmed. He secured the aid of a ranger. With a rifle the ranger led the advance, but no sight of the creatures was obtained, though their tracks in the road where they had turned off into the brush after following Bemis for almost half a mile were discovered. Bemis first saw the lions when he rounded a bend in the road. They were some 120 feet distant. Supposing they would flee at a demonstration, he advanced and raised a club over his head. Instead of escaping, the lions stood their ground, and one, with its ears laid back, crouched for a spring. At this, Bemis turned back. He looked over his shoulder and saw the creatures following him.

LITIGATION OVER RIGHTS.

ORANGE COUNTY IRRIGATION COMPANIES CLAIM PRIORITY.

Alleged Firebug Is on Trial in Superior Court and the Evidence Is Circumstantial, the Testimony of a Paper Expert Being the Most Important Yet Presented.

SANTA ANA, Jan. 25.—Owing to its importance, attorneys have already begun hard work upon the case of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company and the Anaheim Union Water Company against Long and others, set for May 1 in the Los Angeles Superior Court. The defendants comprise a long list of ranchers and water companies who are users of water from the Temescal and Lytle creeks and from the Riverside and Colton underground basins, nearly all in Riverside county. The suit was begun in this county, but was transferred to Los Angeles county, Superior Judge West of this county being a stockholder in a plaintiff company.

The two Orange county irrigation companies depend upon the Santa Ana River for their supply to irrigate some 30,000 acres of orange, lemon and walnut orchards. The policy of the companies is to vigorously fight any encroachments upon the water supply up the river. Suits have been brought and compromises brought about with many of the old-established companies, the Riverside Water Company being the first to enter the agreement.

The suit against Long and others is brought on the ground that they are non-riparian owners and have no right to diminish the up-river supply. A dozen or fifteen attorneys will take part in the trial.

ALLEGED FIREBUG.

The second day's testimony against Louis Schonek of San Diego, alleged to be a firebug, was a rehash of portions of the trial of Schonek at San Diego, where the jury disagreed. Firemen testified that they were satisfied that eleven fires credited to Schonek were unquestionably the work of an incendiary. At some places they found bottles of coal oil. They found scraps of note paper. S. P. Philbrook, a Los Angeles paper expert, testified that these bits of paper were of the same quality as some found in Schonek's room, and exactly like the paper upon which a note was written and left in a fire-box by Schonek at the time of his arrest. The same kind of paper was used in anonymous letters to the City Trustees and a San Diego paper demanding $147.

NEWS BRIEFS.

A marriage license has been issued to Ira Leck, 26, and Mildred Herrick, 20, both of Tustin.

Jacob Stern of Fullerton has secured an injunction against E. Kurtz and Blanche L. Kurtz, restraining them from selling or incumbering the crop of oranges grown on their twenty-acre ranch near Fullerton, which was sold to them by Stern in April of last year. The injunction is part of an action on Stern's part to secure certain payments on the ranch, agreed to by the buyers at the time of purchase. Under the terms of agreement, Kurtz and wife were to give the complainant a crop mortgage on all of their crops before they were removed or disposed. Stern claims that part of the crops for 1910-11 have been disposed of by Kurtz and his wife, without his consent. He asks award of $500 for not having possession of the land, $500 for rentals he should have had and the possession of the property.

Dangers In Social Drinks

Those Who "Know When They Have Enough" May Ultimately Reach Sanitariums—Even Jails.

"Gipsy" Smith, the English evangelist, in a recent statement said:

"Just a word or two to you social drinkers. I am not talking to drunkards now. This is not a sermon to the down and out. It is merely a confidential talk to the moderate drinker—that self-confident class that knows when it has had enough, and is never, never, never seen under the influence of drink. What I want to point out to you nibblers at the devil's bait is that too many of you ultimately reach sanitariums, insane asylums, aye, even jails."

The moderate drinker, the social drinker, periodical or habitual drinker, or the down-and-out drunkard—all have found that the Neal Three Day Drink Habit Cure is the easiest, quickest and most positive method of becoming freed of the enticing and dangerous vice of alcoholism. No hypodermic injections, powerful drugs or narcotics are used; the complete and perfect cure is effected in three days, and at the end of that time the periodical, habitual or social drinker will find that all craving, appetite or desire for liquor has gone, and that even the sight or thought of whisky is repulsive to him. The Los Angeles Neal Institute is located at 945 South Olive. Phone A4072, Broadway 4602.

Says She Took Teleconi, Whatever That Is, and Gained Twenty-Nine Pounds.

A Remarkable Story Comes From Pittsburgh of a Woman Who Was a Nervous and Physical Wreck, But Who Took The Drugless Route Back to Wellville.

Mrs. Marguerite Barclay, who was given up to die.

There is an old saying that "There is nothing new under the sun, but there are a lot of old things coming out in new clothes. And here is a man from Pittsburgh calling himself the Teleconi Man, who has at least put a new dress on drugless treatment, and calls it Teleconi. Whether it is old or whether it is new, it has been performing some wonderful cures. To cite one of many instances, says the Pittsburgh Press, there is the case of Mrs. Marguerite Barclay, of 738 Thompson street, McKees Rocks, who was brought to the Hotel Lincoln some months ago in a carriage. She was unable to walk and now she is at her home enjoying the best of health.

Mrs. Barclay was suffering from liver, stomach and heart troubles. She was a nervous wreck and had been given up by four doctors. When she was placed in the hands of the Teleconi Company she weighed only 90 pounds, and now she weighs 119, a gain of 29 pounds.

For years Mrs. Barclay was a sufferer, and during a serious sick spell her pulse was as low as 40. Her drug bills were over $30 a month and physicians failed to bring her relief. She had nervous prostration last winter and was in bed for weeks. She heard of the Teleconi treatment and so anxious was she to try it that as soon as able to sit up she ordered a carriage and came to the office of the Teleconi Company, engaged a room in the hotel and began the treatments, which eventually brought her the vigor and strength of youth. Besides having a weak heart and liver and stomach complications she had partial paralysis of the bowels. The treatment removed the congestion of the liver, giving the stomach a chance to assimilate food; the condition of the various organs became normal and with all symptoms of malnutrition removed the blood circulated freely to the heart, which became strong and beat regularly.

At first Mrs. Barclay was given treatments in her apartments, but she soon grew stronger and was able to be about. She improved steadily and left the hotel a well woman. This happened a good while ago. Mrs. Barclay is no longer taking the treatment, and that she has continued to get stronger it is evident that Teleconi did her a lasting good.

It is understood a location is being looked for to introduce Teleconi in Los Angeles. The manager of the company stated last night that in all probability the Hotel Rosslyn would be selected as headquarters, commencing Monday, January 30, until a permanent home for Teleconi can be established.

OBITUARY.

Rev. Edward Robert Atwill.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Jan. 25.—Rev. Edward Robert Atwill, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, died here last night after an illness of several months. Although Bishop Atwill had suffered for several months from heart disease and dropsy, his death was not expected.

Rev. Herbert M. Allen.

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—News of the death yesterday at Constantinople of Rev. Herbert M. Allen, a missionary of the American Board of Commissioners for foreign missions, was received here today.

Edward H. Hurley.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Edward H. Hurley, assistant grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, died Monday in a hotel in this city. His home was in Boston, but he had been ill at the hotel here with typhoid pneumonia for some time.

Herman J. Trumbull.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Heyman J. Trumbull, a pioneer commission merchant of Chicago, who gained considerable prominence throughout the country by engineering a successful corner in beans during the Spanish-American war, died at his home here Sunday of paralysis.

J. Frank Smith.

STOCKTON, Jan. 25.—J. Frank Smith, cashier of the Sperry Flour Company, died suddenly at his home here Sunday morning of pulmonary troubles. He was 51 years old, and a native of Norwalk, Conn. He was a brother of Judge W. E. Smith of Glen Ridge, N. J., Ward M. Smith of Stockton, and Richard Peck and Mrs. Amanda Peck of Norwalk, are relatives.

Mrs. John W. Loader.

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. John W. Loader, known as the best dressed woman in St. Louis, died this morning in her apartment, at the Buckingham Club. She had been ill since last September, when she collapsed at Palm Beach from what seemed to be a nervous disorder, and since October has been almost constantly unconscious. She had a tumor on the brain, and pneumonia developed Saturdday. It was Mrs. Loader's taste and quick eye which enabled her to win her title as the best dressed woman in St. Louis. Most of her gowns she made herself, and it was said by her friends that she could copy any of the models she saw down town. She declared that no woman should require more than forty-five minutes for the most fastidious toilet. At the theaters and opera she was a striking figure, and invariably attracted attention. On this account she was one of the most widely known women in St. Louis.

WOULD STOP THE PADDING.

County Superintendent of Schools Will Work For Bill to Apportion District Moneys on New Basis.

School census padding, common up and down the north coast of California, will become a lost art if the present mission of County Superintendent of Schools Keppel, now en route to Sacramento, proves successful.

It has become known to public school officials in Los Angeles county that it has been a frequent practice in certain districts up the seaboard line to exaggerate the figures purporting to represent the number of children in each community entitled to the benefits of the public school service, the object being liberal appropriations of State funds for school support, since the apportionments are now based upon such census.

Superintendent Keppel will use his influence at the State Capitol for the passage of a bill basing the State appropriations not upon the school census, but upon the actual attendance at schools of the various counties.

An important advantage of this plan, if it carries, will be increased rewards to the districts which strictly enforce the compulsory attendance laws. The law would also save the State large sums of money now expended in taking the school census, since the attendance compilations would be made up from data which is already on file in the various school offices. Finally, it would encourage compulsory attendance, for the revenue to be so obtained.

While in Sacramento Superintendent Keppel will join with other representatives of Southern California in pushing the bill for the establishment of a State university in this section.

GUIN IS OUT ON BAIL.

Another of the Accused Employees of the Belasco Theater Is Given Liberty Under Bond—One in Jail.

Roscoe Guin one of the three employees of the Belasco Theater, charged with embezzlement of thousands of dollars from the Belasco-Blackwood Company, was yesterday admitted to bail in the sum of $500. Guin has been in the County Jail since the night of his arrest, over a week ago.

Only one of the trio, Paul Kaye, remains in jail. To date he has been unable to raise the necessary funds for his freedom. Ira Josephs the other member of the trio secured his liberty on the day following his arrest in the presentation of a $10,000 bail bond.

Guin leaves the County Jail absolutely penniless. Prior to the trouble, he had a little realty property and a small combination chicken and pigeon ranch. Since then however, creditors who feared that they would be unable to collect their bills, levied attachments on the property, and sold it.

Kaye, prior to his arrest, had a small home for which he was paying on the installment plan. This he turned over to Manager Blackwood of the Belasco Theater to liquidate a portion of his share of the missink money. Friends are at present at work trying to have Kaye's bail reduced so that he can obtain his liberty pending the trial. A coterie of influential friends succeeded in having Guin's bail reduced to $500.

TEN MILLIONS WITH A BRIDE.

Double Fortune That Comes to Young Man.

He Weds the Philadelphia Heiress Here.

Wife Once Skipped With a Cheap Waiter.

Quietly hidden away from the eyes of the world, and enjoying their honeymoon in their own luxurious way, Stephen W. Glaser and his bride, formerly Miss Roberta Buist de Janon, the youthful heiress to $10,000,000 by the will of her grandfather, a Philadelphia merchant, are living at No. 959 South Burlington avenue. They are at home to no one.

The young couple, who took out a license to marry a few days ago in this city, are practically unknown here, except to a few friends Miss de Janon made while in Los Angeles last summer.

It is understood that Glaser and his wife, who have so persistently shunned publicity, were married yesterday morning. Miss de Janon, or Mrs. Glaser, refused to make a statement last night. "We have no statement to make concerning our marriage," all of which should be definite enough.

The two young persons have been living at No. 939 South Burlington avenue for about a month with an elderly chaperone, according to neighbors and a few friends. They have maintained the strictest reticence about themselves and their plans. They have had few callers, went out but seldom and then always in a closed automobile.

BRIDE COMES TO DOOR.

Last night a reporter called upon the couple to secure the facts concerning their marriage. Miss de Janon, or Mrs. Glaser, answered the door herself, accompanied by a fussy little dog which made a rush for the reporter's heels.

"Is Mr. Glaser at home?" she was asked.

"Yes, and who shall I say wants to see him?" There was mischief in her eyes as she "sized" up the caller.

"A Times reporter," was the answer.

"I am sorry, but he will not see you," she said, and suddenly the porch was plunged into darkness, and the door swung shut sharply.

A second effort was unsuccessful also, and a third finally brought a sudden flash of light, an open door, and a somewhat angry young woman, who, with blazing brown eyes, told the reporter that he could not possibly see Glaser as "we have no statement to make concerning our marriage." Which means that they are really married.

The neighbors say the young man and woman have made frequent automobile trips during the past few days. Yesterday they left the house in company with two other young persons and were gone several hours, returning in a gleeful spirit. This is supposed to have been their wedding trip.

THEY DON'T KNOW HIM.

Miss de Janon or Mrs. Glaser is well enough known, but there is a mystery surrounding Glaser. The relatives of the bride do not know who he is.

Henry C. Stahler, the executor of the great estate of which Mrs. Glaser is the sole heiress, stated in response to a telegraphic inquiry last night that he does not know anything about Glaser, and asked for information. Glaser is described by the marriage license clerk at the Courthouse, who seems to be the only person who has seen him, as tall and blonde and good looking. He shows excelent taste in dressing. Who he is or where he comes from seems to be a deep secret.

SKIPPED WITH WAITER.

Miss de Janon was the heroine about a year ago of what was at first thought to be an elopement, when she skipped with Frederick Cohen, a cheap waiter three times her age. She was not yet 18. The police of Philadelphia looked into the case and only the ability of Cohen to prove that he had acted as a father to the girl saved him from criminal prosecution. Miss de Janon was confined in a hospital in Philadelphia for some time following this sensational escapade, and came to Los Angeles immediately following her release from the institution.

Miss de Janon attained her majority on the 8th inst., and thus was her own mistress.

The few girl friends whom Miss de Janon made while here last summer have called at the home on Burlington, but as they have not been encouraged they have failed to go again. The young couple seem to be determined to shun the world and to keep their own counsel.

COME HERE FOR BEETS.

Machinery for Anaheim Sugar Factory Brought From New York State Because Supply Is Insufficient.

C. M. Warner and A. R. Peck, wealthy New York men, are guests at the Alexandria. They are here to inspect the progress on the new beet sugar factory at Anaheim. According to Warner, the plant being erected has been brought from New York State, where it was a failure on account of the inability of the farmers to supply sufficient beets to keep the factory in operation.

"At Anaheim we have contracts now for 6000 acres of beets and this acreage may soon be increased. Our plant will handle 1000 tons of beets per day," said Warner.

This is the only beet sugar plant he is interested heavily in. He is, however, owner of a large cane refinery in New York City.

Peck is the largest stockholder in the National Bank of Syracuse, and has many other interests scattered through the country. The present visit for him is one chiefly of pleasure. He is accompanied by his family.

College Men Demand Industrial Freedom Proviso Before They Will Indorse San Francisco as Exposition City.

At the conclusion of post-prandial exercises at the Y.M.C.A. luncheon, tendered yesterday in honor of Presidents Garfield and Blaisdell, respectively of Williams and Pomona Colleges, A. B. Cass, who sat at the head of the long table, called for a rising vote to express the gathering's sentiment as to San Francisco, aspirant for the Panama exposition.

The vote was by no means favorable to the Golden Gate City. One of the party of thirty-five around the festal board called out, "Insert a paragraph in favor of the open shop and we'll sign a telegram for 'Frisco unanimously." The feast broke up in good-natured laughter without action being taken on the mooted question.

Many prominent college men were among the guests. The 100 students of the association's commercial class were addressed by Dr. Garfield. Informal speeches at the table were made by Dr. Garfield, Dr. Blaisdell and Supt. Francis.

Ocean Park and Venice in Court Battle.

Lines Sharply Drawn Twixt Beach Factions.

Small Beginning Leads to a Large Rumpus.

A slight intimation of the bitter personal feeling and long factional disputes betewen residents of Ocean Park and Venice was given yesterday, when the case of G. M. Jones against Abbot Kinney and others for $50,000 damages came up for trial before Judge Wood of the Superior Court.

The line of demarcation between the adherents of Venice and the followers of Ocean Park was sharply drawn, even in the courtroom. Well-dressed men and women sat in frigid silence and glared during the progress of the trial. Prospective jurors who admitted knowing any resident of either of the little beach towns were quickly released. Those who timidly admitted that they had gone to the beach at times and bathed, were asked sternly whether they patronized the Ocean Park bath-house or the Venice bath-house. A real estate dealer who had sold a lot in Venice to someone was promptly dismissed from the jury box. Another, who admitted the soft impeachment of having at one time written an article for a paper which was afterward sued for libel (not on account of the article) was hurriedly sent away. The day was given over to the selection of a jury and the actual trial begin this morning.

The present case is the first of a host of similar suits for damages and libel based upon a cartoon which appeared in the Santa Monica Outlook several years ago. The cartoon depicted a beauteous young lady stretched out on a couch with three figures hovering near. The reclining figure was labeled Miss Ocean Park, and the surrounding figures were called Vampires. There was a bit of verse attached, which is alleged to be libelous.

The verse is as follows:

"Fear has chased the color from the maiden's face;
She sees the hideous vampires coming nearer in their race,
But the voters of the city will flourish the big stick
And soon disincorporation will make the vampires sick."

PICKET GUILTY JURY VERDICT.

LABORITE BRAWLER CONVICTED IN SHORT ORDER.

Prosecution Works Under Heavy Disadvantage, as One Important Witness Was Spirited Away by Enemies of Industrial Freedom. Decision Against Defendant.

It took a jury but a few minutes last evening to convict L. Van Houten, a unionite messenger, of picketing. The verdict came despite the fact that the prosecution was compelled to fight against a serious handicap.

Van Houten was charged with harassing Western Union boys. When repulsed by the workers he told them that "he would get them." When placed on the stand he denied that he had made the threats.

"Who were you talking to when you made the remark about 'knocking blocks off?' Van Houten was asked by Assistant City Prosecutor Nimmo.

"Why I was talking to a friend of mine who was drunk. I tried to get him to go home and he wouldn't budge so I thought I would scare him," replied the picket.

Though the prosecution had two witnesses against Van Houten, but one was to be found when the case went to trial yesterday afternoon. Fearing that something might happen to its witnesses as it had in the past, the prosecution sent for them three days ago to

BIG EXPOSITION HERE GETS STRONG BOOSTS.

THE selection of a site for the Pacific Land and Products Exposition will in all probability be made today by the Executive Committee of the great show. The committee, at its meeting yesterday afternoon, in the offices of the exposition, rooms 200 and 201 Grosse Building, disposed of many important details of preparation.

Frank Lathrop, who was in charge of the Southern Pacific's great exhibit at the Chicago Land Show last December, was present by invitation of the committee and gave an inspiring talk on the salient features of that exposition. Lathrop gave the Los Angeles show his unqualified indorsement and predicted that it will be the finest and largest enterprise of the kind ever undertaken.

A strong boost for the exposition was given to one of the representatives of the executive committee yesterday by E. J. Marshall, owner of the largest ranching property in the world, and one of the Southwest's richest and most energetic citizens. Marshall's possessions extend for 170 miles along the international boundary line, just west of El Paso, and he also owns a 2,000,000-acre ranch in Northern Arizona.

"This exposition is one of the livest ideas I ever heard of," said Marshall. "The Southwest can not afford to neglect such an opportunity to exhibit its peerless investment possibilities to for no other city in the entire West can begin to draw the crowds that normally flock to the Southland metropolis at the time of year in which it is proposed to hold the exhibit. The people of the section must not for one moment lose sight of the importance of this proposed show. Boost is the word."

Charles A. Elder, president of the Los Angeles Investment Company, said: "Neither the city nor the State, neither the Southwest nor the West itself can afford to ignore this exposition or to even treat its purposes half heartedly or indifferently. It is the best plan I ever heard of, and the wonder is it has not been done before. Our own organization will at once figure on floor space."

C. L. Compton, editor of the Coachella Valley Submarine, is actively engaged in securing an exhibit from the Thermal section. That display will include cotton, dates and other semi-tropical products of the district, which is an unusually rich one and full of possibilities for hustlers with a little capital.

Representatives of the exposition will be sent out during the rest of the week to Portland, Seattle, San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Tacoma and other points from which inquiries have been received. The situation is to be personally canvassed in all the leading agricultural centers and no stone will be left unturned to make it thoroughly comprehensive. Over 800 letters have been mailed to various of great value as well as immediate returns comes from the use of The Times advertising columns.

The wonderful purchasing power of The Times circulation is due to its readers' loyalty to its policies, and their confidence in its advertising patrons.

The superiority of The Times as a publicity medium is shown by the following figures:

For the week ending Sunday, January 22, The Times printed 2211 more agate "Liners" than the aggregate of all other Los Angeles newspapers combined, and 6940 more than its nearest local competitor.

The total number of "Liners" published by The Times for the seven days from January 16 to 22, inclusive, was 14,879.

The prize of Five Dollars in Gold has been awarded to D. B. Murchison, No. 1036 Albany street, city, whose estimate of 14,877 "Liners" was the nearest correct answer received in last week's contest.

FIVE DOLLARS IN GOLD GIVEN AWAY

One week ago today The Times printed 1643 agate "Liners." On the same day its nearest local competitor printed only 924 agate "Liners."

On Tuesday, January 31, and on each Tuesday thereafter, a prize of Five Dollars in gold will be awarded to the person making the first nearest correct estimate of the total number of "Liner" advertisements published in The Times during the seven days from Monday, January 23, until Sunday, January 29 inclusive.

Estimates should not be made until after the publication of The Times on the last day of the week for which the contest is held, and they must be delivered before 10 a.m. the following Tuesday. The name of the prize winner for the preceding week will be published every Wednesday. This contest is not open to the employees of the Times-Mirror Company, and this company's advertisements should not be counted.

All letters should be addressed to the Contest Editor, and each will be numbered in the order of its receipt in the office, 531-535 South Spring street.

Dumping Privilege Granted to Contractor Gomer by Board of Public Works They Say Will Ruin Beach in Front of Valuable Summer Cottages and Be of No Use.

The Board of Public Works yester- afternoon listened to a protest m a number of property-owners at rminal Island against the dumping harbor dredgings on the beach nt near their summer homes. ong the protestants were Judge ldo M. York, Frank J. Thomas, C. Sumner, Sumner P. Hunt, C. B. the and Mrs. J. R. Pinkham.

The waste from harbor dredgings so has been valuable in creating fills dock and warehouse sites and a e tract of land at East San Pedro been filled in by this process. Re-tly the dumping was carried further vn the coast and now the soft d and slime is being poured out ng the strip of beach sand which summer residents consider one their chief assets.

he property owners in their protest nt out that the material now being posed of where it is a nuisance a detriment to property could be posed of where it would be of value business and industrial sites.

he Board of Public Works puzzled some time over the problem as y thought the chance of dumping und might involve some expense y that a pipe had been laid on enth street. They have given the tractor permission in carrying out work to use this means of dis-ing of his waste. It was finally ided that the contractor should notified that a protest had been d and that he would be expected propose some other plan of hand-g his dredgings.

ON HANDWRITING EXPERT PASSES.

DECLARES AUTHENTICITY OF CERTAIN LETTERS.

Baldwin Case Drags During Technical Discussion of Various Points Developed by Production of Epistles Alleged to Have Been Written by Mrs. Turnbull.

Theodore Kytka, a San Francisco handwriting expert, employed professionally by the government in detection of postal frauds was placed upon the stand yesterday by the defense in the Baldwin will contest. Various letters which are alleged by the defense to have been written by Mrs. Lillian A. Turnbull and which she brands as forgeries, the expert declared are genuine.

One specimen of Mrs. Turnbull's hand, the so-called "Leach letter," was admitted by her to be in her own handwriting. The witness was armed with photographs of numerous letters and envelops, most of them addressed to her former detective, James R. Wood.

In the course of a tedious afternoon of technical comparison, Kytka supported by the exhibit of the admitted letter and photographs of the disputed papers, his contention that all were written by the same hand—that of Mrs. Turnbull. Besides the "Leach letter," there were three other specimens of Mrs. Turnbull's handwriting whose authenicity she admitted.

Kytka was only partially through with his testimony when court adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning. Walter B. Grant, the Boston counsel for the contestant, on whose account resumption of the trial was postponed Tuesday, is still unable to appear in court. His physicians fear an attack of pneumonia. Walter M. Curtiss of Long Beach, the juror afflicted with lumbago, is greatly improved and expects to be present within a few days.

NEUMEISTER ESTATE.

SPECIAL ADMINISTRATOR.

The estate of Joseph G. Neumeister of Chicago, who died at Redondo, the 19th inst., was made the subject of a petition for the appointment of a special administration, in the Probate Court yesterday.

It is set out that the Neumeister home at Redondo, valued at $8000, is in need of immediate care, and that deceased left about $2000 worth of jewelry and clothing. It is supposed that he left a will in a Chicago bank.

The heirs are Louise McKnight, a daughter, Chicago; Gretchen Neumeister, a daughter, Redondo; Jay E. Morehouse, a step-son, Milwaukee; Robert Neumeister, a brother, Chicago; Bertha Neumeister, a sister, Chicago; Emma Schoemacher, Pauline Gastfield and Lottie Metz, all sisters, of Chicago.

WRONG NOTE.

DISCORD OF SINGERS.

Judge Conrey yesterday granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to Georgie McFadden, from Dion Stephen McFadden, both at one time members of the Bevani grand opera company. The specific allegation against the husband was that he had deserted the plaintiff, in July, 1909.

The couple were married at Redlands, in 1906. The wife declared there was much trouble from the beginning of their married life on account of the dissolute habits of her husband. Upon one occasion, she said, McFadden went to San Francisco and taking all of the furniture from their house disposed of it.

At the present time, Mrs. McFadden is singing in the little theater at Santa Monica, and she testified that she made her living as a vocalist and teacher of the piano. Her maiden name was Georgie Knowlton. The court continued the order made some months ago, that McFadden should pay his wife $25 a month alimony, although there was much doubt expressed as to whether it could be collected.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

BUSINESS WOMAN DIVORCED.

Mrs. Della Shartell was divorced from Albert Shartell in Judge Conrey's court, yesterday on the charge of desertion. The plaintiff is in the real estate business in this city, and has an office at Moneta avenue and Forty-first street. The couple were married in Dayton, in 1891, and have one daughter, now 17 years of age. Shartell left his wife in Denver, 1907.

LEAVE TO SELL. In Judge Bordwell's court yesterday the Immanuel Evangelical Church congregation was authorized to sell real estate belonging to the corporation.

VOLUNTARY DISSOLUTION. The Pasadena Consolidated Gas Company was authorized to voluntarily dissolve in Judge Bordwell's department, yesterday. All of the debts of the company have been paid, it was shown.

CRIMINAL MATTERS. In Judge McCormick's court yesterday, E. A. Williams charged with assault with intent to commit murder, pleaded not guilty to the information, and his trial was set for March 15.

William Schubien, charged with burglary, pleaded guilty, and made application for probation. The matter will be disposed of tomorrow morning.

The hearing of the charge against Sidney Johnson, alleged to be guilty of criminal assault, is now on in Department Twelve with Judge McCormick and a jury.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by Therapeutic Institute, capital stock, $10,000, incorporators, Dr. T. J. Randall, Dr. S. R. Saunders and Dr. C. M. Horn, subscribed, $30; Bodin Millinery Company, capital stock, $50,000, incorporators, F. H. Bodin, A. Bodin, Theckla Bodin, H. J. Moline and Adolph Larsen, Jr., subscribed, $500; Artistic Hardware and Fixture Company, capital stock, $50,000, incorporators, V. E. Starner, A. E. Burgess, Lloyd Cartmill, L. P. Burgess and K. W. Guhl, subscribed, $4200.

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT. The jury in Department One, in the action brought by Lulu and Robert H. Smith to recover $620, alleged to be due from the Pacific Electric Railway Company, brought in a verdict for the defendant.

HERE ALL WEEK. Judge Densmore of Riverside will preside in Department Four all week, it being necessary for Judge Finlayson to remain in Riverside to complete the hearing of a case that took him there originally.

FOR ADMINISTRATION. The petition of P. J. McGarry, asking for his appointment as administrator of the estate of Annie B. Tomeney, who died in this city October 2, was filed in the Probate Court yesterday. The estate is estimated at $8000. The heirs are Peter P. Tomeney, the husband, and Margaret Reed, a sister, who lives in Australia.

MUST ASK TO RECEIVE.

Man Convicted of Cruelty to Animals Doesn't Return With Fine; Is Locked Up in City Jail.

Morris Davis was sent to jail for twenty-five days by Police Judge Frederickson yesterday afternoon when he said that he hadn't "asked his boss" for the money to pay his fine.

Davis was arrested Tuesday and charged with cruelty to animals. It was said that he prodded a team of mules with a pointed stick when they were exerting their strength to the utmost to haul a heavy wagon.

Davis pleaded guilty and was given a sentence of $25 fine or twenty-five days in the City Jail. The contractor for whom Davis worked said over the telephone that he would pay the fine if Davis asked him to and on the statement Davis was released to see his employer and return with the money. He failed to put in an appearance and was re-arrested yesterday afternoon.

"What's the matter? Did you ask your employer to ppay the fine?" Davis was asked in the courtroom.

"Aw! he knew I had to pay it and he ought to have sent the money," answered the defendant.

Judge Frederickson said he did not recognize any obligation on the part of the employer to pay the fine unless asked to do so and sent Davis to jail.

Players Arraigned.

Arraigned in Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of gambling, L. Ziegler, M. Rowhe, A. H. Warner, J. Jones and George Dominguez, who were arrested in the rooms of the Central Social Club, No. 317 South Hill street, pleaded not guilty. They asked jury trials. The cases were continued until next month.

Will They Lie?

FINDING A WAY TO REACH THE PROTECTED GAMBLERS.

IF THE amendments to the gambling ordinance, which provide for a judicious distribution of immunity baths, suggested by members of the Metropolitan squad are adopted by the City Council, the methods of the squad will be changed materially and such things as raids will be things of the past.

Gamblers have been able in the past to conduct games in almost absolute security because it was required for conviction that the arresting officer actually capture the gamblers in the act of playing. This necessitated the officers breaking into the places where it was suspected a game was in progress, and the players were generally apprised in time and hid the cards and chips or other gambling paraphernalia. The evidence needed for conviction was in consequence not obtained, and the officers were liable to punishment for breaking in the doors.

The City Prosecutor is now drafting the amendments to the ordinance and Sergt. O'Brien and Officer Busse of the Metropolitan squad are furnishing him with the details. They are experienced and know the tricks of the gamblers.

The basis on which the amendments are being drawn is the theory that "business men don't lie."

In the city, and known to the police, are several fine club rooms luxuriously furnished, and used by prominent and reputable business men. These men are known to have gambled in the different club rooms, but the police have never been able to secure evidence against them. When the officers resorted to boring holes through the walls to peep at the gamblers, the wealthy players built partitions all around the room about three feet from the walls. The officers then found themselves gazing at an inner black wall, and not at the tables. Then the police resorted to drilling holes through the ceilings to see the games going on, and luxurious canopies were reared over the gaming tables, and the players thus shielded. Even the elevator boys on their pay rolls and were informed by a system of electric bells whenever a person left the elevator on the floor where the games were in progress. In fact, the officers declared they were entirely at sea. Urged on by their superiors and threatened with legal action if they failed to get the evidence when they broke into rooms, they didn't know what to do.

A clause in the amendments provides that any witness accepted by the prosecution will automatically become exempt to prosecution, and that, though he afterward admits that he took part in the game under investigation, it will not be possible to take action against him.

Two other clauses allowing the complaints to simply charge "gambling" and not specify what game was being played, and making it unlawful to be present when a gambling game is in progress, completes the amendments.

The procedure of the squad, if the amendments go through, will be simply to station officers in plain clothes where they can observe all who enter the club rooms.

The next step is the swearing to complaints charging the men with gambling. Then the men will be asked to call upon the City Prosecutor. Singly they will be questioned. If they refuse to answer, complaints and warrants will be served.

Then comes a point where they will either have to admit gambling, if such was done, or else do what the police say reputable business men will not do.

Several of the men will be tried, one at a time, though it is not believed it will be necessary to go further than one before they will see that they are all in for it.

The others present in the room when the police suspected gambling was going on will be questioned on the witness stand.

The only avenue left open for "reputable business men," according to the City Prosecutor, is to tell the truth.

That is the method the Metropolitan squad will use in proceedings against the well-to-do gamblers. With the smaller kinds, witnesses will be secured make sure that they would be in readiness.

The one who was expected to be the principal witness against Van Houten was not to be found anywhere. At his rooming-house it was said that he had left. A thorough search of the city was made, but no clew to the whereabouts of the man could be found.

Because the principal witness was literally snatched away in a mysterious manner, the prosecution proceeded with the trial as best it could.

The jury accepted the account of the one witness who did appear without question. The testimony of the unionite witnesses caused the jury to smile continually.

After the unionites had filed back into the courtroom to hear the verdict, Judge Rose took the paper from the foreman and read, "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty as charged."

The expressions of the unionites as they rushed from the room to the street are unprintable.

The verdict was applauded by the police. The unionites have of late labored under the impression that pickets could not be convicted, and in consequence recently committed two acts of violence, beating two free workingmen on their way to work.

CHARGES SPITE.

HAS MAN ARRESTED.

When arraigned on a charge of petty larceny before Police Judge Frederickson yesterday afternoon, Louise Thorne declared that the charge made against her was a "piece of spite work" on the part of D. F. Lewis with whom she had just ceased to keep company.

"He accused me of stealing things from his room," she told the court, "but I didn't take a thing. He is mad because I won't go with him any more."

Miss Thorne then showed that she knew how to retaliate for a short time later Lewis was arrested on a charge of battery. The same detective who arrested the woman is now investigating the case against the man.

ADMITS EVERYTHING.

FIFTY DAYS THE SENTENCE.

Inasmuch as Detectives Beaumont and Roberts had found a stolen watch on his person, Pat Kane declared it useless to oppose the evidence and pleaded guilty to stealing in Police Court yesterday morning. He was given fifty days in jail by Police Judge Frederickson.

Kane admitted going to the rooms of C. Conley in a rooming-house on East First street Monday night on Conley's invitation. He also admitted that he arose early while Conley was asleep and took everything of value from his clothes.

More Releases.

Because the jails are still too congested to allow many more prisoners to be locked up, Police Judge Frederickson yesterday released about thirty men charged with drunkenness.

STRUGGLE MOVES NORTHWARD.

Representative of Los Angeles Will Go to San Francisco to Appear for This City in Rate Hearing.

E. G. Kuster, of Kuster, Loeb and Loeb will go to San Francisco to represent Los Angeles in the San Joaquin Valley rate hearing before the State Board of Railroad Commissioners scheduled for next Tuesday.

A few months ago the Los Angeles jobbers were given a decision in the twelve-year fight for equitable freight rates in the lower san Joaquin. But the San Francisco jobbers brought such pressure to bear that the railroad commissioners suspended the reduced rates pending the hearing of a motion to reopen the case. It is this motion that is to be heard Tuesday.

The Executive Committee of the Associated Jobbers will meet tomorrow to complete the canvass for the $20,000 necessary to prosecute the campaign, of which amount $10,000 was subscribed at the mass meeting at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday.

DOUBLE SURPRISE TO HIM.

Confidential Clerk Arrested on Charge of Failure to Provide and Served With a Divorce Complaint.

Charged with failure to provide for his wife and three minor children in this city, Walter D. Sample, confidential clerk for Stern & Company, wine manufacturers of Wineville, and formerly an attache of the United States Reclamation Service in Arizona, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy Constable Roberts, and a few hours later was served with a divorce complaint. Sample will be arraigned today before Justice Reeve on the criminal charge.

According to Mrs. Sample, her husband has failed to provide for her or children during the past three years. Mrs. Sample alleges she has supported herself and little ones by working as a stenographer for the Woodill-Hulse Electric Company.

When Sample was arrested at Wineville, he was considerably surprised, but when served with the divorce papers here he was speechless. He was sitting in the dock of Justice Reeves's courtroom at the time awaiting the result of his attorney's efforts to raise the necessary bail for his freedom. Sample asserted that he provided for his family during the period stipulated in the complaint.

COLUMBIAN BALL TONIGHT.

The Knights of Columbus will hold their annual ball this evening at the Goldberg-Bosley Assembly rooms. It will be one of the chief social functions in Catholic circles this year and the officers in charge have been working hard during the past month to make it a success. The proceeds will be given to the Brownson House Settlement Association and the St. Elizabeth Day Nursery, two of the charitable organizations maintained by the Catholic Church in this city to take care of the poor children.

OCEAN PARK-VENICE SUIT.

Lewis E. Branch, J. G. French, T. R. Taylor and Ella J. Slauson as defendants.

The cartoon and accompanying verses were published during the bitter disincorporation fight which was waged in Ocean Park and Venice several years ago. It is alleged to have been inspired by Kinney and the Venice faction which wanted to get away from the control of the Board of Trustees of Ocean Park.

About this time the Venice Vanguard printed a take-off on Dickens's "A Tale of Two Cities," in which the various characters of the original were construed to represent the maligned members of the Board of Trustees of Ocean Park. There were damage suits entered against the Vanguard, Abbot Kinney and the Outlook Company for nearly a million dollars.

Kinney practically acknowledged the authorship of the "Tale of Two Cities" parody and is made the defendant in almost all of the suits.

W. H. Anderson sued Kinney some time ago for $50,000, and accepted a verdict of $750 which Kinney settled. Kinney states that he thought that it was agreed to withdraw all other actions when he paid this claim. Anderson is now one of the attorneys for Jones in the present case. Earl Rogers is the other. Kinney is defended by R. C. Gordner, Frank M. Fowler and John Pope, who are also attorneys for the Los Angeles Pacific Company.

The little courtroom yesterday was filled with prominent residents of Santa Monica, and about fifty talesmen from whom the jurors were to be selected. Abbot Kinney, accompanied by Dr. Stanwood, was present early, and Jones, accompanied by his attorneys, entered soon afterward.

It seemed by mutual agreement that the left side of the courtroom was abandoned to the Venice adherents, and the right side devoted to Ocean Park followers. Both sides waited patiently throughout the day while the tedious work of selecting the jury was under way.

The Doctor's Answers On Health and Beauty

By Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are genuine, the symptoms or diseases are given and the reply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Baker, College Building, Chicago, Ill., enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Your name and address must be given, but only initials or name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions are filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist or dealer of wholesaler.

Agnes R.: You can have pink cheeks, red lips and also add from ten to thirty pounds to your weight, which is below normal, by having this prescription filled: Compound syrup hyposulphites 6 ozs., tincture cadonene compound 1 oz., and compound essence cardiol 1 oz. Mix, shake the bottle well and take a teaspoonful after meals if the appetite is not good, or before meals if it is. After the first week gradually increase the dose to two teaspoonfuls. Also take 3-grain hypo-nuclane tablets to increase the weight, as per directions accompanying carton.

Worker: There are several good prescriptions for chronic dyspepsia, and indigestion in an annoying character, but I have had success with a scientific treatment ... as tripepsine (tablets) then anything else: tripepsine treats the stomach and digestive tract to bring about a cure, and not merely to relieve, as most advertised "dyspepsia tablets," containing pepsin, do. Try the tripepsine tablets several weeks and let me hear from you again.

Charles: I cannot give prescriptions in these columns for private diseases of men and women; send me your full name and address, stating your case plainly, and I will write you privately, giving you a prescription and full advice. There is no charge for this.

Charles E.: The best treatment for oily or greasy hair, dandruff and itching scalp, falling hair, dead and split-end hair, etc., is plain yellow minyol packed in 4-ounce jars and sold by any large retail drug store. This cures dandruff with three or four applications. Directions accompany the jar. This is far superior to the sage tea you have tried.

Housewife: For the relief and cure of tired, swollen, aching, sweaty and calloused feet, use a teaspoonful of vilane powder and tablespoonful of salt to a gallon of hot water. Immerse the feet from 10 to 15 minutes every night or morning. This gives a grand feeling of relief, and soon enables one to be on their feet all day.

Sick One: You say you have had a long sick spell, and have never regained your strength and nervous force, but constantly become weak soon after rising, catch cold easily, perspire too freely, irregular appetite, melancholia, etc. Your physician should have given you a sustaining tonic, and you would have been well. Here is a convalescent tonic, which is marvelous in action whenever symptoms such as the above are present: Syrup hypophosphites compound 5 ozs., tincture cadonene compound 1 oz. (not cardamon.) Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful before or after meals and at bedtime.

Mrs. R. L.: Your headache is caused by the bad case of nasal or head catarrh. Any one can cure catarrh by using a simple nostril wash daily consisting of a half teaspoonful of antiseptic vilane powled mixed with a pint of lukewarm water. Snuff the mixture up each nostril, gargle the throat with same, and in a few days the lumps and accumulations of mucus in the throat are removed. This cools the head instantly, stops hawking, spitting and coughing, a package of vilane powder with full treatment made by mixing as directed, and vilane powder with 1 oz. of compound cardiol. Apply twice daily in the nostrils. Take 5 grain sulphorb tablets to relieve dizziness, languor, drowsiness, inactive liver, inflamed eyes, yellow complexion and itching skin, boils, pimples, etc., all indicate a sluggish liver and bowels. The use of cathartics is dangerous, but this prescription will make you well: Fluid extract rhubarb, 1 oz., compound essence cardiol 1 oz., tincture cadonene compound 1 oz., aromatic syrup senna 6 ozs. Mix, and take from ½ to 1 teaspoonful after meals. Keep up treatment for some time again.

Smith O.: The condition you describe may prove serious if neglected. My father died with consumption. He was a very poor subject for this disease, and you should not neglect a cough or cold, as I did. Treat it in some way. Don't neglect it. Here is the cough syrup I have used with success: Obtain from your druggist a 2½-oz. package of compound syrup of hyposulphites, also a 4-oz. bottle of laxene and mix it well together according to directions. This is a patent or labeled preparation, but is much cheaper. It makes a splendid cough remedy that I have used in my own family for years. Take a teaspoonful every hour or two until relieved, then four times a day. A dose is from ten to thirty drops. A 50-cent bottle contains more than 30 doses.

Mrs. E. H. L.: I am glad to know that you are taking some steps to improve your health. (1) A wealthy person who has lost a child for chronic nasal catarrh, disease. A. Several cases of this kind which came under my observation were cured by the use of compound fluid extract of cascara 1 oz., compound essence cardiol 1 oz., syrup aromatic senna 6 ozs. Mix, and take from ½ to 1 teaspoonful three times a day after meals. Treatment several months. (2) Yes, I am glad to say that I am entirely cured of my deafness, which was caused by catarrh. I used the treatment mentioned above.

City Lass: The use of 5-grain hypo-nuclane tablets for the first few weeks will increase your weight from 5 to 10 pounds a week, after which the dose should be reduced so that you may have a clear complexion and sparkling eyes. Your many unfortunate friends, who are afflicted with catarrh, are useful in case of headache, sleeplessness, etc. Inclose a self-addressed, sealed package.

Profits 100% Greater for Nine Months of 1910 Than for Whole Year Before

The profit earnings of "HOME BUILDERS" for the nine months, January 31st to October 31st, 1910, were, in round numbers, $80,000.00, which is 100 per cent. greater than for the whole year before—1909.

This substantial sum does not include over $11,000 accrued and uncollected interest, or profit and payments on houses under construction amounting to over $15,000.00 more; nor does it include premiums on stock sold. (Premium is that amount over par value.) This $80,000.00 is clean, clear profit, made from the activities of the enterprise.

Good management and honest distribution of all profits to the stockholders is a distinguishing feature of "HOME BUILDERS." Its profit-paying and steady growth commends it to the investor.

This growth of profit explains the increase in price of its shares to $2.10.

New Washable Laces

COMPLETENESS is the word that best describes the condition of our stock of new washable laces, for trimming lingerie gowns and waists for the coming summer season.

Our comprehensive showing embraces French and German Valenciennes laces, Point de Paris laces, and imitation Irish crochet laces; in edges, insertions, allovers, galloons and medallions in the newest and most artistic designs. Now is the time to select while assortments are complete and patterns can be matched in all widths.

New Embroideries

Already we are showing a beautiful assortment of new Embroideries in Swiss, Batiste and Nainsook. The collection is very attractive in edges, bands, insertions, flouncings, panels and allovers.

Especial mention is made of our line of 27 and 45 inch Flouncings
in baby Irish and Madeira effects. These are particularly desirable for the popular lingerie gowns.

Wide Bands and Panel Embroideries

An especially strong feature this season is the extensive showing of wide bands. They will be used in horizontal effect around the bottom of skirt or tunic, and to make the short peasant sleeves. The panel embroideries will be especially desirable for front, back or side panel trimming. These are shown in beautiful novelties.

THE COMING CENTER.

Gifts and bequests to educational institutions in Southern California are now quite common. There would seem to be no grounds for a reasonable doubt that Southern California is destined to become the educational and art center of America as well as the center of population.

A LITTLE THING LIKE THAT.

We see by the papers that trouble is being made for Senator Lorimer; also that other gentlemen are threatened with the same thing. Every once in a while the country takes a fit of super-sensitiveness. Things have now come to such a pass, apparently, that a patriot cannot even buy his way into the United States Senate.

THE VAST MAJORITY.

It is not true that every other woman one meets these days is discussing woman's suffrage. That kind of talk emanates from not more than about one woman out of a hundred. The vast majority of women are still happily engaged in a line of conversation that has to do with weddings, babies, cooking and nice clothes.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

The statement has been made that the cost of the spring training of the men who form the baseball clubs in the big leagues will be not less than $200,000. Well, it is worth it. And the public will be blithe to make it up and a lot more. Baseball is the American national game and the cleanest and best sport on earth.

"RANTIN', ROVIN' ROBIN."

That the world is not wholly submerged in commercialism is demonstrated by the universal celebration of each recurring anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns. Not only do the Scots still sing the songs of the poet of Ayr, but all the races of men in every clime sing them as well. Bobby is already a long time dead, but his memory will never die.

THE YARD DECISION.

Excellent legal talent has for a long time expressed confidence in its ability to reverse the Yard decision and we do not care how soon it happens. The Yard decision makes it necessary for a man to have flowing oil or a proven mine before he can locate government land as a mineral claim and hold it against all comers. The strictness of such a law handicaps the persons who take the initial steps in the big finds which make for California's development and the development of all the West. We never knew a law we were more willing to do without.

PROTECTING THE LARK.

We shall be sorry indeed if Assemblyman J. E. Stuckenbruck shall add to the freak laws of the present Legislature by securing the passage of his pernicious bill removing the meadowlark from the list of protected birds. We cannot imagine what the meadowlark ever did to this blacksmith lawmaker that he should now try to strike them a sledge-hammer blow. Mr. Stuckenbruck may not like meadowlarks, but the majority of Californians appreciate these cheerful little people of the fields. They do little harm and they add much to our sum of song. It has never been proved that the meadowlark is an enemy to the farmer. It makes full reparation for the seed it steals in the insects it destroys.

FEARING THE UNKNOWN.

Peking is in panic over the plague. This is partly due to the presence of the infection, but more largely to the dread of the unknown. China's recesses are remote. They are alarming because they are in the dark. The masses are not fired by imagination, but they cower before an enemy they cannot see. Rumor affects the public in China as it does the people of any land, and it has the same monstrous growth into the fabulous. The fact that a few of the dead were buried in lime pits as a sanitary precaution gave rise to the report that the Russians at Harbin were casting the afflicted into poisoned wells. The plague is terrible, but a lack of reliable news facilities in China is unquestionably the cause of much unnecessary mental suffering among its people.

HELP YOURSELF TO CLIMATE.

"The weather is June but the calendar says January," writes a tourist to her friends back home. True! True! These mild moist mornings and soft summer-like days impress the multitude of strangers within our gates more than any written rhapsody could do. The facts speak for themselves and convince even the most skeptical that the beginning of the rainy season does truly mark the birth of spring in Southern California. The music of birdsong, the blossoming flowers, the smell of growing things in the moist earth these January days are indeed alluring to our visitors from the frozen and blizzard-bitten East. Welcome to our climate, friends. Help yourselves; there's enough to go around. We may run a little shy of hotel rooms once in a while, but of climate we have a-plenty.

Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College, is spending a few days with his mother in Pasadena, is following in the footsteps of his martyred father, James Abram Garfield, who years before he became prominent in Ohio politics was at the head of the little college at Hudson. His election to the House from the historic Nineteenth District; his elevation to the Senate, and the Presidency in 1880, followed in quick succession. At one time Garfield was a member of Congress, and

A COLD PLUNGE.

According to C. A. Davis, the government geologist (and where may we look for a better authority?) the time is not far distant when the great cities on the eastern seaboard will be buried under the waves of the Atlantic Ocean. In the last seventy years the city of Boston has sunk seven-tenths of a foot. Should this decline in the land level continue at its present rate, a paltry period of ten thousand years will see the New York skyscrapers encrusted with barnacles, beneath a hundred feet of cold salt water. Other scientific Jeremiahs declare the rate of sinkage to be increasing, and that a sudden slipping of a cog may cause an unexpected tilt in the continent almost any day of the week. Should this tilt occur, our Atlantic cities will go clattering down to destruction, like the plates and dishes from the dinner table when the three-year-old tugs too vigorously on the corner of the table-cloth. Then the cloud-capped towers, the gorgeous palaces, the solemn temples will be so much washed-up crockery.

However, scientific forebodings in the past have often proved more imaginary than the tales of fishermen or the fiction of Dumas. Many of us remember how the comet of last year was going to poison or cook or cannonball us off the surface of the globe. We also remember how, unless we arose in the chilly small hours of the morning, we had never been even aware of this celestial destroyer. The multiplicity of electric wires overhead was going to turn our cities into monster Leyden jars, and when the tension became too great a spark would split the atmosphere and shiver us to atoms. The wires are merrily multiplied every year but the resultant lightning has not materialized.

As for this cold water bath geologically threatened for our eastern cities, we believe counterbalancing forces are already at work. This tilt in the continent has nothing to do with geological formations. The fact is that the continent of America is one tremendous seesaw pivoted on a fulcrum running north and south. The concentration of the population on the eastern coasts of New England and New York has caused the long arm of the lever to take a dip toward the east. But every year people are flocking in increasing numbers to the Pacific slope; in a few decades equilibrium will be restored. The real danger in the not far distant future is a too great tipping of the continent to the west. Mr. Davis, in the light of the last census figures, should immediately transfer his field for inquiry from Washington to Los Angeles and satisfy us that the westward tilt has not already started. We trust the day will never come when California, as a means of self-protection, will have to close her doors against any newcomer, but in the face of such a contingency we should advise all those who wish to enjoy our immeasurable blessings to lose no time, but to cross the continent at once and buy a home here out of reach of the hungry Atlantic waves and before the Pacific tilt becomes too pronounced.

In the meantime our eastern friends who are tied hopelessly to the threatened cities may discount the continuance of any further dipping of the country on the eastern coast. The West will be, for America, the future center of gravity.

ART AND HUMBUG.

Here's a state of things! Six thousand bogus masterpieces hanging in the halls of the great and mighty and every blessed one of 'em as modern as the gilt upon their frames! Too bad, too bad! So much screwing and pinching and juggling and market-cornering to scrape together the wherewithal for the purchase of an original Corot or Romney or Titian or Turner—all in the interest of Art with a capital A! And then along comes Henri Rochefort, his journalistic nose ever sniffing out humbug and trickery, and makes this horrible discovery: Romneys ably copied by unknown art students for a mere pittance; Corots pieced together like a Morris-chair or a buggy-wheel at a modern old-master picture factory; Turners smudged on canvas by the careless hand of a decorative house-painter; worst of all the copies so like the originals as to fool even the highest-browed expert. Art disfigured with the big C of commercialism and commercialism overreached by the glittering A of Art. If you choose to take this view of it.

Let us argue the matter coldly and dispassionately. Is commercialism really fooled by art and art degraded by commercialism? Is it the substance or the shadow for which the money barons have willingly paid such enormous prices? Is it the russet-haired, violet-eyed woman almost starting from the canvas; is it the twilight effect upon the peaceful pond, or the white cliff hazing through the mist, which the wealthy art-lover would possess? Is it for the genuine pleasure of enjoying what is true and beautiful in the picture itself? Apparently not; it is simply the hardly decipherable "Titian" or "Corot" or "Romney" scrawled in the corner of the canvas which has awakened the artistic soul and opened the generous purse of the modern millionaire. Inasmuch as they have paid perfectly good money for a perfectly false signature, they have been defrauded, and the forgers of dead men's names deserve to be severely punished. But as artists, as lovers of sublimity, as seekers after the ideal, the purchasers have received full value for their lavish expenditure. For since highly trained experts have declared the impossibility of separating the sheep from the goats, the copy must be too near the original for ordinary untrained vision to find more pleasure in the one than in the other.

The real art lover who bought a picture because it touched some hidden spring in his heart and started the blood faster in the pulsing artery will find his masterpiece no less truly beautiful because the letters scrawled in one corner are false. These could be obliterated without demagnetizing the attraction of the picture. The pursey individual who merely wanted to impress society with his own importance, as the owner of a world masterpiece, is almost as big a humbug as his spurious purchase.

To possess something old and original, whether it have any meaning for them or no, has become almost a craze among the superfluously wealthy. Yes, and the same sort of humbug is rife in every shade of society. We pose as lovers of Shakespeare, when all we can read in him is a sonorous roll of archaic phrases; we rave of Beethoven and Mozart before we can appreciate the simple harmonies of Balfe and Sullivan; we talk of the atmosphere of Rembrandt and the composition of Rosetti, when we are still in the chromo-lithograph class. Against this artistic posing Mark Twain shot some of his keenest shafts of satire. When buyers are strictly honest with themselves, the day of the fraudulent old-masters will pass away. The impostors

Extremes Meet.

INCREASED GOLD PRODUCTION.

Between 1879 and 1889 the gold production of the world was, in round numbers, $100,000,000 per annum. By 1895 it had advanced to $200,000,000 per annum. In 1899 it was $300,000,000. The next year it fell to $260,000,000. Then it advanced by leaps and bounds until in 1909 it reached $420,000,000, or more than four times the amount produced thirty years before.

The advance in the price of commodities has not in all things, or in many things, kept pace with the increased production of gold. This is because trusts and business combinations and economic changes have materially reduced the cost of production, of transportation, and of distribution, so that while the production of gold has quadrupled yet the cost of living and the wages of labor have not more than doubled, and the rate of interest on money has decreased less than one-half.

Decreased cost in mining and in reduction of ores, rather than discovery of new gold deposits, has been the principle cause of increased gold production. It is not so many years since $10 per ton was the minimum cost of ore reduction, now 95 per cent. of the metal in a ton of quartz can be extracted for less than $3. If there shall be such an improvement in the construction of machinery and such an advance in chemical science as to make it possible to profitably work earth containing $1 per ton in gold, the commercial world will face a serious problem, if not a catastrophe, for there are hundreds of square miles of clays which contain $1 per ton in gold.

There is also the ever present danger of the fabled alchemy of ancient philosophers becoming a fact in the twentieth century, and of the base metals being transmuted into gold. Edison claims that he has accidentally come very close to the discovery of such a process, and that he has shrunk aghast at the contemplation of the disastrous consequences that such a discovery would entail. In a recent interview Mr. Edison is reported as saying:

"All the great government, State, municipal and railroad loans of the world are represented by long-term bonds. These bonds are payable in a certain commodity of a certain weight and degree of purity. This commodity has very little intrinsic value—little is used in the arts, it is kept in vaults and shuttlecocked between financial centers, melted, coined and remelted. It is a mobile commodity which is accumulative; has been accumulating since the dawn of history. Its only value resides in the brain of man. All men agree to accept it as a measure. Nearly all other commodities are desirable to meet physical wants which will never change; but gold is a commodity of the imagination."

A reduction in the relative value of gold which would follow so rapid an increase in its production for the next thirty years as has been the case during the last thirty years, would be ruinous to the owners of long-time loans and to the landlords who had given long-time leases. But it would not seriously affect the mass of the people, for if a worker received for his labor or the products of his labor four times as much as now he would not be inconvenienced by having the cost of living increased fourfold.

A WORLD CORPORATION.

Arizona is destined to lead the world as the foster mother of lunatic legislation in behalf of impracticable changes in governmental and social science. The latest exploit in this direction is the formation of a "world corporation," the object of which, as stated in its articles of incorporation, is "to reduce to its possession and control all agencies for production and distribution throughout the world." The number of shares to be issued is fifty billions, at $1 each, and any investor of $5,000,000 will be entitled to appoint one of its 10,000 directors. A full directors' meeting will have to be held on a hundred-acre lot at or near Phoenix, and debate will be facilitated by the use of megaphones. One of the first productive agencies to be established will be a dairy of Cofferdamheadoff cows. The lacteal fluid will be extracted by automatic electrical milkers which every cow will be trained to fit to, her own udders twice a day at the sound of a trumpet. The trumpet sounds will be produced and regulated by a huge alarm clock on the Courthouse steeple, which clock will be wound up once a year by self-acting machinery. The milk will be pumped into a huge res- will be a pipe in each house with a penny-in-the-slot faucet and the rate of charge will be a penny for a pint or a pint for a penny.

Analagous arrangements will be made for the distribution of molasses, wine, vinegar, oil and other fluids used in households. Cheap spanking machines will be provided. The mother of the boy who needs discipline—and what boy does not?—will, with a wire encased in a non-conductor, touch Johnny on the customary spot, and his outcries will be utilized as a dynamic force to be used in laundering the family linen.

No details can be given at this time of the methods that will be adopted for producing and distributing the products of the larger industries. It is sufficient to say that through the operations of the "World Corporation" the cost of living will be greatly reduced, while the profits of production of all articles will be immensely enhanced.

The financial agent for California to receive subscriptions has not yet been announced. In the meantime any person who desires to become one of the 10,000 directors of this great corporation can gratify his ambition by depositing $5,000,000 in any of our banks and notifying Hooley Lissnerski of his subscription.

WON'T SOME ONE TELL THEM?

Why do the wine-growers of the Champagne province of France rage so furiously together, and why does Monsieur Dubois of Damery imagine a vain thing? The vineyardists have risen up and the foes of false branding have taken counsel together. They have said, let us break the vats of sweet southern wine asunder and let us cast ten thousand bottles of the spurious grape-juice into the River Karle. They have not only said so, they have done it. Pandemonium reigns in the vineyards of eastern Gallia.

Why all this froth and fury when the remedy is so obvious? For three years the grape crop of Champagne has been steadily diminishing, the wine men of that once wealthy district have been losing money, and the inferior mixture of southern and Italian wineries has been usurping the market established by their own superior brand. This is very sad, very exasperating, but why all this waste of wine and energy and strong language? The remedy is as plain as the nose on the face of M. Marmot, the Mayor. Surely he that sitteth in the heavens will laugh them to scorn, if they do not avail themselves of this peaceful way of ending their desperate ills!

It cannot be from ignorance, it can hardly be from obstinacy, nor need patriotism stand in their way. A future of undoubted happiness and prosperity is open to all these distressed wine-makers. Why do they imagine vain things, when the real thing is within their grasp? Or can it be that no Midwinter Number of The Times has yet reached the town of Damery or that the unlucky wine men have never heard of California? Do they not yet know that along the foothills of Fresno and in the golden gravels of Merced grapes may be grown that would fill the heart of Champagne Charlie himself with envy and despair? Have they never heard of the rapid strides made in the construction of the Panama Canal, which will enable them to make wine in California and to ship it to Paris, as easily as from their own native province? Have they never tasted the vintages of Cucamonga and Sierra Madre? Such wine needs no bush—will never have to sail under false colors.

And when they find this out will they hesitate any longer; will they not pull up stakes, quit their old life of hardship and ill-usage, and start to make the finest wines in the world from vineyards that never fail to bear, under skies that never cease to smile? Has no one ever told them these surprising truths? If not we may have to send Didier Masson on a longer trip than from Los Angeles to San Bernardino; pretty Pegasus must be prepared to cross the stormy ocean and land like an angel of deliverance in the very heart of the Champagne country. After that there will be no more wine riots in La Belle France.

And be it remembered that John D. Rockefeller would be willing to pay millions for a hair cut.

A chewing-gum trust has been organized

MEN AND THINGS OVER THE SEA.

The number of minors who are waiting to take their seats in the House of Lords is rather larger than for some time past. Two peers, Lord Petre and Lord St. Leonards, come of age next year, and among other minors the most interesting perhaps are Lord Rodney, who will be twenty-one in 1912; the Earl of Airlie, whose father was killed in the South African war, and who comes of age two years later; the Earl of Lathom, born in 1895; the Marquis of Donegall, eight next year; and Lord de Clifford, aged four, who succeeded last year on the death of his father as the result of an accident.

The extension of the railroad system in Jamaica has largely promoted the fruit trade of the island. The fruit trade, which was only $15,000 in 1869 and $350,000 in 1879, increased to $1,500,000 in 1889, to $4,000,000 in 1899, and to $7,500,000 in 1909. The shipments of fruit, chiefly bananas, to the United States last year from this consular district, embracing Port Antonio and Port Maria, amounted to $3,243,896. Although the railways are operated at a loss, they contribute so largely to the promotion of the general business of the colony that the advocates of the building of branch lines contend that the general benefits will far outweigh any small deficit likely to be incurred in operating such extensions.

There are many societies in Bohemia which have specific funds for the purpose of sending persons to foreign countries to study conditions therein and, secure practical information concerning their industrial systems.

If a Bohemian silk, shoe, or porcelain manufacturer notices something artistic in his line made in a foreign country, and likely to appeal to the Bohemian or to the export trade, application for financial aid is made to one of these societies, and when the applicant is selected he proceeds to the country where is located the factory whose method of making ware he wishes to obtain. If possible a situation is procured with a view to obtaining as much practical information as possible. Frequently the desired information is obtained, but often the mission is a failure; then, if the information is especially desired, a second artisan, shrewder than the first, is sent out. These artisans, assisted by their knowledge of foreign languages and of the manufacturing business which they wish to study, have little difficulty usually in obtaining a position. In Europe, on the other hand, it is difficult for an American to obtain a position in a manufacturing establishment.

Sir Joseph Lyons, who was knighted by King George on New Year's day, has been not an ordinary business man, immensely successful, but a man who in developing his business has added to the daily comfort and happiness of the English middle classes, has reformed to a great extent the most important department of modern life—the catering department—and has in addition been a man of large-hearted generosity and human sympathy. Sir Joseph is the head of the largest catering business in the world, meals being furnished for a half-million people per day. There are 10,600 persons in the employ of the company.

On December 20 some 2000 students marched to the Yamen of the Viceroy at Tien-tsin and demanded that he should support a petition to the Throne for the immediate summoning of a Parliament. They threatened that they would not leave before having obtained his promise to do so. The Viceroy agreed to place their views in the proper quarter. The incident is typical of the impatient and turbient spirit of Young China, a spirit which, in less than a generation, has cast to the winds the wholesome restraints and discipline of the Confucian system, says the London Times. Filial piety and respect for constituted authority have gone together by the board, leaving in their place vague political aspirations and discontent, due to the unassimilated doctrines of Europe's advanced thinkers and political economists. The last five years have sufficiently demonstrated the ignorant and hysterical nature of the clamor raised by the student class throughout the Chinese empire on political questions of all kinds, a clamor which appears to hypnotize not only the central government, but the high provincial authorities, into a condition of dazed helplessness. It has, indeed, come to be recognized as a matter of ordinary procedure that no matter of foreign policy can be discussed by the Wai-wu-pu or the Grand Council without evoking violent expressions of opinion—generally transmitted by telegram to Peking—from the students of the several provinces; in the Tatsu Maru incident, even the girls' schools of Canton swelled the general outcry with their shrill messages of warning and advice.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

The rich man gives ten million yen to benefit his fellowmen. And when he takes it from the bin where he has stored the shining tin, he still has heaps of gaudy plunks, and bullion lying round in chunks. Before he shuts the cellar door the bin is full and running o'er, for money's pouring in so fast the little hole he made can't last. Yet I applaud these wealthy ducks who cast abroad their silver bucks. If millionaires could only live a thousand years, they'd learn to give according to the wholesome plan that's common to the workingman. I saw a man in flannel shirt, a man begrimed with grease and dirt dig up his little wad of green to help a man he'd never seen. He gave five bones—he had but ten—to help his unknown fellowmen, and he had worked, day after day, to earn the plunks he gave away. It seems to me this workingman looks big beside the million man. I'll bet recording angels wink when millionaires hand out their chink.

GIVE ME GOLD!

"Give me gold! give me gold!" cried the Seeker,
As he labored with pick and spade,
In the land by the sunset ocean,
'Neath the Mother Mountain's shade;
And the gold that he found,
In the tortured ground,
A glittering dust heap made.

Another went partner with Nature;
Called the sun and the rains to his aid.
He planted, he plowed, and he nourished,
Toiled with patience—by nothing dismayed.
And the gold that he sought,
As he faithfully wrought,
Hung in globes 'mid the orange tree's shade.

And he smiled as he quaffed of their nectar,
For his vision was keen and true;
And he saw, in his orange grove's treasure,
What his hold on the market would do.
For with that in his clasp,
He knew he could grasp,

English Wool Gabardine RAIN COATS

These handsome coats are really as much all-purpose garments as rain coats—yet they are perfectly water-proofed—as nearly water tight as a porous or cloth fabric can be made—and will not pucker at the seams.

The Wool Gabardine has warmth without much weight. It is a shapely garment—and exceedingly popular throughout the East.

We have excellent assortments, priced from $15 to $30. You couldn't find anything better for automobile wear—or for a general all-purpose Coat.

THEFTS ON HOOF CHARGED TO HIM.

HORSE STEALING ON BORDER LAID TO PRISONER.

Man Captured Yesterday Is Believed by the Sheriff to Be One of the Most Desperate Characters of the Sort Taken in Recent Years. Skilled as Mule Skinner.

"Arizona Chris" Gilbert, believed by the Sheriff to be one of the most desperate horse thieves captured within years, and a member of the gang that has been operating along the Mexican border, smuggling Chinese and contraband opium into the United States, is in the toils.

He was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Wright at Seventh and San Pedro streets, shortly after he had disposed of a stolen horse and carriage.

For weeks Wright has trailed Gilbert, and has located two of the rigs alleged to have been stolen by the prisoner. One of these was taken Sunday night from in front of the Methodist Church in Monrovia. It belonged to Anton Steiner, an orange grower. It is valued at $400, but Gilbert, disposed of it for $60.

Another rig, stolen from T. Glenny of Monrovia, a month ago, has been located, and will shortly be returned to him. Gilbert denies that he stole this one.

A unique character is Gilbert, and a type of the "Old West" rare now. He is a native of Tucson and knows the border like a book. He has punched cattle, "buckaroo'd," driven a borax-mule outfit in the Death Valley country, and prospected from Alaska to the Funeral Range. He is handy with a six-shooter.

Gilbert has been punching lately recently in the San Joaquin Valley. During his periodical visits to Los Angeles he has been employed as a "skinner" by the Pioneer Truck Company. His handling of a six-mule team is wonderful. The specific charge against him is grand larceny, in Justice Summerfield's court.

A First-Class Custom Tailored Suit
Yours for Only $35.00

Sounds almost impossible, doesn't it, in the face of the prohibitive prices asked by the average custom tailor?

True, though; and the best part of the news concerns the splendid materials that we use, and the thoroughly fine construction of every detail of making—the guaranteed satin lining of the coats, the careful hand tailoring, the "snappy" spring styles, the touch of individuality that each garment turned out by us carries.

Into these suits we put newest woolens—rough cheviots, boucles, hopsackings, nub effects—or the smooth finish men's suitings, if you prefer.

Practically any color you like—black or cream, too.

Let us show you just how good a suit we can and will make you for thirty-five dollars; we guarantee satisfaction, and assume all risk.

Of course, we make other suits at higher prices, but we are particularly proud of this special line.

Married Yesterday.

Miss Ruth E. Cox, daughter of Mrs. G. Monroe of No. 1418 Malvern avenue, was married last evening at her home to Oscar N. Barnum of this city, Dr. Boucher officiating. Miss Beatrice Golden in a gown of rainbow-colored sheer material, carrying pink roses, assisted as maid of honor. Little Eursia Cheshire was flower girl. She looked sweet in a frock of white, with pink ribbons. Frank Fraleigh was best man. The bride was atired in white satin and duchesse lace embroidered in pearls. She wore a veil fastened with orange blossoms and carried white roses. The home was decorated with carnations and greenery. At the conclusion of a northern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Barnum will reside at No. 648 West Thirtieth street, where they will receive after February 15.

WOMEN'S WORK. WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY SYDNEY FORD.

The city fathers of Santa Monica better watch out. The town stands in grave danger of being controlled by women. What, with a woman for City Treasurer and Tax Collector, with a woman assistant, women on the school board and club women practically running the bond election for that new Polytechnich High School it looks as if the women of Santa Monica were practically at the helm. The odd part of it is, the new City Treasurer, Miss Pearl Hunting, is not a suffragist in belief, I am told. It might be too much to say that she is an anti-suffragist, for, as a matter of fact, she insists that she has been too busy all her life with her church duties and her official duties to worry about the voting business one way or the other. The fact that she has made good indicates that her time hasn't been wasted, to say the least of it.

Women in municipal offices is no new thing in this State, although Santa Monica may claim the precedence for the most important. For several years the office of city chemist of Oakland has been filled by a woman. Miss Jessie V. Berry, a Stanford graduate, and another woman, Dr. Pauline Nusbaumer, is the city bacteriologist.

But a woman to handle the public funds. Surely Santa Monica sets the pace.

Music, French and Rambles.

Abraham Miller, whose fine tenor voice is a delight to all who come within its range, gave a song recital Tuesday morning before the Highland Park Ebell Club. Notwithstanding the rain the clubhouse was filled to its capacity and the artist, who furnished the entire programme, responded generously to encores. The third group of songs included some of Schubert's and Beethoven's gems and the final numbers were from Wagner's "Lohengrin" and "Die Meistersinger."

A French section has been formed in this club with a dozen members who are enthusiastic students, and there are some twenty members of the Rambler section who planned to take a tramp to Hollywood yesterday, but deferred the trip out of deference to Jupiter Pluvius.

Woman Artist Honored.

Mrs. A. I. Robertson of Columbia, S. C., who is an honorary life member of the Robert E. Lee Chapter, U.D.C., of this city, has just received an order from the superintendent of architecture in Washington, D.C., to furnish the government with the heraldic designs of the thirteen original States. Mrs. Robertson is the official heraldic artist for the D.A.R. of California.

One or the Other Must Yield.

A woman wearing a corduroy hobble skirt nearly came to grief the other day when she attempted to mount the platform in her clubhouse. She was called forward by the president to give a report, and, tripping gracefully down the aisle, essayed to mount the steps to the rostrum. It became at once apparent that either the woman or the skirt would have to give way. The corduroy proved most unyielding, and, after three attempts, the woman gave it up and made her report from the level of the floor.

This incident, simple as it seems, arouses grave apprehensions concerning woman's part in public functions. If hobble skirts continue to prevail, will they not seriously interfere with woman's rise to platform popularity?

Sings Before Club.

At first thought one can scarcely see any connection between athletics and the boy choir, but Earnest Douglas, in his talk before the Woman's Press Club the other day, traced a very clear analogy, when he explained the American method of securing talent for the choirs. It involves a deal of hard work and rehearsing, this being a member of a choir, and this doesn't especially appeal to the average American boy, who, not being quite as docile to discipline as his little English cousin, rebels against too much confinement and study. Hence, the athletic league, the summer camp and the outdoor life which Mr. Douglas makes a feature of for his boys, offers glittering inducement to hard work and industry. "I've seen a third-base on a ball team develop into a fine soprano," he declared.

Mr. Douglas had his entire choir with him and several solos and choral selections were sung in illustration of his talk, concluding with some songs of an ensemble nature. Two of the boys, Eugene Ross and Arthur Redaker, aged respectively 19 and 16, sang solos—one an aria from "The Holy City," showing their fine alto voices to great advantage.

Evidently Mr. Douglas understands boyology perfectly for he has gathered about him a group of singers who are quick to do his bidding and who appreciate the tremendous advantage of being under such a singing master. The boys have a regular summer camp at Catalina and another at the foot of one of the popular mountain trails, and one afternoon each week they have full sway in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium where all sorts of athletic stunts are performed.

Mr. Douglas has been associated in choir work for a period of thirty years, beginning when he was a choir boy himself but nine years old. "Children," he says, "have a lack of self-consciousness and hence absolute relaxation which makes the training of their voices a delight. Now, women," he continued, "cannot sing unconsciously. That's a temperamental fact. They cannot eliminate their personality."

STOPPED NOT FOR DEATH.

Charge of Desertion Laid Against Prisoner in the County Jail—Residents of Gardena Stirred by Case.

In C. Henry Kaatz, an artist, arrested in Gardena Tuesday, on the charge of failure to provide for his wife and family, attaches of the County Jail allege they have the original heartless spouse in custody.

Kaatz, esthetic of temperament, and sauve of manner is charged by his wife with deserting her several weeks ago while one of their children was awaiting interment. There was no money in the little home, according to Mrs. Kaatz, to pay burial expenses, but despite this it is alleged Kaatz politely informed her that he was going away, and that she could manage the interment to suit herself.

Since Kaatz's disappearance, according to Deputy District Attorney Shannon, who issued the complaint, neighbors have taken care of his family. Mrs. Kaatz has endeavored to provide for the children by shopping wood. For several days she has been ill, and as a result Gardena residents are considerably wrought up over the matter.

The defendant will be given his preliminery examination before Justice Summerfield today on the felony charge.

INJURED BY FALL.

Mrs. C. E. Russell, 70 years old, living at Aroyo and Arm streets, tripped on a piece of linoleum which had been placed over a manhole in the sidewalk on Hill street yesterday afternoon and broke her nose.

PRESENT NEW BOXING BILL.

Provides for License and Board of Censors.

Fat Salaries are Provided for Commissioners.

Measure Goes to Committee for Quick Action.

BY W. R. WILLIAMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hereafter "Uncle Tom" McCarey et al must operate their boxing exhibitions under the permission of the California State Board of Censors of boxing contests.

That is, McCarey et al will if the bill Assemblyman Sbragia of San Francisco will introduce today becomes a law and Sbragia thinks it will.

He is a striking athletic figure of the lower house with shoulders of a "come backer" with a desire to protect the art of self-defense through the "progressive" method of creating a commission for the Governor to name. His bill contemplates the regulation of what is vulgarly known as the "fight game" by a dignified commission of three members at $3000 per year each.

Sbragia carefully announces through a megaphone that the measure is not administration so the Governor cannot repudiate it, but may "hop on" later with his signature.

The commission is to "regulate control and authorize the holding of all exhibitions of public boxing and sparring in this State." Its duty is to "promote the science and skill of boxing and eliminate as far as possible all unnecessary brutality, fraud and other unmanly conduct."

The commission is authorized to make rules and regulations for the conduct of all contests but the law specifically provides that no gloves shall be used that do not weigh at least eight ounces and are properly stuffed with hair and that no contest exceed twenty-five three minute rounds.

ANNUAL LICENSE.

Only such clubs may give exhibitions thus limited as have a permit from the censors. This permit will cost an annual license fee of $250. In addition the boxing club whose receipts exceed $5000 must pay 5 per cent. of the gate collections to the State Treasury and to be credited to the "State boxing fund" out of which the commission is to be maintained.

The provisions of the law are not to apply to such bona-fide athletic amateur clubs as have been in existence with a gymnasium attached for one year before the taking effect of the act and with a bona-fide membership and that charge no entrance fee for their exhibitions. That is the bill's only free list.

Sbragia out-Hinshaws Hinshaw by the penalties imposed. His bill provides that any one who gives or participates in any unlicensed exhibition is guilty of a felony and may be fined not to exceed $5000 and imprisoned not to exceed five years.

"I am not a boxer," said Sbragia, "but I believe the amateur benefit of the manly art of self-defense should be preserved."

The Hinshaw and Rogers bills are not before the Public Morals Committee which gave a scant hearing the other night to the authors. They are scheduled for hearing in executive session tomorrow night.

It is hoped by Sbragia and other Assemblymen that the committee will consider his measure before a report is made.

PREPARE BILL FOR SCHOOLS.

Dr. Leslie at Sacramento to Push Passage.

Pupils to Be Examined for Physical Condition.

Expense Draws Opposition to Physical Culture.

High School and grammar school athletics in California are to be regulated according to the physical condition of the pupils, if a bill is passed which Dr. George L. Leslie, head of the health and development department of the city schools, has gone to Sacramento to advocate.

This enactment will mean that every boy and girl in the schools of the State will have to pass a physical examination upon entrance to the school and shall have such athletic games or gymnastic exercises assigned them as will prove beneficial.

This will in no way interfere with the interscholastic contests which are played between the schools at present. On the other hand, it will prove a great stimulus to the athletic games as every able-bodied boy will be forced to take some part in them. The girls will have a number of milder games assigned them and pupils with frail bodies will take part in the gym exercises.

Dr. Leslie is a strong exponent of athletic sports of all kinds which tend to develop physique.

Superintendent J. H. Francis of the city schools, in discussing the proposed bill last night, said: "I sincerely hope that such a measure will be passed, as it will enable us to put High School athletics on a much more scientific basis. I am very much in sympathy with High School athletics that encourage or compel play among the largest possible number of boys and girls."

DEVELOPS OPPOSITION.

There is some opposition to the passage of the law, owing to the expense which it will entail. Each school in the State will necessarily have a physician or medical expert to make the examinations and there will also be considerable expenditure for athletic apparatus. The Los Angeles and San Francisco schools will have to maintain a regular corps of experts for this work, but Dr. Leslie says the benefit will be well worth the cost.

Referring to the ruling made two years ago in Los Angeles, which prevents the High School athletes from forming leagues with the high schools in the towns outside of the city, Superintendent Francis stated that this was to enable the Los Angeles school authorities to have complete control over the athletics of the school children.

The High School boys can arrange contests with any of the country teams which they may desire, but are forbidden to enter into any league agreement with the outsiders. At present there are enough high schools inside the city limits to provide competition.

A city baseball league has been formed, including Hollywood, San Pedro, Gardena, Huntington Park, Polytechnic, Manual Arts and L. A. High.

The athletes in the city schools will have a special advantage in the way of equipment when the Agricultural Park stadium for sports is completed, as the local schools are to have the use of it to a large extent.

Discovers New World.

JEFF MAY ENTER BULLRING AND SPAR FOR DIAZ'S DONS.

BY GREY OLIVER.

JIM JEFFRIES is going to Mexico City with Barney Oldfield February 8, and it is possible that he may give some sparring exhibitions in the far off southland of bullfights and manana.

Jeff is viewing his trip to the southern republic with a great deal of pleasure for he has never been that far south and he can go with a feeling of satisfaction for he has plenty of money and need not worry about the future. He need not do anything but spend money and have a good time but the proposition of appearing in public exhibitions before people who have never seen him in action naturally appeals very strongly to Jim's money-loving propensities.

Jim declared emphatically yesterday that he was going on a pleasure trip to Mexico and for pleasure only, but in the next breath he admitted that he was thinking about boxing exhibitions there. He will decide this week what he really intends to do but as long as he is thinking about easy money he might decide to grab some at once.

He will have a strong booster for the boxing game in Barney Oldfield for Barney figures on working Jeff into an exhibition or two. With Jeff worth $250,000 he does not need to fight and would not think of such a thing, but Oldfield may make him spar if there is much money to be made by it.

Strange to say, should Jeff decide to give some exhibitions in Mexico City he will not need to take a string of sparring partners with him for he can use Oldfield for that purpose, as Oldfield is pretty good with his mitts and in his younger days had aspirations of becoming a professional boxer.

Jeffries and Oldfield have become fast friends and Barney is teaching Jeff the auto game. Now it is up to Jeff to make Barney shine as a sparring satellite of his. The pair ought to make world-beaters. As a team they would prove the best combination on the road.

Jeffries as a fighter has retired, but what is there to hinder him becoming an exhibition sparrer in combination with Oldfield, where all he would have to do would be to show himself in new places and enjoy himself?

Big Jim may never get along in court circles of Diaz but he would his partner, Jack Kipper, are going to Mexico City to show some of the thousands of sporting men in that country something about the sport game.

With Barney to illustrate how to run an auto around a curve on two wheels at better than a mile a minute, with Jim Jeffries as starter and Jeff and Barney sparring with each other at a fight exhibition, there should be sufficient doing in those two branches of sport while this pair are in Mexico City to make the warm-blooded population sit up and take notice.

Oldfield is not sure he can finally secure Jeffries's consent to any sparring exhibitions but the chances are that the two will come to some agreement on the matter when they arrive in the southern metropolis.

BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Whittier and Pomona to Meet Today in Deciding Game of Conference Series.

The basketball championship among the Southern California colleges will be decided this afternoon when the fast Whittier five is to play the Pomona College team on the Claremont court.

Whittier leads by a small percentage at present and by defeating the sagebrushers will cinch the honors. If the freak luck which has been attending the college games so far keeps up it is possible that the Claremonters will defeat the Quakers and in this case the championship will be a tie between the two colleges and U.S.C.

WINTER LEAGUE FADING.

The Winter League intends to disband the latter part of next month in order to get out of the way of the Boston Red Sox and for the further reason that many of the players will have to report to their various teams about March 1. After that date the Vernon team will be in practice at the Vernon grounds and the games between the Red Sox and the Vernon and the Los Angeles teams will be played on the Vernon grounds, so the Winter League will be forced to quit. So far the various teams have fur-

KILL FORTY-ONE IN FOUR SHOTS.

MILLIONS OF DUCKS FLOCK TO IMPERIAL COUNTRY.

H. D. Sallada and E. W. Stangland Bag the Limit in One Volley. Ranchers Pestered to Death by Great Scourge of Birds—Happy Hunting Grounds for Nimrods.

Ducks are so plentiful on the overflow lands along the Colorado River in Imperial Valley and in Mexico, that, when in flight, the flocks look like clouds.

Hunters, just returned, say the birds cover the surface of the water of the lagoons for miles. There are literally millions of them. The birds winter there for three or four months out of the year and this season there are more than usual.

The Mexican government prohibits importation of firearms, but once across, the ducks can be shot by the hundreds.

H. D. Sallada and E. W. Stangland of Los Angeles say they saw millions of ducks fifteen miles below Calexico, near Pascualitas station, Mexico, where they passed a few days hunting.

The country at that point is low overflow land from the Colorado River and the numerous lagoons together with the barley and alfalfa fields make ideal winter feeding grounds for the birds. The ducks, which are mostly mallard, sprig and widgeon, come over in clouds and when they settle in the barley fields the ground is covered for acres.

The birds prove very obnoxious to the ranchers in that country, as they completely ruin an alfalfa field in a day. They are especially harmful in the young irigated fields, where they paddle about and trample the grass into the soft earth.

"While the Iron Is Hot."

GOLFERS SEEKING TO WELD LINKS IN FRIENDLY CHAIN.

BY JUDGE WILLIAM FREDERICKSON.

THE active season for golf in Southern California has begun and several events of importance have been arranged. First of these is the inter-club team competition between the Los Angeles, Annandale, San Gabriel, Redlands and Victoria (Riverside),) country clubs.

A series of matches between these clubs will be played for a trophy. Each club will be represented by a team of seven men and each team will play each of the others a home-and-home match. Annandale and San Gabriel have already met on the former's links, the match going to Annandale.

Next Saturday afternoon Los Angeles Country Club will play its first match with San Gabriel Country Club at the latter's grounds. The trophy, a handsome punch bowl, in this competition was won last year by the Los Angeles Club after a close contest with Annandale and Redlands.

The local team this year probably will be composed of William Frederickson, captain; Norman Macbeth, Arthur Braly, N. F. Wilshire, J. W. Wilson, W. R. Millar and F. H. Edwards. One of the club's best players, J. A. Jevne, will not be able to compete this season. He is now recovering from an operation for appendicitis. His absence from the ranks has caused keen regret among his associates.

Another event of interest is an invasion of Southern California by a squad of crack golfers residing about the bay of San Francisco. This was to have taken place the last of this week, but word has come from the North that the invaders will not reach Los Angeles before the last of February.

Local enthusiasts will have the pleasure of seeing such players as Vincent Whitney, who the big tournament at Del Monte last summer; Dr. D. P. Fredericks, Campbell, Whyte, Douglas Grant and others, in action, pitted against the best that the South can muster; such men as Hugo Johnstone, E. R. Williams, E. S. Armstrong and John Elliott of Annandale and Norman Macbeth, Nat F. Wilshire, William Frederickson, John W. Wilson and W. R. Millar of Los Angeles.

It is expected that a party of local players will later visit San Francisco tions between the different sections of the State.

The big event of the year, the Men's Amateur Championship Tournament of the Southern California Golf Association, will be held this year on the links of the Annandale Club beginning February 22, as has been the custom.

It was due to be played on the Los Angeles Country Club grounds, but the new course of the local club is not yet in good condition for play, and the old course is not satisfactory, having been cut up more or less for building purposes.

The Annandale course affords a good and true test of a golfer's skill and all the experts of the south are preparing for the premier event and for the coveted title of amateur championship.

The present title-holder, William Frederickson, has won the honor twice and will endeavor to win again this year in order to secure permanent possession of the cup. But he will have hard work to do it as there are a dozen players preparing to enter the lists with equal chances of success. The entry list is expected to be larger than usual.

FISHERMEN ARRESTED.

Pritchard and Bordner Take Launch Load of Violators of Fishing Laws.

Nine violators of the fish laws were arrested Tuesday by deputy Fish and Game Commissioner H. I. Pritchard as the result of a launch trip with Deputy Commissioner I. A. Bordner, last Saturday and Sunday, from Santa Monica to Redondo. Some of the men, all of whom were Russian Finns, were as far away as Portuguese Bend and there the warrants were served.

Five men were arrested for fishing without licenses, three for catching crawfish and one for snaring abalone. Three of the men pleaded guilty yesterday in Judge Underwood's court at Long Beach. One for fishing without a license was fined $25, another having no license was fined $50 and one for catching crawfish was fined $75, each fine being paid. One of the men had more than 100 crawfish and the commissioners threw all of the live ones back into the ocean. Some of the other men charged with illegal fishing will

BYRON BEASLEY LEADS THE FOX.

To Reproduce Arthur's Play in Eastern Houses.

Gives Up Chance to Support Margaret Illington.

To Create Peter Delaney in Popular Comedy.

"Will you release A. Byron Beasley?" Telegram from Oliver Morosco to Margaret Illington.

"Why?"

Western Union answer to Oliver Morosco.

"I want him to create role in 'The Fox' in the East. Big success here."

Swift response from the Sixth-and-Main-street temple of art.

"O. K., but get me good substitute."

Submission by Margaret Illington to Morosco request.

So, in a few hours, it was settled, yesterday, that A. Byron Beasley will be taken East by Oliver Morosco to create the part of Peter Delaney in the big leagues, as he has reached the highest point of his local achievement in the characterization of the lovable old scholar in Lee Arthur's comedy.

A few weeks ago it was announced exclusively in The Times that Mr. Beasley had been selected as leading man for Margaret Illington and had signed a contract to appear in the production of her new play, which will be given its premiere in Los Angeles next summer.

This was regarded by everyone as not only a fine opportunity for Beasley to come into his own, but as good a match for Miss Illington, and it was considered finally settled until "The Fox" arrived.

Beasley's acting of the part of Peter Delaney has been spoken of everywhere as the finest work he has yet done in his long engagement here, if not even one of the most perfect bits of art ever seen on the local stage. Manager Morosco is going to present "The Fox" in the East, and he could not think of any actor he would as soon have play the part as Beasley. Hence the telegrams.

Lee Arthur is one of the most delighted of all persons concerned. He considers Beasley's work in the comedy touched with real genius, and simply by way of comparison regards it as even superior to the art of Warfield in his first great success, "The Auctioneer."

A. Byron Beasley,

who will be starred in "The Fox," in the East, much to the regret of Margaret Illington, who had hoped to have him as leading man in her new play for next year.

BOWLING SCORES.

In the Electric Bowling League, the Southern California team defeated the Westinghouse boys, taking four games and the third position in the league tournament away from them at the Brunswick alleys last night. Rendler and Noble tied for high game. Rendler had high average for the evening. The score:

JORDAN COMING TO PLAY HERE.

ENGLISH CHAMPION CHECKER PLAYER TO COMPETE.

Won Three Thousand Games in Australia and Established World's Record in Tour of the Globe—Here as Guest of Southern California Chess and Checker Club.

Alfred Jordan champion draughts player of England, and unquestionably one of the greatest players on earth, now meeting all comers in his tour of the world, will pass a week in exhibition play at the rooms of the Chess and Checker Club of Southern California, in the Higgins building, commencing next Tuesday.

While here his play will be shown in several simultaneous contests, as well in individual games against the best of our local and visiting experts.

At the close of Jordan's week here he will return to San Francisco to play a match with Joseph Drouillard, the strongest checker player on the Pacific Coast.

Jordan's record of games won on his circle around the globe has been phenomenal, the world's record being broken.

Of 3000 games played in Australia he lost not a single game except a few in simultaneous exhibitions. During his short stay in San Francisco he has played the best exponents on the coast, not one of whom has been able to secure a game. At the last account he had contested 280 games here, wining 196 and drawing 84.

Major H. H. Hall defeated W. K. Fletcher in the current chess tournament of the club, and Fletcher won from N. F. McMurray. The two last named have now only one game each to play in completing their schedules. Fletcher will finish sec la bouve the middle line, while McMurray, who has only played the game for a year, will make a lower showing, but one which surprises his friends in its evidence of his progress.

In the checker tournament J. F. Burt played two series of four games each against O. M. Bell, from whom he took four straight, and Joseph Wear, against whom he scored 3½ to ½.

Burt has won 45 points and lost 6, and now stands but 2½ points lower than Geo. N. Briggs in totals, the latter having won 43½ to 31½ lost.

SALARIES ARE CUT.

Tom Tennant, first baseman of the San Francisco ball team, has gone North with his wife and will remain in the metropolis until the Seals start their spring practice at Haywards. Tennant got his contract which offered him the same money he received last year, minus a slight reduction on account of the shorter season this year, which, however, is but ten days shorter than last season. LEWIS KNOCKS OUT SUMMERS.

SEVERAL POUNDS OVERWEIGHT AND FORFEITS CASH.

Englishman Knocked Out in Fourth Round After Being Rushed to the Ropes—Men Insist on Clinching Frequently But the Battle Is Savage Throughout.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Harry Lewis, the American welterweight, who won the welterweight championship of England a year ago from Young Josephs, tonight knocked out Johnny Summers, the English aspirant for the title, in four rounds.

A big crowd witnessed the bout, every seat in the Olympia beng filled. It was a savage fight while it lasted, and honors were even for the first two rounds. The men insisted on clinching at every possible chance and the referee frequently was compelled to step in and separate them forcibly.

The third round was the hottest, both men trying desperately for a knockout.

In the fourth Lewis rushed Summers to the ropes and knocked him out with a straight right. After Summers had taken the count, Lewis picked him up and carried him to his corner amid great cheering.

The men were matched at 144 pounds, but when they weighed in at 3 o'clock in the afternoon it was found that the American tipped the scales at 148 2-4. Summers weighed 140 3-4.

As a result of his overweight, Lewis paid a forfeit of $500.

CATALINA ANGLING GOOD.

Mrs. Moffitt of St. Louis Brings Big Albacore to Gaff at Avalon, Catalina Island.

AVALON, Jan. 25.—Despite the heavy rains the last few days, the angling has been good and the local enthusiasts brought nearly a ton of fish yesterday.

Among the most successful of the local anglers was Mrs. W. A. Moffitt of St. Louis, who brought to gaff an albicore weighing 31 1-4 pounds. L. H. Peebles brought in a big yellowtail and Mrs. A. McCallum brought in a twenty-five-pounder with a nine-nine tackle.

Local experts claim that the yellowtail have come to stay for the season as a school of porpoise nearly two miles long are said to have passed the seal rocks this morning headed south and this is supposed to be a sure sign.

AVIATION MEET ENDS UP NORTH.

Final Day So Windy Men are Afraid to Fly.

Brookins and Parmalee Only Aviators to Try.

Ely's Landing on Cruiser Is Biggest Event.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—Unmarred by serious accident, with a new American record for endurance, and given considerable prominence as a result of the joint experiments of the army and the navy with the aeroplanes, San Francisco's ten-day aviation meet came to a close today with two exhibition flights in a treacherous wind.

Walter Brookings and Phillip O. Parmalee were the only aviators who cared to make attempts.

Six professional aviators and as many amateurs have taken part in the meet. The award of prizes will be announced tomorrow.

Among the features of the meet were Eugene B. Ely's landing with a machine on the deck of the cruiser Pennsylvania, and return flight to the field; the new endurance record of 3h. 39m. by Parmalee; the dropping of bombs, and the use of wireless outfits from aeroplanes.

The total estimated attendance at the meet was 140,000. It is said the receipts exceeded expenditures by $8000.

Parmalee and Brookins, of the Wright team, will leave for Dayton, O., and Ely and Willard, of the Curtiss team, go to San Diego to take part in a meet, while Radley, the English aviator, will be one of the attractions at the San Jose meet Saturday and Sunday.

Hubert Latham, the French aviator, is still in the city, but will leave soon for Japan. Today he presented to the Bohemian Club of San Francisco the bow of his Antoinette, wrecked during the meet.

Amateurs who qualified for prizes here were Hugh A. Robinson, Lincoln Beachy and F. J. Wiseman. A protest against the latter, questioning his amateur standing, was filed today by Ralph J. Sheaf, another amateur.

CURTISS TEAM AT SAN DIEGO.

HARKNESS SLATED TO FLY IN SOUTHERN MEET.

Edgar S. Smith to Appear With His Demoiselle Monoplane—Spectacular Flights Over San Diego and Point Loma Are to Be Made Saturday and Sunday.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Aero Club of San Diego today completed its programme for a two-day aviation meet, Saturday and Sunday, January 28 and 29, offering $2000 in cash prizes as follows:

Longest cross-country flight, $500; flight to Point Loma and return, $500; altitude of 2500 feet or more, $500; accurate landing on a marked space on the field, $200; start within shortest distance, $200; bomb dropping, $100.

Following is Saturday's programme:

Introductory flight by Glenn H. Curtiss, who will start from hangar on North Island for a flight over San Diego Bay, alighting on field.

Fancy flights by Eugene Ely, who S. Harkness in his bird-like Antoinette monoplane, first time in America.

H. A. Robinson, in spectacular flights over Coronado with Curtiss machine.

Edgar S. Smith in exhibition flight in small Demoiselle monoplane, "Lightning Bug."

Exhibition of accurate landing by Eugene Ely, who will try for world's record after gliding from high altitude.

Exhibition by Harry Harkness in his big monoplane.

Exhibition flight by H. A. Robinson.

Edgar S. Smith in exhibition flights.

SUNDAY'S PROGRAMME.

Eugene Ely, flying the Curtiss biplane, using the same in which he made the cruiser flight.

Harry S. Harkness in his new Antoinette monoplane, first time in America.

H. A. Robinson in a Curtiss biplane, soaring over Coronado and return to the aviation field.

Edgar S. Smith in the "Lightning Bug," which was designed and built in California.

Eugene Ely in an exhibition of bomb-dropping while in flight over the outlines of a battleship marked on the field. Ely also will fly over the bay showing how an aeroplane may attack a warship at anchor.

Harry S. Harkness in exhibition flights over the field.

Glenn H. Curtiss in the first public attempt to rise from water in his specially fitted hydro-aeroplane. The problem of rising from the water and flying over the sea is the one that Curtiss has endeavored to solve in his work on North Island. It will be made for the benefit of the army and navy officers detailed to investigate the experiments.

The Coronado polo ground has been selected as the aviation field.

TOLEDO BOWLERS CLIMB.

Carey and Faulhaber Go Into Second Place—Closing Up on Cincinnati Leaders.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 25.—In the annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress today, Joseph Carey and Joseph Faulhaber of Toledo went into second place with a score of 1195 in the doubles. In their second game they rolled up a score of 469.

Riehle and Gardell of Cincinnati are still leading the doubles with a score of 1206.

In the individual events, H. G. Stiles of Des Moines, Iowa, went into third place with a score of 639. Charles Schneider, Jr., of Dayton, O., still leads with 651.

TO FRAME ULTIMATION.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The Executive Committee of the American Polo Association will meet in New York on Friday to frame an ultimatum in reply to the request of the English challengers, the Hurlingame Club, that the International cup be played for during the last week of August. The polo association had expected a June match and is not willing to play in August.

M'FARLAND BEATS ERNE.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Packy McFarland defeated Young Erne, in the six-round bout at the National Athletic Club, tonight, by a wide margin. A long dispute preceded the start of the bout as Erne was ten pounds overweight. Wise critics say that in less than two more rounds McFarland would have put Erne to sleep.

BOXING AND PRAYER.

SHARON (Pa.) Jan. 25.—An innovation in sporting circles in this vicinity was the opening of the boxing exhibition at South Sharon, last night, with prayer and an address by a local minister who accepted the invitation of the South Sharon Athletic Club to officiate in that manner. A large crowd was present.

AMATEUR SKATING.

SARANAC LAKE (N. Y.) Jan. 25.—Edmund Lamy of Saranac Lake, and Wheeler of Montreal won the feature races of the opening day of the international amateur skating tournament here today. Lamy won the half mile and mile events and Wheeler the two mile race.

FLIGHT POSTPONED.

KEY WEST (Fla.) Jan. 25.—Because of high wind, Aviator McCurdy postponed his flight to Havana this morning.

Sporting Comment

A Title-Fighter.

Barry is defeating Sandy Ferguson tonight, accomplished little-by-little and less for the game. Barry is a product of a fighter which handles a pair of boxing. Barry is a good scrapper to win a match or two, but he is not good enough to give championship possibilities a close enough to give Johnson a run for his money. His claims are preposterous. The Returning to the ring with a good, stiff prize fight for a go on a fight because it is a matter of the sportsmanship. Had Nelson was a fighter of that, but he was a champion furnished rare exhibitions of courage. Barry has his in the punch he wilts when defeat. If he can contrive he puts up a good fight if the odds are against him. Every spectacle, as when Nelson flew out the last few times arena. Often Nelson outclassed with the odds against him; but he pulled out in the end. There is no such white in such a fight, and a coy he. Barry's exhibitions are pretty much physical combats; unrewarded victory against Nelson's exhibitions are pretty much. Were his intentions good, his style of boxing, if it could save the game. Men have been hundreds of contests injured. A champion Nelson was, or a boxer who would never cast discredit upon the game as each has those qualities to appeal and yet cast a shadow on sports.

Instead of trying to be a well-regulated sport even our sports are governed by a series of laws which differ in different over them. Racing, boxing, fishing, baseball, shooting and others are governed by special statutes. Horse-racing is not interfered with, but betting of all betting makes provision for ordinary promoters by default with as a brutality on the ground of its alleged brutality. Hunting and fishing are limited to save the game. In the playing of baseball on Sundays and religious holidays is made a misdemeanor and the shooting of game in the traps are tabooed in a civilized community to animals and birds are good, but it causes much reflection when one remembers that these features are never abused except when "sports," rather than sportsmen, get hold of them. It occurs to many thinking persons that laws against gamblers, the simon-pure prize fighter, the game hog and others of this ilk would be the proper thing if in some way they could be dissociated. It might be a hard task, but it would save sports for the real sportsmen. England seems to get along; why can't America?

McCarey's Northern Trip.

Tom McCarey's trip North may amount to something, and then again may not. The other day when the committees of the Legislature met it was given out that the fight promoters need come around to argue the question, even though the racing interests had been given a hearing. The ways of legislators are peculiar, at times, and McCarey and other promoters may have taken this announcement to mean that a little argument might be acceptable. Hence, McCarey's trip North. At any rate, McCarey and his fellow promoters are going to follow the suit of the racing men and put up a fight. They figure it is worth striving for and that a little work at the right time might save a portion of the game, at least. Sporting men have little to hope from this Legislature, but a small piece of pie is better than none. The real fight is against the Hinshaw bill, which is so drastic that all boxing will be killed if it is passed. The fans are in hopes of retaining the amateur events, at least.

Fine Points of Sportmanship.

The dispute over the Schenectady putter, seemingly a trivial matter to most of us, shows what it is to be a real sportsman. Probably there is very little difference between such a club and several others used in covering a course, yet the lines of sportsmanship are drawn with such a fine degree that only the niceties of honorable intentions would be affected. Such differences develop character in a man and sports bring it out quicker than anything else. There is nothing so refining as true sportsmanship and it can be carried into business and home life.

The New Boxing Bill.

The new boxing bill prepared for passage in the Legislature, seems to be the medicine "for what ails yo." Although stringent in its measures it may yet save "the game" for the fans and be just what is desired by a political machine to please all parties, including itself.

for Chicago. He will also visit the show with Shettler and the others and then will spend a week at the Goodyear factory in Akron, O. Have a good time, Bill.

CONTRACTS THE SAME.

The contracts of the Vernon ball team this year as well as those of the Los Angeles team, are just the same as they were last year as far as the money is concerned, notwithstanding the fact that the season is two weeks shorter. Hap Hogan says that his team last year had the reputation of being good to its players and this year if there is any dissatisfied men they can go if the team is reimbursed for what they cost or for what they are worth. About $700 was distributed last year as a bonus by the Vernon management after the season was over.

CHUTES PARK SOFT.

The Chutes grounds will not be ready for any baseball until the latter part of March owing to the fact that the young grass will not be strong enough to be played on until that time. Even now there is some doubt about it being in shape by April 1, but the management of the two local teams are hoping for the best. None of the Red Sox games will be played at the Chutes.

New Location Chosen.

At a meeting last night of the Southern California Athletic club it was decided to transfer the headquarters of the club to theold Tufts-Lyon building on Spring street, near Second street, where a gymnasium is to be put in. The athletic committee will meet Friday night.

When he heard a buzzing,
He stopped, and looked around.
He saw an object coming,
Away off in the air,
He leaned upon his rusty hoe
And at it could but stare.
He saw it was a man-bird,
Didier Masson was his name;
"I have the Morning Times, sir,
Would you like the same?
I'm bound for San Bernardino,
About seventy miles away.
They like The Times there early,
So I've no time to stay."
Well, Aviator Masson,
That is a fine machine
And you're the swiftest newsboy,
That I have ever seen.
The Times is always scooping;
It's sent o'er all the land
And in your flying Pegasus

MIKE MEMSIC SUBSTITUTED.

Frayne Discovers Carbuncle Growing on Neck.

Main Event Fifteen Rounds; Others to Go Ten.

Austin and Chico Carded in Paperweight Class.

Johnny Frayne of San Francisco has suddenly discovered that he has a carbuncle on his neck and while very much grieved has come to the conclusion that he cannot fight Leonard Lauder here on February 4, at the Vernon arena.

Deeply conscious of the fact that he would not like to thrash a man handicapped with a tempestuous carbuncle, Lauder has consented to the substitution of Mike Memsic for the early February date and probably the fight bugs will not notice the change.

These boys are to furnish the main event of fifteen rounds and are to weigh 133 pounds at 10 o'clock on the morning of the fight.

The semi-final is to be ten rounds between Jimmy Austin and Battling Chico for the paperweight championship of the Coast and they are to weigh 107 pounds at 10 o'clock in the morning. Austin holds the title but it is a trifle tarnished by a decision that Chico holds over him.

The curtain raiser will probably be furnished by a ten-round go between Tony Rose and Jack Walsh, the two middleweights who made such a hard fight at Naud Junction on December 7.

This looks like a very fair card of earnest scrappers and the local fight bugs should be able to get the worth of their money out of it. There is nothing big in it but it promises some excitement.

Lauder is a very good boxer and showed considerable class during his last year's eastern trip. Austin is always good and doubtless could hold his own with any of the boys in the country at his weight. Rose and Walsh will furnish the slam-bang part of the programme.

Almost.

NEAR FIGHTER WAS OLDFIELD.

BOXED ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS BEFORE THE PUBLIC.

Poor Health Drove Him From Ring and Later He Adopted the Auto Game as Road to Fame—Barney Met Good Pugilists in Training Stunts Back East.

It is not generally known that the only thing that made Barney Oldfield an auto racer instead of a prizefighter was an illness severe enough to have his friends ship him back home to Toledo from a little town in Ohio about thirteen years ago.

He was first of all an amateur and professional bicycle rider and rode against all the good wheelmen of that age. He was declared a professional in 1896, at Louisville, and shortly after that began to take to boxing. He says that he did very well at that game and made such a good showing that he thought seriously of going into the mitt game as a professional, and would have adopted it but for poor health.

He did a lot of boxing with a light heavyweight pug named Bailiff and picke up all kinds of good things from him. This bailiff was such a good boxer that he fought a four-round draw with Bob Fitzsimmons when Bob was a fair one, but was knocked out by Kid McCoy, who knocked out others before and after.

Barney sparred many times with Yank Kenny and trained with him for one of Yank's many fights. He was considered so good for a young fellow that Kenny wanted to use him as a sparring partner for another and later bout, and expected to train at Luna, O. Barney was to go there to begin work with Yank, but was taken sick and had to be sent home, so in this way was pugilism robbed of a promising young aspirant who might have developed into something good in the fight line.

The Old Sportsman.

The glorious old days of sport are gone forever now,
When Jacob, Joseph, and myself, with ensign at the prow,
Set sail across the State of Maine and lashed the horses up,
For we were bound our car should win the Alabaster Cup.

The old canoe was leaky, too, but with a piece of string
We tied the port propeller and the after starboard wing;
The day was clear for us to steer and yet the submarine
Kept jumping off the trolley track—we left the old machine.
And with a tug at either end to help her on the way
We swung the liner clear about and started down the bay.
The whistles blew a serenade, the road was clear ahead,
The locomotive lurched and rolled as on and on we sped,
But Joseph said that he was cold, he could not stand the swim,
And so we beat it to the "L" and waited there for him.
Above the clouds and mountain tops we simply flew along
Until we got a busted tire, then everything went wrong;
The mare, she had a broken leg, the gelding had a fit,
And when the fireman found the leak he couldn't help a bit.
"You cannot run a motor-boat on vaseline," he swore,
And so we left the subway at the forty-second floor

We heard the reindeer coming as the huskies pulled the sledge,
Yet still the motorcycle balked upon the gulch's edge;
And "Pester, faster, faster!" we shouted out at last
But a cog-wheel mountain engine cannot travel very fast!
The gyroscopes got twisted and the monorail was bent,
We heard the gas escaping where the envelope was rent;
The water gurgled in the hold, the hood was all aflame,
The upper planes were badly torn, and hurtling down we came.
But, crouched above the handle-bars, with all our canvas set,
We leaped each fence and hedge and bank and obstacle we met;
The clouds were cold, the spray was sharp, the dust was in my face,
But that's the way we drove her through and won the famous race!

DESIRE SAMMY IN ANTIPODES.

Brandon Seeks Langford for Series of Fights.

Big Money in Australia for American Boxers.

Tells of First Invasion of Yankee Pugilists.

Harry Brandon, one of the famous sporting men of Australia, is in Los Angeles on the hunt for Sam Langford, the negro fighter. He has a proposition to make to take Langford to the Antipodes for a series of fights.

"Say, but I wish we could get Sam Langford over the water," murmured Harry on Spring street, "for he could lick all Australia.

"You should see how dub fighters draw big houses over there. Why Cyclone Thompson and our lightweight Meeghan had a $10,000 house and they would not draw $3000 here. You know over in our country they have the lightweight limit at 140 pounds. The boys had up a $500 forfeit that they would not weigh more than 140. Meeghan tipped the scale at 133 pounds while Thompson weighed a fraction more than 161 pounds and was fat as a pig.

"Of course he lost his forfeit but Meeghan finally consented to fight him and then threw up the sponge in the fifth round for the weight was too much against him.

"I went back with Papke and Clabby but returned here and did not see Papke fight Smith and lose. Smith is a very good man for a middleweight and weighs about 165 pounds and they think he is a bonny one over there, but I know what Langford is for I've seen him over here. They know about him over there too but not much and he would be a big drawing card. That's a great sporting country.

"I would like to see Packey McFarland over there for he is too heavy for the lightweight class here and would be just right over there."

Brandon expects to do business with Langford by wire and hopes to be on his way home to Australia in a few days.

Pal Moore has received an offer from England to fight Fred Welsh in that country, and he expects to start for the other side in about three weeks.

NEW GUN CLUB PROPOSED FOR BLUE-ROCK SHOOTING.

BY EDWIN L. HEDDERLY.

ANOTHER SCHEME to organize a blue-rock club to take the place of the defunct Los Angeles Gun Club has been broached and a petition is being circulated among the sportsmen with an idea of ascertaining if enough can be interested to make the project feasible.

It is proposed to do the thing upon somewhat more extensive lines, by purchasing land and erecting a clubhouse thereon with a view to insuring permanent trap shooting facilities.

The trade has signed up, all the houses being interested, and it is made a part of the prospectus that no one house will have any more of a hand in the conduct of the club than another; in fact the present intention is to keep the commercial aspect of the game in the background as past experience in Los Angeles has proved this course to be against the maintenance of sporting interest and other welfare of such a club.

There are many trap shooters in the South who miss the proper facilities for the conduct of their sport. On the other hand, the number of duck clubs and opportunities for game shooting during so much of the year somewhat militate against inanimate target shooting. Many of the duck hunters use small-bore guns on game and under existing conditions, would neither care to put their 7-8 ounce of lead against the twelve-bore man's ounce and an quarter, or again take up the twelve just for trap shooting.

Good grounds can be secured within easy and convenient reach of the city; and the project of installing a comfortable and convenient trap shooting plant similar to those in Chicago, Cincinnati and other large eastern cities is somewhat alluring to the sportsman. It is proposed to keep a man at the grounds continuously so shooting can be done any time anyone wishes, provided the scheme crystallizes into anything more definite than a prospect.

The old Los Angeles Gun Club conducted many very enjoyable shoots, but of late years had degenerated into a semi-annual spasmodic tournament affair; and the last two tournaments already have been passed, so the organization may be said to have died a natural death. For some reason, whether those suggested, or other; it has been very hard to make trap shooting go in Los Angeles during the last ten years.

A. W. Bruner, who was one of the original trap shots in this part of the country but who has been in retirement of late years, is doing much of the preliminary work in the present attempt to resuscitate the sport. If old timers like Bruner can "come back" there ought to be some hope for a new club. It is rather a reflection upon the sportsmanship of the town that there isn't one, considering the great number of game clubs.

and eighteen trunks, also. Petite Miss Lloyd was a great Orphum hit last season through her comedy, and returns this season, with an added resource of sartorial magnificence.

"Glad Rags."

ALICE, WHERE ART GOING WITH THOSE FORTY HATS?

THE real sartorial display, in theatrical circles, will undoubtedly be that of Alice Lloyd, who comes to the Orpheum next week to join the road show. Alice is a diminutive person, and travels alone in her act, but she carries more excess baggage—at the expense of Martin Beck, by the way—than any other act touring. For Alice has eighteen trunks full of gowns, and forty—count 'em—forty hats!

Of course, Alice doesn't wear all these togs at once, nor all in a single evening, either, by the way. But during the course of her stay, she is quite likely to appear in a different costume with each song, and she has a repertoire of some dozen or more ditties, not to count the famed "Splash Me," which is now a request number.

And she has a new pink-and-blue bathing gown for this one, too, besides several in other shades.

Alice believes in clothes; they are a strong part of her act. She holds that they appeal to the women, and amaze the men, and in the latter respect she is quite certain she is right.

Among her most wonderful creations this season is a hobble that outhobbles anything yet presented; it is so hobbly that she has to make her appearance in it in a series of hops and skips, as walking is quite out of the question.

TINY TADS ENGAGE IN REAL WRANGLE AND OLLIER HELPS.

TWO diminutive school children were engaged in an argument which reached its climax as the tiny tads passed the Studebaker Bros.' factory branch, No. 1242 South Flower street, on their way home from school yesterday. L. J. Ollier, the manager, was standing on the sidewalk as the pretty pair passed.

"I've had more ailments than you have," said the first little girl.

"No, you ain't," declared the second child.

"Yep, I have, too."

"Bet you."

"You never had the rash, now, did you?"

"Course, I have, foolish."

"Well, you ain't never had a ringworm, now have you?"

"Cross my heart, I have."

"Well, anyhow, you never had St. Vitus's dance. I know you never had that."

Before the answer come, Ollier had interrupted the argument.

"Little girls," he said, "neither one of you ever had that funny dance. You are two little cherubs and here's a nickel each to buy some candy. You won't know what that dance is until you grow up and get into the automobile business.

"That St. Vitus dance is fierce, though, when I get it. I can't get enough of those E.M.F. cars here to supply the trade and it keeps me dancing to the telegraph office and down to the depot watching the trains come in."

From one to two carloads of Studebaker-Garford, E.M.F. and Flanders cars are being received each day by Ollier. He is distributing them to the agencies in Southern California and Arizona. Even with these large shipments the big warehouse contained only three cars yesterday.

Work began yesterday in the Studebaker branch on an enlarged storeroom. Auto parts and accessories are to be placed there in numbers. Several carloads of supplies are expected daily from the factory in order to keep the trade south of the Tehachepi well supplied. This means an increase in business this year.

Many automobiles are to be sold in Arizona, according to Ollier, who has just returned from Phoenix. He says the Territory is ripe for the trade and he has established several agencies there. He expects to ship a large number of cars into Arizona this year.

LIGHT WINNER OF THE TRIALS.

Proves Best Dog of Trials at Bakersfield.

Joeyeuse Is Second on Her First Day's Work.

Strongheart and Dot Tied for Third Place.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sacramento-bred setters from the kennels of Judge Charles N. Post, president of the Pacific Coast Field Trials Club, won the derby honors at the twenty-eighth annual meeting.

Light, owned by Frank G. Ruphstaller of Sacramento, was declared the winner by the judges, having shown her superiority in style, range and endurance and being very good on single bird work. Light is sired by Glow one of the well-known sires of field trials dogs, ex-Lightstone.

Second place went to Joeyeuse, whose work the first day has rarely been equalled. Joeyeuse is the property of D. L. Crane of Whittier and is handled by T. C. Dodge of Chicago. She is by Master Courtney ex-Lightheart and the latter's son Strongheart, owned by Judge Post, tied G. B. M. Grey's Dot, an Oakland setter, for third place.

Strongheart is also by Master Courtney and Dot is by Avalon. In selecting Joeyeuse for second, the decision was given on her general all-around good work. She has beautiful style on points and great judgment. Strongheart is the inferior of Crane's setter while Dot is a merry-going girl with capacity for endurance and wide range.

The day was magnificent for the best work by the dogs and field trials men generally were pleased. They put in a hard day's work and six braces of the all-age event were cast off, leaving a bye, Maggie Lauder, to prelude the final series this morning.

Five braces will be entered up in the members's stake for the afternon's sport.

The club members held their annual dinner tonight at the Southern Hotel which was followed by the election of officers. Judge Post presided.

THIRTEEN DOGS.

The all-age stakes opened with thirteen dogs participating. Old Forester and Melrose Mack, owned by Sydney Smith of Los Angeles and John W. Considine of Seattle, were the first cast off. In style, pace and range the brace was equally fine, but their work on birds, possibly abetted by the fact that birds were found in the open, was deficient and disappointing.

Tiburon, the classy little setter that won the 1909 derby when 11 months old and took home the all-age last year, was pitted against Miss Ives, owned by S. Christiansen. Tiburon is owned by E. Courtney Ford and is one of the favorites of the field trials men. She has a good style, but lacks positiveness on points and her range was restricted, as was that of Miss Ives.

Nora Blue, the Maderia setter owned by J. G. Roberts of that city, formerly president of the club, was put down with Sister of the Stockdale kennels. They were fair in pace and range, with Sister the superior on bird work. Christiansen's Belvidere, a past performer, and Terry's Linda were equal in range, with neither distinguishing themselves on birds. Belvidere had a shade in style and bird work.

Shasta Queen showed up to advantage with Joe of the Stockdale kennels, being better in range and pace and bird work. Shasta Queen is owned by J. E. Terry.

The final sport of the afternoon was supplied by Sydney Smith's two setters, St. Ives and Buenvento. The former has participated in field trials previously, but Buenvento is a newcomer. St. Ives displayed her past experience by excelling in range and pace, but Buenvento seemed to have greater success in placing the birds.

SMALL FORTUNE IN AUTO TIRES.

QUARTER-MILLION STOCK AT NEW HEADQUARTERS.

Handsome New Structure Erected by B. F. Goodrich Company and Manager Carroll Makes Great Plans for This Coming Year—Five Thousand Tires on Hand.

Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth of tires and about $50,000 worth of accessories in the rubber line have been grouped in the new building erected by the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company at Pico street and Grand avenue. This is one of the largest stocks of tires ever brought to this city. Manager F. R. Carroll takes full charge of the branch business and the formal opening of the big building is carded for today.

Interlocking rubber tiling on the front salesroom makes a hit with the visitor. This is of rubber, the first tiling of the kind used on automobile row. The finish of the interior of the two-story structure is ornate and complete. The salesmen's office spaces in the front gives a chance to do a big business. Manager Carroll has a spacious office in the rear of the main floor.

The filing and mailing department is large also. The patent billing machine is kept busy sending out the orders in bunches. Directly behind the manager's office is the shipping and receiving department. Here the crates of Goodrich tires come in large quantities. Several carloads were received yesterday.

One of the unique features of the main floor is the adjustment office where any Goodrich tire user who wants to explain how his tires have worn, can have an audience in a minute. He is shown into this department and if he has a kick coming why he can secure a pair of boxing gloves and trim the manager.

As a matter of fact complaints are few in the tire departments. The remarkable service given by automobile outer and inner casings has resulted in a business which has few equals. Manager Carroll has a reputation for looking out for his customers and he says he expects to keep the good work up. The new location offers facilities which Carroll never had before.

On the second floor, in the racking space, are 5000 auto tires. Arrangements have been made for 4500 and some of the casings have been crowded into a small space. This means extra

SILENCE—COMFORT

20-H. P. Town Car Limousine

THE demand for a lighter car, which is especially adapted to city and suburban use, is admirably met in the new Peerless Town Car. While retaining all the luxurious appointments which have given such distinction to the Peerless cars, this new model is designed for less strenuous service where modified power, lighter construction, shorter wheel base, and left-hand drive, are points of convenience and desirability.

IMPERIAL DUCK HUNTING.

by each of the hunters, was the best record made during the time they spent on one of the ranches of the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company, where they were staying. These shots were made just as the birds were rising from the water at the alarm given by the approach of the hunters. Sallada says he could get ten or a dozen birds at any time with two barrels of the gun by a random shot into a flock flying close to the ground.

The birds are located in many cases by clouds of dust which they make when a large number of them feed in the dry sandy fields in the farming districts. According to the ranchers in that country the birds often fly overhead making a noise that can be heard for miles and the click of their beaks as they feed at night often keeps them awake.

It seems that there are more of the birds than usual this winter, but it is almost impossible for Americans to hunt them, as the Mexican government forbids the taking of firearms across the border during the present revolution. The ranchers are anxious to get them killed off, but the large numbers make it almost impossible for the few hunters who have access to that country to make any impression on them.

The cowboys on the ranches along the border down there often bring in mule deer, which are abundant in the cattle country. These fleet-footed animals weigh as high as 400 pounds and often run with the cattle, so that it is not difficult to shoot them. During the time Sallada and Stangland were staying at the ranch a couple of the cow-punchers brought in a 275-

Marvels of Science Never Cease.

Man's Wonder Increases With Each Innovation.

Now that the stability and worth of the Neal Three Day Drink Cure has been so fully demonstrated people are beginning to ask themselves "What will come next?"

The airships—two years ago a vision of the future—today a reality of the present. Eight months ago there was no place on earth where a man could be successfully cured of the drink habit in less than three or four weeks' time. Then he had to go on a long "journey." His business affairs had to be so arranged that his absence would not be felt, and that is more easily said than done.

Today—he casually says: "Well, boys, I'm gone for a couple of days; goodby." He goes to the palatial Neal Institute at 945 South Olive street, enters with the assurance that his every want will be taken care of, and he leaves at the end of the third day with all desire, craving or appetite for liquor gone, generally and physically invigorated and in good shape to again take up his burden, but with a clearer head and a lighter heart. FACTS FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN.

...self. It is modestly called "The Biplane;" and in fact despite the blare of trumpets as to its shockingness, modesty may be described as characteristic of the gown. So, when you go to the view which is to be held on Friday afternoon, in the French-room of one of the Broadway Ladies' Furnishing stores, and are all braced to be properly horrified, you will really have to look twice to be thrilled; for the skirt is "pantalooned" only about a foot from the floor—in fact, so small a foot that one might properly call it an ankle. It is an innovation, though,—so great an innovation that probably no one less assured of his supremacy than Poiret would dare it; but since he has dared, it is an open question as to who will follow. In truth the gown is pretty and we shall not know how comfortable until we try it. Do you think its adoption will depend at all upon legislation? Enemies of political equality have predicted that woman would soon be wearing—well, just so!

Yielding to Temptation.

"There, I've done it again!" exclaimed my little round friend, when I met her on Broadway. I've had a lot of those charming flowered organdies sent home, just as I did last year, when they first came out—just as I did the year before and shall probably do next year and the following."

"But why not?" I asked innocently.

"Because I simply cannot wear anything but plain colors or best of all white. I am so stout that to don the wreaths and dots and spots of those bewitching novelties would serve to call attention to my over-muchness. I know this, perfectly, and yet those beautiful creations go to my head—positively intoxicate me—and every spring I buy them and—then I give them away." I feel like asking her is she had any fixed list of beneficiaries. I would be willing to partake of such a fund as that.

Household Hint.

If you have a dish which has become smeared with paint or gilding you may try many experiments before hitting upon a means of removing it. A lady who bought at auction a set of valuable china bowls which had been spoiled by having oil paints mixed in them, found that by boiling them in water in which a liberal amount of concentrated lye had been dissolved, the paint was completely removed, the glaze of the china remaining uninjured.

An Odd Jardiniere.

A jardiniere was wanted for a room which was furnished in a peculiar shade of dull blue and it was difficult to find just the wished for color.

Moreover the window sill upon which the plant holder was to rest was rather narrow and so an unusual shaped affair was required. This was the plan devised: A tinner was engaged to make a galvanized tin box of the proper shape with a tray to match. Holes were pierced in the bottom of the box for the roper drainage, the tray or saucer being prepared to catch the moisture. Then the box and tray were painted the right shade of blue. To cover this, a crocheted netting of raffia was made in a simple stitch. The effect was of some quaint imported article. To add to the oddity, two basket-like handles of the raffia were attached to the netting and extended up over the jardiniere.

A Window in Blues.

One of the Broadway stationery stores has a window all in a charming shade of blue which is very dainty and attractive. The stationery shown is in the blue, and by-the-bye, it is something entirely new, having a thread of black in addition to the gilt or silver, along the edge of the envelopes as well as upon the paper. The crests, and also the sealing wax matched the tones in blue.

A Turkish Novelty.

At an oriental store which is selling at auction, I observed something very pretty in the way of bath robes and towels to match. They were of the real imported Turkish toweling or crash, and the towels were bordered in a woven design in gold colored silk, or in silver bullion, the ends being finished in the most cleverly knotted fringe interpersed with groups of tassels.

How pretty such a set would be, placed in the bath-room of the guest room, where it matched the colors surrounding. Such little touches in preparation for the expected visitor, mark the highest form of hospitality.

A Kid Glove Economy.

No, it is not in buying cheap kid gloves. I do not believe in that form of economy—for it seldom pays in the long run. What I mean is a means of preventing the losing of kid gloves. Nothing is so exasperating as to lose one of a pair of gloves. It is not half so bad to lose the pair. For this reason, I make it a point to always button my gloves together when I slip them off, at lunch. You may laugh, but one seldom loses both gloves. One of the girls has taught me something else regarding glove economy. It is to always print your name inside on the wrists of the new gloves. She says she has had many gloves returned to her because of this precaution. It is worth trying.

Fashion's Fancies.

Bordered goods are more than ever popular and some patterns shown in the new fabrics for spring are exceedingly pretty. The borders will be used differently than heretofore, in some instances being edged with an additional border of the plain goods, with perhaps a piping of black between.

In Paris tailored costumes of woolen stuff, no matter how handsome, are no longer worn at afternoon functions. Silks, the satin-faced wools and velvets, much trimmed or quite plain, according to taste, compose the correct gowning for day society functions.

Quaint and pretty is the latest cut of corsage below a little guimpe beginning at the right in front of the little hollow in the throat it reaches in a straight line to the top of the shoulder; the lengthened line of the guimpe on the shoulder thus achieved is particularly becoming.

For hair ornaments the low diadem of classical design, with branching blades and wheat-ears and grass rising to a point in the center, leads the van today, and then there are the attractive filigree gold Grecian filets generously studded with gems.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Tangerines are perhaps the most choice citrus on the market at present. They are at very best and are selling better this year any heretofore, having better quantities with the consuming public. The packers adopted a novel style of putting the into boxes, one which is making more ds for the tangerine. The fruit is not from the stem, but the stem and several leaves are cut with a tangerine, or if s are several in a group, they are cut that way and as a result they make a y picture when ready for ultimate consumption. Prices on tangerines range from to $1.85 per half orange box. Grapefruit is in good call. The supply is plentiful prices are not very high at this particular time. They range from $1.25 to $2.75 on less stock and from $1.50 to $1.75 on seedless.

Oranges are moving fairly well. There is a surplus on the market, however, and prices are weak. Lemons are rather scarce prices are steady with the small consumption of the fruit. Limes are coming in from of the northern districts.

Receipts of eggs yesterday were 477 cases. The demand for eggs was very good and case eggs sold right along at 30 cents a dozen. The Petaluma stock was reported in and this night 33 cents on candled stock. Imperial valley eggs were also plentiful. A decline was reported for today by several of the dealers. Butter receipts were 36,276 pounds. Eastern grades were in call and traded at 25½ cents. The state and country butter also sold very well. The demand for cheese was the best in a week. Eastern twins, both fresh and storage stock, sold well. Storage brought 16¾ cents. Limburger sold at 18¾ in a jobbing way. Cheese, northern fresh and several other varieties were in good call. Receipts of the country were 1870 pounds.

Potatoes were good sellers. A car of Lompoc sold at $2.15. Oregon brought $2.25. Highlands $2.05 and early rose of northern production $1.75 per hundred. Receipts of spuds totaled 1635 sacks.

Onion arrivals were 237 sacks. The call for the was very quiet. Beans also sold slowly. There were 225 sacks of beans reported in. Sweet potato receipts were light and the prices on them was up a trifle on account of the rainy weather of the past few days which caused permit of the digging of sweets without causing them to rot fast.

NEW YORK MARKET SHOWS NET LOSS AT END OF DAY.

Trading Opens With Level Slightly Above Previous Night's Close But Strength Is Only Momentary. Heavy Selling of United Steel Feature of Latter Part of Session.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. —Trading in stocks began today at a level slightly above last night's close, but the improvement was of short duration. Following a series of fractional advances and recessions, trading became extremely dull and continued on a nominal basis during the remainder of the day, with prices little above the lowest. The selling movement was extended in the last hour, and prices eased off to a point which showed considerable losses on the day. United States Steel showed some disposition to advance in the initial trading, but later was sold heavily. The Harriman issues and Reading were again under pressure, rumor attributing selling of the latter to Philadelphia sources. It is practically settled although technically denied, that some foreign financing for American roads, probably including Southern Pacific and New York Central, is under way. Foreign exchange maintained its recent firmness. The December statement of the Santa Fe, showing an increase of $950,000 in net income, was regarded as particularly good, in view of the fact that the road's earnings at the corresponding period of last year were unusually high. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $6,945,000. United States 4s registered advanced ¼ on call.

Boston Copper Market.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury building.]

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—The whole list lost a little again today. The copper stocks are undoubtedly good both speculatively and from an investment standpoint, but the buying is so small that they are likely to remain in this position for some weeks. Following were closing quotations on the Boston Stock Exchange:

New York Cotton Market.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, No. 118 West Fouth st., Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Census report published today on supply and distribution shows distribution up to January 1 this year of 11,832,520 bales, compared with 10,791,474 last year. The report shows the consumption during the first four months of the season to have been 1,676,442, against 1,747,244 last year, and exports 4,672,943, against 3,774,714 last year, leaving stock in the United States on January 1, 5,532,128 bales, against 5,269,496 last year, of which manufacturers hold 1,356,436 bales, compared with 1,536,187 last year, leaving 4,225,705 bales in warehouses, public stores and other stocks, against 3,672,309 last year. In the supply figures only 10,721,504 bales were included as having been ginned to the end of December, against 11,067,660 bales actually reported as ginned. It will be noted that while spinners' stocks are 240,751 bales less than a year ago, stocks held in independent warehouses are 553,293 bales more than on December 31 last year. This is exactly in keeping with the recent advices stating that supplies in the South are the smallest ever known at this date for many years. It looks as though the market will continue a scalping affair for the present.

Logan & Bryan's letter says: "Although ginning operations to date, except those of last year by 1,467,000 bales, the stock of cotton left at all points in the United States on January 1 was only 213,000 bales larger than on the same date last year. The spinners have actually less cotton in their warehouses than on the same date last year, the difference being 241,000 bales. The warehouse stocks of the United States and the holdings of farmers appear to be 553,000 bales larger than last year, of which excess New York stock carries alone about 116,000, the weight of which the contract ring has already taken care of, the stocks being 116,000 larger than on the same date last year. This would leave farmers, factories, bankers, spot buyers and others in the South carrying about 437,000 bales more than a year ago, and it is probable that half of this, if not more, is already sold, or in the hands of compresses and railroads. If American mills have 241,000 bales less raw cotton on hand than a year ago, it looks like it would be a hard matter for them to secure enough cotton to complete their year's work. They cannot close down tighter or longer than they did last year, and they finished last year with starvation supplies. Europe, according to these census figures, has secured up to January 1, 4,672,940 bales, against 3,774,174 to the same date last year, nearly one million more bales, and from every part of Europe the dry-goods trade is said to be good, and they also have less mill stocks than same date last year, despite these larger exports, and they are serious competitors for the remnant. Outside of mill stocks there are only 4,225,000 bales in the United States, and of this about 200,000 are on shipboard. At least one million in transit or in the process of shipment, which would leave only three millions to be passed on. Of these three millions at least two-thirds is hedged and, therefore, only one million is carried as a spot speculative, and one million is one month's need to spinners of the world."

BULLS GET BEARS' GOAT IN PIT.

FORCE UP WHEAT PRICES DESPITE REPORTS.

Sluggish Business Is Followed by Fast Buying Near End of Session, Cereal Closing at Advance—Corn Prices Raise and Oats Follow—Provisions Weaker.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Good sized purchases of wheat by leading longs this afternoon stampeded short sellers and put prices up in summary fashion. The close was at a net advance of ¼@¾. Latest figures for corn were ⅝@⅞ higher than last night, and for oats a shade to ⅛ up. The day's trading left hog products unchanged to 17½ down. Sharply in contrast with late conditions in the wheat pit, the market during most of the day was heavy. Thawing weather and showers southwest were said to have materially improved the crop outlook. Cash demand showed no improvement, and Kansas City appeared to be nearly on a basis to ship wheat to Chicago. European field conditions, especially those in Russia, were said to be decidely favorable to the bear side. Reports were current, too, that the import duty on Canadian wheat was to be removed or reduced. All such considerations went into the background, though, when near the end of the day the bull leaders began to buy in an aggressive manner. Losses were more than regained in every option on the list, and the final tone was steady. May ranged from 95¼@99¾, closing ¼ up at 98¾@99. In corn there was a popular wave of buying, the result of export sales yesterday and today. May corn varied between 50¾ and 50⅝, finishing ½ net higher at 50⅝. Cash corn also was firm, No. 2 yellow closing at 47½@48. Oats were helped some by the corn strength. High and low points for May were 34¾ and 34¼, with the close at 34¾, a net gain of ⅛ over last night. Provisions weakened because of cheaper hogs. Pork closed unchanged to 17½ off; lard was down 2½@5

LIFE IS LOST BY A FIGHT.

Carpenter Fatally Shot in Night Struggle.

Fast Run to Hospital Is Made in Vain.

Shooter Says He Simply Tried to Wound Man.

As a climax to an old feud between two former partners in the real estate business, James MacLean and W. L. Brent, Rudolph A. Schreiner, a carpenter living at No. 2323 Fourth avenue, Santa Monica, was shot and killed last night by Brent.

Schreiner lived for some time after the shooting, but died before he could reach the Receiving Hospital, despite a record run by the police ambulance. Brent, who was arrested immediately after the shooting, confessed to firing the shot, but said he was only trying to wound one of his two assailants.

Victim and Slayer,

Rudolph A. Schreiner, above, and W. L. Brent, who shot and killed him last night.

The trouble between MacLean and Brent dates back to the time when they were engaged in business as real estate men, with an office in partnership in the Merchants' Trust building. As brought out by the investigation by Police Sergeant Johnson of the University station and Detectives Talamantes and Rico of headquarters, Mrs. MacLean worked in the office with her husband, whose home is at No. 514 South Figueroa street, and his partner, Brent, in the Merchants' Trust building.

Brent, MacLean told the officers, made it a practice of repeatedly sending Mrs. MacLean out on errands. MacLean further charges that Brent tried to turn his wife against her husband, and did persuade her to accompany him to a downtown safe.

Yesterday evening Schreiner and MacLean were together, drinking at the bar of the Angelus Hotel, when Brent walked in and ordered a drink. As Brent walked out, it is said, MacLean said to Schreiner: "Come on, let's give him a good beating."

The three men boarded a West Jefferson-street car. When Brent alighted at the crossing of Jefferson and McClintock streets, on his way to his home at No. 1095 West Jefferson, the other two men also left the car.

MacLean walked up to Brent and struck him in the face several times, when the latter, a special deputy sheriff, showed his star and said he would arrest both of his assailants.

"I don't care who you are," MacLean is reported to have said, and struck Brent again.

"I pulled out my gun and I shot at the man nearest me, which happened to be Schreiner," said Brent. "I only meant to wound him though, so as to stop him. I wanted to arrest both of them, as well as defend myself."

When he was shot, Schreiner clapped his hand to his side without saying a word, and after a little sank to the sidewalk, McLean ran away.

Guy Landers, a fireman, hearing the shots, of which there were two, ran up and caught the first man he saw running which happened to be MacLean. In a few seconds, Brent came running up and said he wanted to arrest MacLean but Landers held on until Dr. Adolph Tyroler of No. 2323 Juliet street, who was passing by in his automobile, alighted and came to help Landers.

Dr. Tyroler telephoned for the police and Officer Earl Gaia, appointed the night before, a professional chauffeur, [illegible]

MIDYEAR EXHIBITS OF Y.W.C.A. OPEN TO PUBLIC.

Demonstrations of What the Institution Is Doing in the Training of Young Women in Sewing, Millinery, Art, Cooking and Other Lines May Be Seen Today.

The arts and crafts of the needle and stewpan, as illustrated in the midyear exhibits of the Young Women's Christian Association, will be open to the public all day today and tomorrow. Friends of the institution are invited to visit them and see the entire building.

As in former years, members of the Educational Committee will be present to receive visitors in the main lobby and will be glad to answer questions with regard to the association enterprises. The members of the committee who will serve on these days are: Mrs. G. H. Wadley, Mrs. D. E. Luther, Mrs. James G. Warren, Mrs. H. G. Brainerd, Mrs. C. E. Day, and Mrs. W. L. George.

Those who wish to be shown through the building and visit the exhibits will be escorted by ushers who represent the different departments in the educational work. The ushers on these days will be: Miss Elizebeth Arrants, Miss Lorena Whipple, Miss Ethel Scherer, Miss Bonneau Hend, Miss Katherine Beyle, Miss Flossie Feavel, Miss Myrtle Johnson, Miss Ruth Barlow and Miss Lottie Blodgett.

Exhibits will be open in the sewing, millinery, and art departments, Bible study, and also in the commercial school and preparatory school. The cooking school achievements, it is believed, will be successfully demonstrated by the class work of pupils who will be preparing the dishes that come in the regular course of lessons. Teachers will be present in all rooms to explain the courses of study as carried on.

Special plans are made for tomorrow. Beside the regular exhibits there will be a practical address at the noon hour on "Some Practical Experiments in Faith" by Rev. G. A. Henry, pastor of the West Adams Methodist Church. This talk will begin at 12:30 and will be brief. It will be followed by a question box and discussion. In the afternoon, tomorrow, tea will be served in the member's room from early until late, and all guests will be invited to join in a social gathering on the seventh floor.

There will be a free entertainment tomorrow evening consisting of a programme given by the pupils of the educational department. Classes in expression, in sight singing, orchestra, choral club, mandolin and guitar club and vocal music, will demonstrate what they have done this term. This will be the only programme furnished by the pupils during the midyear intermission. It will be free to the public and will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

The spring term in the educational department will open February 1. The educational office is already very busy attending to registrations, and it is requested that those who can possibly register before the middle of next week, do so promptly. The large enrollment in the fall term indicates a still larger enrollment for the spring term, as many of the departments are increased every year in the spring term, and those who plan to take courses, especially in domestic arts and domestic science, should attend to their registration immediately.

Two new courses which are offered this year promise to attract special attention. The course in training attendants for the sick, is useful both to wives and mothers who wish such information to use in emergencies or sickness to become attendants for professional services. The other new course is one in advertising which will teach the fundamental principles of successful advertising and give the student practice in writing advertisements and criticism of the same. Many young women who do not realize what a large opportunity is open to them in this way, will have an opportunity to make a start in a first-class business through this course.

All inquiry with regard to the educational work should be made at the educational office at Third and Hill streets.
